

WILSON AND BRYAN MEET AND SHAKE HANDS AT PITTSBURG

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 20.—President Wilson and W. J. Bryan, former secretary of state, met today for the first time in months. The president stopped in Pittsburgh for an hour and a half on the way from Chicago to Long Branch and Mr. Bryan came here on the way to speak in the district of Representative W. W. Bailey, of Youngstown, Pa.

As soon as they arrived at the station the former secretary of state entered Mr. Wilson's private car and the two men shook hands. A large crowd outside the car witnessed the greeting. The men spoke together only for a moment or two and then left the car.

The appearance of Mr. Bryan caused a five minute delay in an automobile tour of Pittsburgh arranged for the president. Automobiles for the president's party were waiting outside the station, and President and Mrs. Wilson immediately entered one of them. Mr. Bryan had been held back by the crowd.

Seeing that Mr. Bryan had not been taken care of Secretary Tumulty stopped the short automobile parade just as it was getting under way. He ran forward and talked briefly with the president and then ran back and talked with Mr. Bryan. The former secretary of state said he preferred not to disarrange the plans, and he and Secretary Tumulty got in another automobile together.

The president and the other members of his party, including Mr. Bryan, then left on an hour and a half ride through the parks and the downtown section of Pittsburgh.

When the president and Mr. Bryan met, each smiled broadly as they shook hands. Mr. Bryan said he had been in conference here for a short distance in order to get into Mr. Bailey's congressional district.

Before coming to Pittsburgh the president shook hands with a large crowd at Alliance, O. Several other brief stops between here and Harrisburg were on the schedule.

BERLIN ANNOUNCES GERMAN VICTORIES IN EAST AND WEST

Teutonic successes reported in today's official announcement from German army headquarters include the capture yesterday on the Somme front in northern France of the greater part of the trenches taken by the British on Oct. 18 between Baucourt l'Abbaye and Le Barque, three miles southwest of Baupenne. London's announcement last night, covering yesterday's fighting, reported a slight advance by the British at Butte de Warlencourt in this sector and the stopping of a German counter attack in that neighborhood.

British Attacks Fail
British attacks last evening north of Courcellette and east of Le Sara are declared by Berlin to have failed. The destruction of three of the new British armored cars or "tanks" used in the last great attack by the British also is reported.

Teutons Repulse Russians
Teutonic forces on the eastern front, the German war office announced, have repulsed Russian counter attacks near Svinitsky on the Stokhod in Volhynia, have stormed an important height on the Narayevka, southeast of Lemberg, in Galicia, capturing more than 2000 men and 11 machine guns and have driven the Russians from the summit of Mount Rusulul in the southern Carpathians.

Attacks on Rumanian Front
In Transylvania the Austro-German armies are continuing their attacks on the Rumanian frontier but no specific mention of progress in any sector is made by Berlin. An increase of activity in Dobruja where there has been little heavy fighting recently is reported.

Serbian Advance Checked
The Serbian advance in the bend of the Cerna, southeast of Monastir in Macedonia has been checked after a temporary Serbian success, Berlin announces.

Bulgarians Routed
Through Paris today comes official announcement of the capture of the village of Velyeslo, within the bend of the Cerna river southeast of Monastir. The Bulgarians are said to have suffered heavy losses and to have been put to rout.

Turbulent Conditions in Greece
The situation in Greece remains extremely confused. News despatches from Athens, long delayed in transmission and recording the development of the situation there only up to Wednesday night, report turbulent conditions in the Greek capital. Greek reservists there are said to have taken the law into their own hands, despite the presence of strong contingents of antique marines, with the Greek authorities doing virtually nothing to control them.

King Constantine Complains
King Constantine is reported to have told the British minister at Athens that the allies, having deprived him of all power and recognized the provisional government of Saloniki, had best address future proposals regarding the course of Greece to the Venizelos revolutionary government.

SERBIANS CAPTURE VILLAGE AND PUT BULGARIANS TO ROUT
PARIS, Oct. 20, noon.—The war office announced today that the Serbians have captured the plateau and village of Velyeslo on the western end of the Macedonian front, putting the Bulgarians to rout.

The statement says heavy losses were inflicted on the Bulgarians. The Serbians continued to press on.

WILL TAKE OFFICERS FROM THE HOTELS ON SUNDAY

Speaking this morning on the enforcement of the law and especially on the matter of stationing officers in uniform in the hotels on Sunday, Mayor O'Donnell said: "I feel confident that next Sunday it will not be necessary to station officers in the hotels. The license commissioners will hold a hearing this evening after which instructions will be issued to those who conduct the hotels. I feel confident that when these instructions have been issued, it will not be necessary to post officers in the hotels. If, however, conditions do not improve and if we find it necessary to place them back, they will be so placed."

CARDINAL GIBBONS SAYS PRIESTS NOT IN POLITICS

The following interview obtained from Cardinal Gibbons at Baltimore was published this morning by the New York World:

"I never have heard until this moment that any Roman Catholic propaganda existed in Indiana or elsewhere in opposition to the re-election of President Wilson. I do not believe there is any truth in it. For myself, I am not in politics and I never have authorized any one to quote me as favoring either candidate for the presidency. Every Catholic voter has an inherent right to vote according to his own individual conscience, and I am sure that the Roman Catholic hierarchy of the United States would never interfere with that right."

In these words Cardinal Gibbons conveyed to a representative of The World today his answer to a persistent report that there is an organized movement under way to influence Roman Catholic voters against supporting President Wilson.

The attention of the cardinal was directed to a despatch from Indianapolis appearing in The World on Oct. 16, in which an observer of political events was quoted as having said that statements were being made to the effect that "every priest in the country is secretly counselling his parishioners to vote for Hughes" and that "Cardinals Gibbons, Farley and O'Connell are fully aware of the underlarking and are in sympathy with it." It was in reply to these reports, current in Indiana, that Cardinal Gibbons furnished The World with the foregoing statement, indicating that under no circumstances would he discuss the matter henceforth.

Many persons have written to Cardinal Gibbons since the presidential campaign opened inquiring regarding a report of an alleged act of disloyalty from the president. To these inquiries the cardinal has replied repeatedly, both orally and by letter, that there is not a word of truth in the story. Yet letters are being received by the cardinal almost daily asking as to the truth or falsity of these same rumors which have been given such apparently wide circulation.

ALL BUT TWO OF CREW OF LINER ARE SAVED AGAINST LOCAL HOTEL MAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The Cunard line announced here today word had been received that all but two of the crew of the steamer Albatross which was sunk yesterday by a mine in the English channel, had been traced.

The baron's resignation is impending it is said, and his probable successor will be Baron von Muecke, an Austro-Hungarian delegate at the second Hague peace conference, or Count Sezen von Temeiro, ambassador of Austria-Hungary to France at the outbreak of the war.

DIES IN ATTEMPT TO RESCUE MINERS

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Oct. 20.—L. M. Jones, a mining engineer, sent to Barre, Vermont, yesterday in charge of a trained crew from the Pittsburgh station of the bureau of mines to conduct the work of rescue at the Jamison mine, where more than a dozen men had been entombed by an explosion, was asphyxiated in the workings early today.

Jones, with seven other men had reached the bottom of the shaft, where the mine was supposed to be sealed. All the birds were almost immediately killed and Jones, who had advanced further into the workings, also fell. One by one his companions, advancing to his rescue were overcome. When they did not return to the surface another party entered the mine and brought them out. All recovered except Jones. The bodies of four of the victims of yesterday's explosion were recovered today.

DOVER, N. H., Oct. 20.—Clara, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Abbott, gave timely warning by crying of a blaze in the basement of the tenement house at 5 and 6 Burnham and Democrat court early yesterday morning.

The child's parents were awakened by her crying. The flames were crackling and the building filling with smoke. Mr. Abbott rung in an alarm. On his way out of the building he saved the family of Fred Proctor. The fire was in their basement. The damage to the building will not exceed $250, and is insured.

TWO MORE AERO FREIGHT JUMPERS MUST PAY $20 FINES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Authorization was given today by Lieut. Col. Snider, chief of the aviation section of the army signal corps, for the complete equipment of two additional aero squadrons for the regular army. When the material, costing about $800,000 for each squadron, has been delivered at San Antonio, Tex., the regular army flying service will have been tripled.

Orders for enlistment of 3391 men for the new squadrons have gone out and selection of officers is being considered.

The aviation service has ordered more than 200 aeroplanes of various types within the last two weeks and a board of officers is now examining bids. Officers are concerned over the fact that the industry appears to be swamped by army requirements. The quickest delivery that can be obtained apparently is sixty days for the first machines.

Officers are making a study of available sites for aviation schools.

JOSEPH KING CHARGED ON THREE SUMMONSES UNDER DEFENSE OF REALM ACT
LONDON, Oct. 20.—Joseph King, liberal member of parliament for North Somerset, was charged in the Bow St. police court today on three summonses under the defense of the realm act. The first summons alleged the "defendant, without lawful authority, communicated information regarding the supply and condition of certain war material in a letter dated Aug. 25 addressed to George Radcliffe of New York." The other two summonses were in connection with the same letter.

King was fined £100 and the costs of the proceedings.

THREE HOTELS AT WATCH HILL, R. I., DESTROYED

WATCH HILL, R. I., Oct. 20.—Three summer hotels and two cottages were destroyed last night by a fire which threatened the destruction of the business section of the village and caused a loss estimated in excess of $200,000.

The hotels burned were the New Watch Hill House, Colonial Hotel and the Columbia House. The cottages were owned by William C. Hastings of Yonkers, N. Y., and Miss Julia Bush of Troy, N. Y.

All the hotels had been closed for the season.

Helped By 50-Mile Wind

The fire started in a manner not yet determined, in the west wing of the New Watch Hill House, a four story wooden structure, containing 150 rooms. Helped by a 50-mile wind, the flames spread rapidly, and the structure and spread to the Hastings cottage. Mrs. Hastings, who was in bed in the cottage, was removed to a building outside the path of the fire. The other occupants, including Mr. Hastings and seven servants, were able to save only a few personal belongings.

Sparks set fire to the Bush cottage, which was unoccupied, and then the flames spread to the Colonial Hotel, a three story wooden building with 30 rooms.

Call Outside Help

By this time the firemen realized that the fire was beyond their control, and help was summoned from Westerly, and from Mystic and Pawcatuck, across the Connecticut border.

With the Colonial Hotel still burning fiercely, the flames swept down hill toward the business section on Bay street, and reached the Columbia House, another wooden structure of 10 rooms, fronting on Little Narragansett Bay. Owners of motor boats and other craft tied up at the dock were forced to move them out into the bay to save them from the danger of flying sparks.

The Columbia House stood in a hollow behind the hill on which the other burned hotels and cottages were situated, and the shelter which the hill provided from the heavy gale enabled the firemen to check the flames at this point, but not until the Columbia House had been reduced to ashes. The Narragansett Hotel and several business blocks, stores and houses located in the threatened area, close to the fire, were saved.

Firemen Burned In Explosion

Firemen Ernest D. Bliven and Luke McKeloh of Mystic were seriously burned when a burning canister of dynamite exploded in a can of gasoline with which they were filling the tank of their chemical automobile truck and caused it to explode. The clothes of both men caught fire and they jumped into the bay to extinguish the flames. They were pulled out by companions and given medical treatment for burns on their faces, hands and body.

The New Watch Hill House was owned by Clifford Shunk of Covington, Ky., and James M. Pendleton of Westerly. The caretaker declared that there were no fires in the building and that it was unoccupied when the blaze was discovered. The Colonial Hotel and the Columbia House were owned by the estate of Walter S. Flye, late of Westerly.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

Executive Committee Plans to Establish School Here For Training of Sunday School Teachers

The executive committee of the Lowell district of the Massachusetts Sunday School Assn. is making plans to establish in Lowell a school for the training of persons in Christian leadership and Sunday school work. By means of this school it is hoped that eventually people will be trained in religious education as secular teachers are now trained at the State Normal school. Those who have seen the success of such plans elsewhere say that it marks the greatest step forward in religious education ever taken by the Protestant churches of Lowell.

The executive committee met last night at the Y.M.C.A. and discussed preliminary plans for the establishment of the school which will be known as the Lowell school for religious education. It is the purpose of the committee to have a school course of 12 weeks' duration, beginning Jan. 18, 1917. Sessions will be held every Thursday during the period in the First Trinitarian Congregational church.

The executive committee closed a contract with Boston university to make Lowell one of three demonstration centers to which the university will send its experts in religious training. Recently 24 clergymen and Boy Scout Executive Alex. Williams signed a franchise to Boston university that they would enroll 300 students in the school, and yesterday morning Rev. W. E. Woodbury took the guarantee to Boston and closed the contract.

IN MILADY'S BOUDOIR

CARING FOR THE NAILS

Nothing adds more to the beauty of a woman's hands than the finger nails if well kept. While it is almost impossible to improve the shape of the hands themselves, much can be done in the way of improvement with the expenditure of a little time and trouble to improve the shape of the nails. No matter how rough your work, your hands and nails can be made and kept in good condition.

With a little study and practice you can care for them yourself as well, and almost as quickly, as a professional manicure. Your manicuring outfit should consist of a sharp pair of scissors, an ivory cuticle knife, a bundle of orange wood sticks, a bundle of emery boards, and a little polishing powder.

Before starting to treat the nails soak the fingers in a little warm soap water. This is to soften the cuticle and make it more pliable. Next cut the nails, if necessary, following the shape of each finger, and cutting so that the tip of the finger and top of the nail may be level. Long and reasons. First, cutting gives a bleeding and raw appearance to the fingers, and secondly, cutting the cuticle is apt to make it grow hard and thick.

When the cuticle has been thoroughly loosened, press the skin back with the ivory nail trimmer until a pretty half moon is visible at the base. Never force the skin back roughly as gentle pressure will do the work better and more thoroughly. Next comes the removal of any stains. To do this, rub the nails lightly with a bit of lemon. Should any small pieces of skin adhere to the nail, rub them with the orange stick dipped in lemon juice. Polish the nails with a little of the powder smeared over the nails and rub with a chamois pad.

CARRANZA'S SLAYER DEAD

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 20.—Confirmation has been received of the report of the death of Alfonso Santibanez, the slayer of General Jesus Carranza, brother of the first chief. Santibanez was shot and killed by Aurelio Hernandez, a follower of Felix Diaz, at Zihuatlan, Oaxaca. Word later was received that Hernandez also had lost his life in a skirmish with constitutional troops.

Santibanez, who had been a federal leader in 1914, in 1915 formed with his men a part of the command of General Jesus Carranza on the isthmus of Tehuantepec. A brother of Santibanez in opposition to the government was captured in the north and was held for execution. Impelled by this fact and by personal ambition, Santibanez suddenly seized Jesus Carranza and his staff, took them far into the mountains and held them for ransom. He demanded of General Venustiano Carranza that his brother's life be spared and his own ambitions gratified, threatening that if the first chief did not comply Jesus Carranza's life would pay the forfeit.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

It is just quarter of a century since the citizens of Massachusetts voted to amend the constitution of the state abolishing the payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting. Before that time unless a man had paid his poll tax he could not be registered to vote the following year. Massachusetts was one of the last states to abolish this feature of its constitution. The old Sun commented editorially upon the change as follows: "The poll tax amendment is carried by a large majority. Let us be thankful for it, for henceforth the man and not the dollar will vote. The passage of the amendment will tend to minimize political corruption. No citizen hereafter will be deprived of the suffrage merely for the nonpayment of the poll tax and the collections and assessments presumably made to pay poll taxes in lieu of votes will be no longer necessary. No man will hereafter be disfranchised in this commonwealth for being poor. This will make the poorer class of citizens more independent, it will inspire them with a greater interest in their country and more respect for the laws. The payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting was a remnant of the feudalism of long ago. Massachusetts can now boast of having an absolutely free ballot."

All children are especially susceptible to stomach trouble and any overstrain of the sensitive organs has a tendency to obstruct elimination. This condition is responsible for much of the illness of childhood.

"I relieve constipation a mild laxative should be employed. Cathartics and purgatives are violent in their action and should be avoided. Mrs. Alfred Du Bois, Mr. Holly, N. J., says Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is without doubt the most effective remedy for constipation she has ever used and that it is the only remedy she could find for her baby. Little Earl was badly constipated during his first year and nothing she tried seemed to help him until she got a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Now he is a fine, strong, healthy boy and she thanks Dr. Caldwell for it."

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, free from opiates or narcotic drugs; it acts gently without griping or other discomfort, and appeals to children because of its pleasant taste. Druggists everywhere sell it for fifty cents a bottle, and every mother should have it in the house for use whenever occasion arises.

To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes always be sure to ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 655 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

Alex. Ray on The Stump

Says the old Sun: "Secretary Alex. Ray of the Central Labor Union has been asked to go on the stump by the democrats to contrast the labor records of the two gubernatorial candidates."

And Alex. was right there on the stump and with the goods, though in more recent years he jumped the fence and lined up with the G.O.P.

But speaking of joint debates do you remember the old time outtings of the Caledonian club at Belle Grove when Alex. Ray, Peter Caddell and John Grant, the Centralville baker, would have at it?

"And for bonnie Annie Laurie I'd lay me down and die," sang John Grant, in his contra tenor voice.

"Nay, Jack, you're wrong me lad," quoth Alex. Ray. "You should pronounce it 'bonny Annie Laurie,' not 'bonnie'."

"Ye both talk like a couple o' wild men," says Peter Caddell, "the correct pronunciation is 'bonnie Annie Laurie,' she has been bonnie nor dunny, but bonny. Old Bobbie Burns would turn his grave if he heard ye."

An' didna ye remember the year that the club had its outing on the Y.M.C.A. oval on First street and when the good Christians discovered that snugly hidden under the tent was—well, a wee drop, that's all, what a holler they made? Those were the happy days!

Start of Lowell General Hospital

The beginning of the present Lowell General hospital was announced in The Sun of quarter of a century ago as follows:

"A meeting of the Lowell Hospital corporation was held Thursday evening at the board of trade rooms. A large gathering was present and the deeds of the Fay estate were turned over to the corporation. Hon. Charles D. Talmer on behalf of the corporation accepted the deeds from the donor, Mr. Fellows and expressed for the corporation their deep appreciation of their gift. In a letter conveying the deeds and setting forth the conditions on which the building is given, Mr. Fellows said that the understanding was that the corporation was to raise by subscription twice the value of the Fay estate. The other stipulations were contained in the following portions of the letter:

"It seems proper for me to stipulate that the property thus deeded (being now free) shall at no time be encumbered by any debt created by the board of trustees, and that the building shall be kept well insured. It is also my desire that you and your successors shall constantly keep at least one woman on the staff of attending physicians and that in recognition of this gift you shall exclude from said staff any physicians who habitually prescribe alcoholic medicines, believing as I do that their use is unwise, unsentimental and therefore to be discontinued."

"That this hospital may be speedily placed in operation and prove an enduring blessing for the relief of human suffering is my most earnest desire."

the hospital was opened is now but a small part of the institution for as the hospital proved to be an "enduring blessing" to humanity along came an "enduring blessing" to the hospital, in the person of Frederick Fanning Ayer, through whose generosity the institution has been greatly enlarged and improved in recent years.

The Carrier System

Says the Sun of quarter of a century ago:

"The precinct officers of Watertown adopted a system of counting ballots at Tuesday's election which they claim was original, but which was substantially the Carrier system, invented by J. R. Carrier of Lowell, although the Carrier system has several advantages over it. By the Watertown system only 25 ballots are adjusted to be counted at one time, but the Carrier system averages 50 ballots, a much better number to verify by addition. The Carrier system has a clamp to keep the ballots in place, an improvement which the Watertown officials said would be a desirable one."

Mr. J. R. Carrier for many years was one of Lowell's leading undertakers, with a place of business in Prescott street. He was also an inventive genius as his system for counting ballots which was adopted throughout the state would prove. He had numerous smaller inventions which he never placed on the market. The Carrier system is still in use on election day, but since the coming of the blanket ballot in the primaries it has been impossible to use it at the caucuses.

WOMAN HAD NERVOUS TROUBLE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her.

West Danby, N. Y.—"I have had nervous trouble all my life until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nerves and for female troubles and it straightened me out in good shape. I work nearly all the time, as we live on a farm and I have four girls. I do all my sewing and other work with their help, so it shows that I stand it real well. I took the Compound when my ten year old daughter came and it helped me a lot. I have also had my oldest girl take it and it did her lots of good. I keep it in the house all the time and recommend it."—Mrs. DEWITT SINCENBAUGH, West Danby, N. Y.

Sleeplessness, nervousness, irritability, backache, headaches, dragging sensations, all point to female derangements which may be overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It

WILLIAMS TELLS WHAT FEDERAL RESERVE LAW HAS DONE FOR FARMER

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 20.—Joint Senator Williams, comptroller of the currency, speaking here today before the Farmers' National congress, described the relation of the federal reserve law to the farmer and closed with a personal statement brought out by President Wilson's recent allusion to attacks on the comptroller. "I see that our president, in an address at Shadow Lawn," said the comptroller, "tells the country that the bankers, or certain bankers, or some special interests are after my official scalp because I, as the comptroller of the currency, have enforced the law. This is no surprise to me.

"I know that I have been held up as a kind of ogre, a raw head and bloody bones, a terror to the banking and financial interests of the country. Maybe the best answer to that may be found in the records and indisputable facts, that the national banks of the country today are stronger and in better condition than ever before; that they are more numerous than when I became comptroller, are more prosperous and show a smaller proportion of failures and losses than was ever known in their history; and my office is receiving a steady stream of applications for charters for new national banks and for permission to increase the capital of the existing banks. "My official scalp is not, especially dear to me. My business is to administer the law and the law is justice put into words. I have had a somewhat stormy time and have been an uncomfortably prominent target. But I have always kept in mind words spoken by Patrick Henry in my own town, 141 years ago: 'If life is dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God!'

Mr. Williams said the new federal reserve law "will forbid the grasping from using for their own advantage the necessities of their neighbors," and that it puts the farmer on the same plane as the business man. "The farmer," he said, "is enabled to borrow according to his industry and commercial standing because his banks know how and where to get the money. It will not be possible to give centers for speculation or gambling purposes while the real producers and legitimate productive commerce are pinched or denied, perhaps just at the time of their most important need."

Cries of "back to the farm," he said, were futile without promise of comfort and happiness and prospect. "Put money, or opportunity to earn it," he said, "on the farms and the people will go to them fast enough and stay with them. This is precisely what the federal reserve system is doing in large measure, and we hope the rural credit system will do in even larger measure." He told of the decentralization of huge accumulations of money from the few great centers and its transfer to the federal reserve banks—twelve reservoirs from which pipe lines already run to nearly 3000 banks, available to every reliable farmer, stockholder or business man. "God Almighty alone," he said, "knows how many strong men have had strength, hope and power sapped by unfair interest rates, how many promising boys and girls deprived of opportunity and driven to worthlessness and crime by the same direful, inexorable power."

"This is the first time since the beginning of the national banking system half a century ago," Comptroller Williams said, "that the farmer has been able to borrow on the security of his farm from any national bank. He added that there had been a general collapse in interest charges in those sections of the country where the abuse was the greatest and a general disposition by banks in all sections to live within the law."

Banks that had been charging on some farms up to 50 and 60 per cent. were now limiting charges to the rates permitted by their state laws, the comptroller said.

TO LICENSE COAL AND ICE PEDDLERS IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Following the suggestion of the finance commission, Mayor Curley yesterday directed Corporation Counsel Sullivan to draft an ordinance by which coal and ice peddlers shall pay a license fee to the city. The amount of the fee has not been fixed.

Recently the finance commission took up with Charles H. Woolley, sealer of weights and measures, the matter of increasing the revenue of his department. Sealer Woolley suggested to the commission that an ordinance be drafted giving his department authority to license and supervise the work of coal and ice peddlers. At the present time no license fee is charged these peddlers and no revenue is derived by the city from them, although a large part of the time of his staff is devoted to them, according to Sealer Woolley.

Fees for licenses and supervision are charged produce peddlers and the finance commission believes that coal and ice peddlers should bear a part of the public burden.

The proposed ordinance will be sent to the city council for adoption.

FIRST CASE OF KIND IN BAY STATE

NEW BEDFORD MEN SEEK TO ENJOIN IMMORAL USE OF BUILDINGS

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—As a result of recent raids made by the Watch and Ward society on houses of ill-fame in New Bedford, bills in equity brought by citizens of New Bedford to have the owners of the buildings declared by the courts as maintaining a nuisance, under the provisions of chapter 624 of the Acts of 1914, were brought to the attention of Judge Jenney of the superior court yesterday on a motion that owners of the buildings in question be enjoined from letting their property for immoral purposes.

The matter was postponed until Oct. 30 by agreement of counsel to enable counsel for the defendants to make arrangements, if possible, to avoid action by the court.

This is the first case of the kind that has arisen in the commonwealth. The statute under which proceedings were brought reads that every building, part of a building or place used for immoral purposes shall be "deemed a nuisance."

GERMANS DO WITHOUT MANY THINGS SINCE WAR

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, October.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—One thing after another has disappeared so gradually from German markets since the war began that the very existence of certain luxuries and some things that were once considered necessities, has been forgotten. It was the experience of a correspondent of the Associated Press who had been in Berlin since the war began, and for many years before, to find upon his arrival in Stockholm, the butcher-shop and grocery windows filled with food-stuffs he had seen scarcely a suggestion of in Germany for many months, and the restaurant bills of fare also served as pleasant reminders of ante-bellum days, when the German restaurants, as much as those of any country, were prepared to supply a great variety of foods.

Germany is not starving, and there is no fear there that it will, but the people are doing without far more things than they realize, having become so gradually accustomed to the loss or curtailment of certain edibles. Bacon, which the correspondent had not seen in Germany for months—is plentiful here, of course; butter, lard, olive oil, seen in the grocery shops offered a really irresistible appeal to one who had scarcely known them for so long. There were different cuts of pork; the correspondent had had a small portion of pork twice in three months. He found many kinds of bread, while the only kinds he recently knew were rye mixed with potatoes and wheat mixed with rye. There was real coffee, which one cannot obtain even in the best hotels or millionaire's homes in Germany.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach ailment.

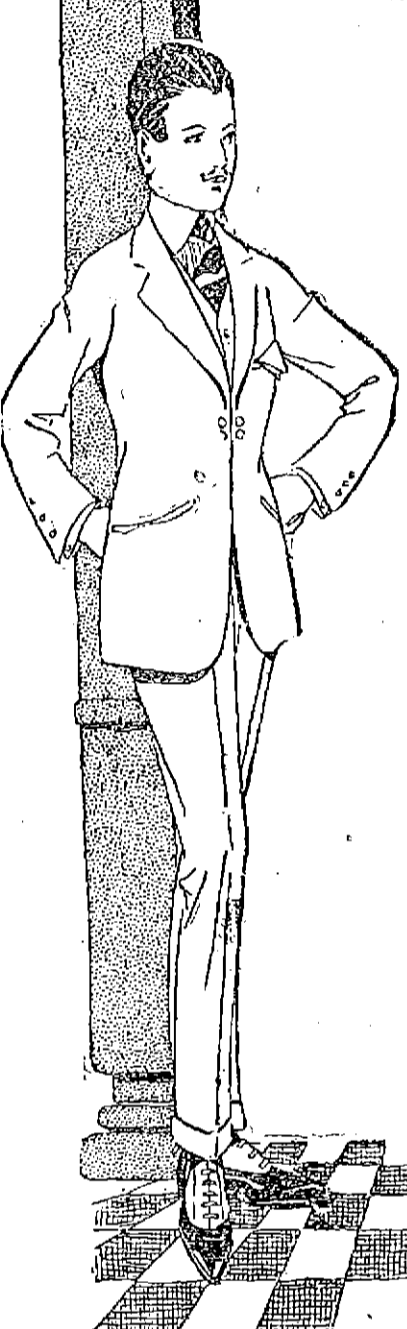

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.

The taste of French-fried potatoes was almost a new thing, for no German household has ever put to port in its kitchen. With baskets of bread on the tables in hotels and restaurants, and no bread required as a condition precedent to partaking, it seemed almost irregular and even wasteful. An order for macaroni brought a quantity greater than a household of two persons can obtain in Berlin for a whole week. A single order of cut meats contained more than the amount allowed per capita in Germany for a week.

What, then, it may be asked, are the Germans eating? The answer is: Bread, potatoes and other vegetables, one-half pound of meat weekly when it can be obtained, and fish, canned, fresh and smoked. The disappearance of the legumes—lentils, peas and beans—has been especially felt by the poorer people. A few beans and peas are occasionally to be had, but only a negligible quantity. Lentils, of which the Germans are very fond, disappeared in the first weeks of the war.

On this food, if it can be obtained, one cannot starve, but the poorer people, who either get nothing but potatoes and bread or who do not know how to make the most of what they do get, complain of the monotony of the fare, and that they are continually hungry. A number of women of this class, some weeks ago, made a small demonstration in front of the city hall of one of the municipalities of Greater Berlin, declaring that they were hungry. "You shall not be allowed to starve (verhungern)," said the mayor, "but you will have to be hungry (hungern)."

This is undoubtedly the spirit animating all but an insignificant number of the Germans. They are satisfied that they will not starve, and they are willing to make the sacrifice for the Fatherland implied in the mayor's words. And they are the better able to make this sacrifice because, as has been illustrated, they do not realize just how great it is.

OPPOSED TO SHARPER SUBMARINE CAMPAIGN

BERLIN, Oct. 19, 1 p. m., via London, Oct. 20.—General von Ludendorff has joined his chief, Field Marshal von Hindenburg, in opposing a more ruthless prosecution of submarine warfare. Field Marshal von Hindenburg's position was made plain at a meeting of the independent committee for German peace terms last Saturday when, through a personal representative, he requested the committee to abstain from agitation for a sharper submarine campaign.

Gen. von Ludendorff has announced his views through a letter which was read at a big public meeting at Magdeburg yesterday by national liberal leader Schiffer. The letter said in part:

"The hopes of our enemies based on extraordinary simultaneous exertions on all fronts can only be frustrated through mighty efforts on our part. We will accomplish this if the German people stand united behind us, give their confidence and do not demoralize the army by controversies over the expediency of means and ways to success. If to the outsider it seems that the program on certain questions is lacking this does not prove that the program is actually at fault."

Field Marshal von Hindenburg's message had the disadvantage of being delivered at a private gathering of auditors who were not interested in having it gain a wider circulation. Gen. von Ludendorff's letter, however, has been sent broadcast throughout the country through reports of the meeting at which it was read being carried by the press agencies.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

To properly pasteurize milk put a gallon of water over the fire in a clean pan or kettle. When the water is boiling hard take the kettle from the fire and allow it to stand on the table for ten minutes uncovered. Then put in the filled and corked nursing bottles and leave them for half an hour, covering the kettle meanwhile with a blanket. At the end of half an hour remove the bottles and cool them as quickly as possible to fifty degrees and put them where they will keep cool when needed.

When it is time to feed the baby take out a bottle and set it in a pail of warm water over the fire to heat. After the baby has finished, the bottle should be emptied, rinsed and filled with cold water. At some convenient hour of the day the mother will wish all the used bottles with soap and warm water, using a bottle brush to clean the inside of them. She should then rinse them and boil them in the same pan or kettle in which they were pasteurized.

In most cities mothers, whether poor or rich, may have the benefit of carefully inspected milk and drinking water. In the country it is a wise precaution to look into these matters before selecting the summer home. Flies and mosquitoes are two great enemies of the baby, affecting not merely his comfort, but endangering his health and perhaps his life.

In going to the country the mother should select, if possible, a place where the doors, windows and porches are screened. The prudent mother will include a bolt of cotton netting in the outfit she takes to the country in order that baby's crib at least may be protected from insects. In going to a new place with the baby all the drinking water, and the milk also should be boiled, if from a strange supply about which the mother knows nothing.

Quite a problem which will confront mother a little later will be the providing of a wardrobe for the children that will make their vacation a period of comfort and pleasure, and the high rates charged for laundering should also be considered when planning the small outfits. Comfort, of course, may easily be secured. A pair of overalls or a set of rompers will provide this, but no child will feel happy so garbed among associates wearing pretty clothing that may be as comfortable as well. Children vary in features and form quite as much as adults, and so it is quite necessary to study what will be becoming to them. A plump little maiden will look ridiculous in a short bodice and skirt, standing out like an overinflated lampshade, yet her fairy-like sister may be a ravishing beauty in the same frock for a journey in the country or at a farmhouse, a frock of some light weight woolen material and several thin white frocks of inexpensive material will be sufficient.

If going on a short journey with the baby it is better to prepare the feedings for the whole trip at home. You can sterilize the milk for this purpose as follows: Stand the filled bottles in a kettle over the fire and let the water boil for about an hour and a half. After boiling, the bottles should be gradually cooled and then made as cold as possible by standing them in a pail of cracked ice.

A good portable ice box for such a journey may be made at home as follows: Use two covered tin pails, one an inch or two smaller than the other, so it may stand inside the larger pail. Fill the space between the two with sawdust, put the bottles with cracked ice in the inner pail and cover both tightly, making a canvas or flannel cover for the whole. To warm the bottle for baby you should carry an enameled ware pitcher which the porter will fill with warm water and you can set the bottle in that until warm enough for feeding.

Out of school, children should spend as much time as possible in the open air. They should also go to bed early in rooms provided with all the fresh air available and have refreshing baths followed by a vigorous rubbing down with a coarse towel.

That children are listless and not hungry does not mean that they should go without food, the important point being the selection and attractive form of offering suitable foods. Observations recorded from hundreds of school children show the bad effects of poor food, while the same children properly fed, have made bodily advance fully four times greater than in their previous condition in a given time.

LOSS OF BREMEN CAUSES CANCELLATION OF SAILING OF KOENIG'S CRAFT

LONDON, Oct. 20.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam says that a telegram received there from Bremen confirms the report that the German Ocean Navigation Co. has received no news from the commercial submarine Bremen and that she is regarded as lost. Great anxiety prevails among the families of the crew, virtually all of whom reside in Bremen and it is expected difficulty will be experienced in obtaining crews for other commercial submarines which may undertake trans-Atlantic voyages.

According to this information the sailing of the Deutschland on another voyage across the Atlantic has been cancelled.

BIRTH CONTROL CLINICS

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Margaret Sanger of this city, who was arrested and convicted but not punished while in England, Ore., recently, for advocating birth control, announced today that clinics for the dissemination of information on that subject soon are to open in San Francisco, Cleveland and other western and inland cities. The police are searching for a clinic which is being conducted in Brooklyn and which has been advertised by distribution of hand bills in English, Yiddish and Italian. The teaching of birth control here is a misdemeanor under the law.

Mrs. Sanger said today she believed the police would find the clinic in a few days. "We are prepared," she added, "not in any aggressive or insolent way, but dispassionately, to fight the matter through all the courts in the state."

LADIES' AUXILIARY, A.O.H.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' auxiliary, A.O.H., was held Tuesday evening with a large number of the members present. Routine business was attended to, after which eight new members were admitted, and the application of four others referred to the committee. A varied musical program was enjoyed after which refreshments were served.

Halloween party for the members and their friends will be held in the hall on Halloween night from 8 until 10 o'clock. The same talent that furnished the entertainment last meeting night, assisted by others, will be present.

TAKE OFFICERS FROM HOTELS

statement the mayor said that the item of extra expense will have to be taken into account. To station special officers in the hotels would mean quite an expense and he looks for prompt co-operation which will make it unnecessary. "We are looking for results," said the mayor, "first of all we are taking up the problem of the Sunday hotels. There may be other contributory causes to alleged Sunday drunkenness, and we intend to deal with those later."

Industrial Accident Board

Four cases were heard today in the aldermanic chamber before Frank E. Donahue, former secretary of state, now chairman of the Industrial accident board.

The first was a petition for re-hearing in a case recently brought by the Thompson Hardware company who was killed at Wamecet while driving an automobile. The committee comprised Denis J. Murphy, Thomas G. Robbins and Mr. Donahue. The committee on arbitration confirmed the previous decision, awarding the sum of $4500, payable in weekly installments of $33.33. The Globe Indemnity was the insurer.

The second hearing was on a bill presented by Dr. James P. McAdams for the treatment of Annie McLaughlin, 30 North street, who was injured Sept. 22, 1915, in the Bay State mill where she is employed. She lost part of one finger. The Employees Liability company claimed that she should have gone to the Lowell Corporation hospital, but she claims that she was told by Agent Frederick S. Thomas of the Bay State mill that she might go to her family physician. The committee heard the evidence in the case and will make its decision later.

There was a hearing at 2 p. m. on the petition of Michael Hesson of the J. W. Clements company, John Hesson, Michael and Sara Hesson, Maria M. Connolly of Amesbury represented the insurance company; the Maryland Casualty company. In this case the regular compensation was paid and there was no dispute, but the question discussed today was whether Mr. Hesson is entitled to 12 weeks' pay for the loss of the use of one finger or 26 weeks' pay for the loss of the use of two.

Examinations for Chauffeurs

Messrs. Hubbell and Haley of the Massachusetts highway commission examined 17 prospective chauffeurs in the councilmanic chamber this morning.

Purchasing Agent Poys has called for bids on 600 square yards of granite sidewalk, bids to be opened next Tuesday, Oct. 24.

Commissioner James E. Donnelly reports that the tower being constructed on the Sycamore street school is about two-thirds complete. The public property department is putting in a 500-pound bell at a cost of $229 and a special Gamewell fire alarm tapper which will cost $330.

Superintendent Thomas reports that the pipe being laid to Summit street has been opened up Fairmount street to a point about half way along the reservoir. If the weather continues good, he expects to have the work well in hand before the end of the fall, but he thinks it will not be completed until next spring. The street and sewer department is also putting in 500 feet of 8-inch sewer on Garden avenue, Belvidere, formerly Homewood street.

The Fire Department

Commissioner Putnam does not anticipate any important improvements or additions to the fire department, owing to the fact that expenses are running very close to the appropriation. He read a statement showing that his department had to its credit Oct. 1, $17,033, with expenses to $45,500, leaving a balance of $28,463. He notes that one of the horses on the big truck at the Central fire station will have to be replaced. Recently one of the horses of the water works department was transferred to the Lawrence street firehouse.

Building Permits

FIRST UNIVERSALIST CHURCH

The vestry of the First Universalist church was the scene last evening of a dramatic recital of the play, "Peg o' My Heart." Interspersed with songs. This very delightful entertainment followed the October supper, and the vestry was well filled with parishioners and friends. The entertainers were Mr. and Mrs. David Spaulding, formerly of Lowell and now of St. Quentinberry, N. H. There were three acts in the offering and not one of them held a dull moment. Before and after the play and between the acts Mr. Spaulding sang acceptably "Peg o' My Heart," "Your Heart Will Call Me Home," "Come Back to Erin," "The Sunshine of Your Smiles" and "Waiting for You." Miss Spaulding formerly was Miss Anna Brooks of this city.

The committee in charge of the supper comprised the following: Mrs. B. D. Tuttle, chairman; Mrs. W. M. Jones, Mrs. George Lockwood, Mrs. Archie McLean, Mrs. E. P. Dennis, Mrs. T. C. Entwistle, Mrs. F. Jenness, Mrs. Gay Moore, Mrs. Dora Chase, Mrs. F. C. Bates, Mrs. Everett Moore, Mrs. A. C. Churchman, Mrs. M. Douglas, Mrs. G. C. Howes, Mrs. Barnard, Mrs. E. P. Flinders, Mrs. M. S. Clark, Mrs. D. W. MacKenzie and Misses M. Shorey, May Stevens and Clara Stanley.

LOWELL EAGLES TO UNVEIL TWO MONUMENTS

An event of the utmost importance in fraternal circles will take place next Sunday, when Lowell aerle, No. 223, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will unveil two monuments which were recently erected, one in St. Patrick's cemetery and the other in Westlawn cemetery. These monuments were erected in loving remembrance of the departed brethren, and no expense or labor has been spared to make these memorials the best of their kind in this part of the country. Each monument is surmounted by an immense bronze eagle with outspread wings, signifying the protection given by the Eagles to the families of their deceased members. The aerle, it is said, will next Sunday hold the distinction of being the only fraternal organization in New England to have two monuments unveiled on the same day.

The unveiling exercises will be held Sunday afternoon and will be preceded by a parade, while the event will be brought to a close in the evening with a banquet at the Richardson hotel. The members of the organization will meet at their quarters in the Harrington building, Central street, at 12 o'clock, and at 1 o'clock the parade line will be formed.

The roster of the parade will be as follows: Platoon of police, Lowell Cadet band, R. A. Griffiths, the ex-leader. Chief marshal, Thomas H. Corcoran. Past worthy presidents. Worthy President Patrick J. McCann. Officers. Carriages. Assistant marshal, C. Fred Gilmore. Chief of aid, Timothy F. Barry. Aids and members of degree team. Members.

The parade will start at 1.15 o'clock and will proceed through the following route: Middle to Shattuck, to Merrimack, to Central and to Gorham as far as St. Patrick's cemetery, where the first ceremonies will be held. The program at the cemetery will be as follows: Selection, band; prayer, Rev. Jos. A. Curtin of St. Patrick's church; selection, band; oration, Mayor James E. O'Donnell, a member of the aerle; unveiling of monument by Misses Mary A. McLarnon and Bertha L. Mutch; singing of "America" by the attendees; benediction, Rev. Fr. Curtin.

The gathering will then proceed to Westlawn cemetery, where similar exercises will be held with the following changes: Prayer, Rev. N. W. Matthews, pastor of the Gorham Street P. M. church; oration, Charles T. Laird of Brockton, a member of the grand aerle, and benediction, Rev. N. W. Matthews. At the close of the exercises the aerle will repair to its hall, where a reception and entertainment will be held. In the evening at 6 o'clock a banquet will be held at the Richardson hotel with Worthy President Patrick J. McCann as toastmaster. Several notable speakers from Lowell and other cities will address the gathering. The exercises of the day will be in charge of Treasurer Richard D. Griffiths and Secretary John M. Hogan.

The officers of the aerle, for the parade, are requested to wear Prince Albert coats, silk hats, white gloves and black ties, while the members will wear their regular clothes, white gloves and special badges, which will be supplied for the occasion. The band will report to H. F. Sullivan, the past worthy presidents to Marshal Thomas H. Corcoran and the officers to Worthy President Patrick J. McCann. The exercises at St. Patrick's cemetery will be held at 2.15 o'clock and at Westlawn at 3 o'clock.

DEBATE PRAYERS FOR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

MILITARISTS AND PACIFISTS CLASH AT EPISCOPAL CONFERENCE IN ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 20.—Militarists clashed with pacifists in a debate on prayer in the house of deputies of the Protestant-Episcopal general convention here yesterday, over the proposal of the commission on the enrichment of the book of common prayer to add prayers for the army and the navy, which divided the body into two factions.

The prayer which was finally adopted asks "the Lord God of Hosts.... to strengthen and protect the soldiers of our country; support them in the day of battle, and in time of peace keep them safe from evil." It also pleaded that in "all things they may serve without reproach."

A similar prayer suggested by the commission for the navy also was adopted. One faction led by the Rev. Howard Melish of Brooklyn, held that any war is unchristian and that no soldier can serve without reproach. The other, of which the Rev. Leighton Parks of New York was the spokesman, while not championing war, agreed that it is the duty of the church to pray for those men who forsake civil pursuits, in which the remuneration might be greater, for the service of their country. Previously, several delegates had urged the inclusion in the ritual of a prayer for world peace. The Rev. W. H. Milton of Wilmington, N. C., introduced a resolution to this end which was referred to the commission. The prayers for the army and navy as recommended, if approved by the house of bishops will be in tentative use in the next three years and will be acted upon finally at the next general convention. The house of bishops approved the report of the trustees of the pension fund providing for pension for all clergymen after the age of 65 and also amended the minority report providing for favoring the appointment of a negro suffragan bishop to give the negro suffragan a temporary right of succession to the diocesan bishopric with a vote in the house of bishops.

This amendment probably will cause discussion in the house of deputies, for if adopted, it may result in a negro bishop temporarily presiding over a white diocese.

SLASHED WITH RAZOR

Worcester Man Died of Injuries—Woman Is Not Expected to Recover

WORCESTER, Oct. 20.—Actuated by jealousy, a man, said to be William Porter of 30 Austin street, went to the home of James McKenny at 14 Arch street yesterday afternoon and slashed McKenny with a razor so badly that he died a few minutes later at the city hospital.

Porter then turned on Mrs. Eliza Patton and slashed her on the chest and arms so severely that her recovery is not expected.

All the principals are colored. As far as the police can learn, Porter went to the house yesterday afternoon in an effort to have the Patton woman return to live with him.

Her refusal to do so led to Porter's using the razor.

Porter has escaped and the police are searching for him.

MICHAEL A. SULLIVAN KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

BROTHER OF DISTRICT FIRE CHIEF MEETS DEATH IN LOWELL BLEACHERY YARD

A fatal accident occurred late yesterday afternoon in the yard of the Lowell Bleachery when Michael A. Sullivan of 22 Olive street, brother of District Fire Chief James G. Sullivan of the fire department, was struck and almost instantly killed by an electric truck owned by the company and driven by James McLean. After the accident McLean gave himself up to the police and was held in the sum of $2000 on a charge of manslaughter. He was later released.

The accident occurred shortly before 5 o'clock in the street which runs through the Bleachery yard. Sullivan was crossing the street on his way from the machine shop, where he was employed, to the blacksmith establishment with a lathe tool in his hand. He stepped directly in front of the truck, and before the vehicle could be brought to a stop he was knocked down and died almost instantly. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Un-

DR. W. GLADDEN OUT FOR PRESIDENT WILSON

COLUMBUS, Oct. 20.—The republican campaign of vilification, which he likens to that waged against Abraham Lincoln in 1864, has caused Dr. Washington Gladden, the distinguished clergyman and author, a lifelong republican, to declare himself for President Wilson's re-election.

Dr. Gladden cast his first vote in 1860 for Lincoln, and has voted for every republican elected to the presidency since. In 1912 he was a leader in the progressive movement.

"The ideals and principles of progressive democracy," he says, "are better represented today by the democratic party and its leaders than by the republican party and its leaders." In his statement made public through the Columbus Citizen, Dr. Gladden further says:

"With Mr. Wilson's general conception of political duty and responsibility in a democracy I am in cordial agreement. The moderation and rationality exhibited by Mr. Wilson in the conduct of our national affairs were almost universally recognized by our people during the first year of the war. When the election drew near the children began to bubble. Those of us who are old enough to remember the election of 1864 and the temper of vilification and accusation which burst upon the head of Abraham Lincoln during the campaign preceding his second election, know what to look for in a time like this. I wonder if a debate led by eminent men in which such a record as Mr. Wilson has made can be reviewed by his opponents without a generous or appreciative word, is really good politics. I wonder how many wavering voters it has confirmed in their purpose to vote for Mr. Wilson. I know of one."

FATHER DROWNED SON BARELY RESCUED

NEWBURYPORT, Oct. 20.—Robert C. Cheney, aged 59 years, of Blinn's Island was drowned, and his son, Robert C., aged 23, barely rescued, in a boating accident on the Merrimack river late yesterday afternoon.

The father and son run a boat yard on the island, which is just opposite this city, in the town of Salisbury. Shortly before 5 o'clock they put out to a log pier boat anchored in the river, which was to be brought ashore.

Neither Could Swim

The craft safely boarded, the men proceeded to haul in its large anchor, and their exertions caused the boat to capsize, throwing both into the river. Neither could swim, but young Cheney grasped a mooring and held on to it, screaming for help. His father's body shot beneath the waves, which had been lashed with fury by yesterday's wind and rain.

Fishermen who live on the island put out and rescued young Cheney. They grappled for the father's body and recovered it 30 minutes later.

Currier in Tyngsboro on Aug. 17 last, was found not guilty and discharged by Judge Enright late yesterday afternoon. In reviewing the case, His Honor said that he had heard the evidence of both sides and visited the scene of the accident during the noon recess and his decision was that no criminal negligence was shown.

ALLIED WARSHIPS ACTIVE

MANILA, P. I., October.—Allied warships, believed to be British vessels, are again active in territorial waters of the Philippines and a half-dozen inter-island vessels have been overhauled, halted and examined during the past few days. The procedure is generally to halt a ship, send an armed landing party aboard, examine the ship's papers, ask for information as to the nationality of the passengers and inquire whether the ship carried cargo or mail addressed to Teutonic subjects. So far there has been no interference either with passengers, mail or cargo.

A large cruiser, believed to be British, was spotted recently by dashing into Manila bay and coming within four miles of the harbor. Then she turned tail and as suddenly made for the open sea again. No effort was made to stop her by the American warships, which have been charged with enforcing neutrality regulations, but it is understood that the matter was the subject of correspondence between the governor-general's office and the British consulate.

Tell your mother Resinol will heal your skin

"If she will wash those sore, itchy places twice a day with Resinol soap and hot water, and then put on a little Resinol Ointment, I am sure the trouble will soon disappear."

That is good advice. Patches of eruption may not be anything serious at first, but they cause so much discomfort and so often develop into eczema, or other severe ailment, that it pays to use the Resinol treatment right away.

Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap have been prescribed by physicians for a year, and a nation's worth of people have been cured of itching skin. Resinol Ointment, 15c; Resinol Soap, 15c. Write to Dr. A. R. Kessel, Baltimore, Md.

CONSTANTZA TRANSFER POINT BEFORE WAR

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. — "From now until peace is declared Rumania's chief seaport, Constantza, will concentrate her modern docks and quays to the import trade in Russian soldiers' warships before the war this thriving little city of 27,000 inhabitants handled practically all the surplus wheat raised by the Rumanian peasants which did not find its way up the Danube to the great flour mills of Roumania." says today's war geography bulletin issued by the National Geographic society.

"A large percentage of the cargo fighting men who will pass through Rumania bound for the Hungarian and Bulgarian frontiers will embark from Constantza, 120 miles northeast of Constantinople. The Black Sea has traversed in recent times by passenger ships of the Rumanian state-owned steamship lines, 120 miles to the south of Constantza is Constantinople through which the allies have eventually to secure the vast stores of grain now held in southern Russia, as well as the coming season's wheat crop of Rumania.

"Until hostilities began in 1914 Constantza was the transfer point for the extensive passenger service from London, Paris, Brussels, Berlin, Vienna and Budapest to Constantinople and the near east. Here express steamers connected with the de luxe trains from the west, making the run to the Sublime Porte overnight.

"Millions of dollars have been spent on the harbor and docks of Constantza since the town became a Rumanian possession by the treaty of Berlin, which transferred the Dobruja province to this country. The principal improvements were begun in 1892.

"Constantza, or Kustendje, with its wide clean streets, its numerous mosques, synagogues and churches, occupies the site of the ancient Toid, Toidos or Toides, the metropolis of the Euxine. The remains of many columns and fragments of statues testify to the importance and wealth of the city in those days. In the fourth century Constantine the Great changed the name of the port to Constantinople in honor of his sister, Empress Helen of Theodosius. It was destroyed in 620, and its ruins were buried in an era of rapid prosperity in the middle of the 14th century. It was under the control of the Venetians and later of the Turks. Its decline was rapid. In the Russo-Turkish war of 1877 it was bombarded by the Russians, and 17 years later surrendered to the same power without a blow in its defense.

"Probably the most noteworthy event in the history of ancient Toid was its destruction by the Emperor Augustus as the place of exile for the great Latin poet Publius Ovidius Naso, familiarly known as Ovid. His post-exile work, the publication of 'Amoribus et Arte', which exposed the questionable life of Toid, is said to have been an authority than the Oxford scholar George Sidney Owen, of the

THE FRENCH MAID SAYS

TOILET TABLE ACCESSORIES

"I have a girl friend who was married last year," began Marjorie as she strolled in to see Marie. "She has a birthday next month and I want to give her something different, but can't seem to think of anything pretty and novel."

"Why not use your talent for painting and give her something which bears the imprint of that talent?" suggested the French Maid. "For instance, some hand painted bottles for her toilet table or bathroom cabinet would be nice, useful and pretty."

"Just get two square bottles of the kind with ground glass stoppers, so universally used in any medicine chest. They are marked Listerine, Alcohol, Borax, etc. On them paint in oils a dainty cluster of flowers, daisies, forget-me-nots or roses—all are bright and attractive motifs.

"The workmanship should be free and simple, and, however crude, the result will prove surprisingly effective. The decoration may best be placed just below where the bottle begins to grow larger and broader, and directly above the label of the contents.

"Should one's taste dictate a wider border effect, it is easy to block this on in some neutral tint, dark blue or green, and, in striking relief, paint the flowers in brilliant colors. Any magazine suggests good designs for this work or decoration may be copied from china or any old bit of painted furniture or bric-a-brac. Combine an article with beauty and utility and the result is sure to be gratifying.

"A set of these charming bottles and towels with embroidery to match makes a most elaborate gift, and one dear to the heart of every woman. The latter requires, however, a bit of clever needlework as well. In these modern times, when every corner of the house is considered from the viewpoint of comfort as well as artistically, the bathroom is frequently the most neglected room in the house. But to the fastidious this unique gift will come as a pleasing and welcome novelty."

The enormous business we did last Saturday and Monday is a glaring testimonial to the values we offered. We wish to thank those who bought and for the benefit of the many who have written us to reserve a suit or overcoat at these prices, and those who could not be waited on, in the rush, we wish to state we are going to continue this sale until the $5000 stock we bought at panic prices way below the cost of production, is sold.

If we have to give these goods away we want our friends to get them. It's our first year in business and this is another way to advertise for next season's business. We are making all our clothes in our mammoth daylight workshop, journeymen custom tailored, paying twice the price for tailoring ever paid by any popular priced tailor in New England. We don't send our clothes to ready-made contractors in Boston. All our clothes bear the label of the local Journeymen's Custom Tailors' Local, 103, of Lowell. The best piece of goods in the world is no good unless it is properly tailored. Our tailors are all skilled tailors, yet we don't charge you as much as you pay for a cheap ready-made suit of cheviot, cassimere or soft shoddy cloth that breaks and tears easily.

We don't ask you to buy, but we do ask you to look over the mammoth purchase of virgin wool productions of strong all wool worsted serges, melton, etc. Never sold below $25 to $35, for this sale $15.00.

The public is cordially invited to visit our workshop any time.

GREEK KING COMPLAINS OF ACTION OF ENTENTE

TELLS BRITISH MINISTER ALLIES
HAVE DEPRIVED HIM OF ALL
POWER

LONDON, Oct. 20.—King Constantine of Greece in an interview with the British minister to Athens, complained bitterly of the action of the allies in recognizing the provisional government at Saloniki, according to an Athens despatch to the Daily Mail. The despatch says the king told the minister that as the allies had deprived him of all power they had better address their proposals to Venizelos. The monarch made certain proposals which the British diplomat considered of no importance and he advised Constantine to change his entire policy.

PARIS PAPER STATES VENIZELUS
DID

PARIS, Oct. 19.—The Journal des Debats in a long leader on the Greek situation, calls attention to the press campaign against Venizelos in Spanish and other papers of Germanophile tendencies and regrets finding in the American press certain strictures concerning the action of the allies toward an "Independent state."

As Washington rebelled against the arbitrary procedure of Great Britain in order that he might found a free state, so Venizelos went to Saloniki to create a new country. As France gave with enthusiasm its armed co-operation to Washington so she may and ought to give it to Venizelos without infringing the great principles which inspired free peoples.

"This time, however, France and Great Britain are proceeding in accord for the same cause. We should be happy to see the United States of America faithful to the memory of their struggle for independence and recognizing with us that free Greece is found at this moment at Saloniki and no longer at Athens."

SARDINIA UNKNOWN TO AMERICAN TRAVELERS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct.—When Europe, at peace once more, invites the American traveler to its shores, one of the few spots whose ruins will not suggest the sanguinary struggle which has brought sorrow and desolation to practically all that was a rich continent is the little-known Sardinia, the subject of a communication from Helen Dugan Wright to the National Geographic society. A part of the writer's descriptive article has been issued by the society as a geography bulletin, which says:

"Those who have taken the Mediterranean route have at least had a glimpse of Sardinia from their steamer a day out of Naples. The island is in sight for some hours, and, if the steamer passes sufficiently close, a bold, rocky coast can be seen on which Roman outlook towers remain similar to those scattered along the south shores of Spain. The tourist seldom includes a trip to Sardinia in his travels, as neither of his advisers, Thomas Cook nor Baedeker, recommends it to him. It, however, is one of the few foreign fields that has not been overrun and overted by the tourist, and in many of the villages a traveler is still regarded as a guest and not as a prey to be pounced upon.

"Some day, when tourists are tired of taking the tours laid out for them by the guide books, perhaps they will break away from the continent and set sail for Sardinia, especially if they are not traveling just to enjoy hotel comforts. One can rent a good automobile and a trip to Sardinia would probably leave the pleasantest of recollections and an experience long to be remembered.

"Sardinia can be reached by an eight hours' night voyage from Civitavecchia, the port of Rome, to the north end of the island. The crossing is quite comfortable. The beauty of the sunrise over the sheer cliffs and the craggy isolated rocks of Golfo degli Aranci compensates for getting up at five in the morning.

"As soon as one lands, a refreshing fragrance in the air is noticed—a perfume characteristic of Sardinia—not due, certainly, to orange trees, as suggested by the name of the port, there being none in this district, but to the many wild herbs and shrubs all over the island.

"Except for the eucalyptus and pine planted near the stations, there is a noticeable lack of trees along the railway routes. Among the mountains, however, which occupy the eastern half of the island and occur to some extent along the western coast, there are important forests of oak, box, cork and wild olive. In the mountainous areas of the island are many fertile valleys.

"The town of Macomer is the centre of a region where many fine horses are bred for the Italian army, as are also the small ponies used in Naples. Cagliari, at the southern end of the island, is the principal seaport of Sardinia, and is often visited for a few hours by tourists taking the weekly steamer from Genoa and Livorno to Tunis. The bay of Cagliari is most impressive. On the right and left as you enter are hills, with mountains in the distance, while rising up from the lowlands directly opposite the entrance is the city, on a rocky hill 400 feet high. The top of this hill is encircled by a massive wall, built by the Sardinians in the 13th century. At two of the angles rise the towers of the Lion and the Elephant, but of the tower of the Eagle, which completed the triangle, only the base remains. In the centre of these fortifications is the old town. On the slopes of the hill outside the walls is built the modern city of 55,000 inhabitants, the largest in Sardinia. The entire population of the island is estimated at 796,000, a density of population of 55 per square mile; that is a much lower figure than in any other part of Italy.

"Among the objects historically interesting in Cagliari are the rock-cut tombs on the hillside below the Castello. These are probably of the same period as the nuraghi, the famous prehistoric truncated cones 30 feet in diameter at the base and built by the men of the Bronze age.

"The nuraghi were undoubtedly fortified habitations. They are usually situated in commanding positions at the entrance to tablelands, near the fords or rivers, or on almost inaccessible mountain peaks and within signaling distance of one another. Traces of at least 5000 of these remains have been found.

"The ancient tombs of the inhabitants of the nuraghi are usually found near them. These are called the 'tombs of the giants' and are 2½ feet wide and from 30 to 40 feet long, with a roof of flat slabs or rocks and with the sides made of the slabs or of rough walling. The bodies were probably arranged in a sitting position. In front of the tombs are circles about 40 feet in diameter surrounded by stones; these were, no doubt, used for sacrifices and burial rites.

"To get an insight into the life of the inhabitants of this isolated island, one should visit its villages. It is in the entire eastern half, with its mountainous valleys and villages, where the real Sards now live. Here one will find them good looking and in good health, generous, hospitable, honorable and quite poor. Politeness is carried almost to an extreme. Often as one rides through the small villages, the women, children and the old men sitting at the doorsteps rise and wish you a 'buon vaggio'; or, if it happens to be noon, some may wish you a 'buon appetito.' Even the young boys are taught to take their hats off when strangers pass by; and if one is in an automobile and happens to stop to get out his kodak, a crowd of youngsters seems to spring up around the car, all anxious to be in the picture. To refuse a cup of coffee or a liqueur when visiting the house of an inhabitant of a village is an act of great discourtesy, and even the poorest have some beverage to offer.

"Generally speaking, the peasants seem to be somewhat downtrodden and do not realize their just rights. The music of the Sards is characteristic; not all quick and vivacious like that of the Sicilians or other southern Italians, but monotonous and slow, resembling very much the music of northern Africa. The Sards' costumes are one of their greatest attractions. They are of rich, harmonious, though brilliant colors, each village having its own distinctive type."

TERRIFIC DESTRUCTION ON BATTLEFIELDS OF FRANCE DESCRIBED

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 20.—The terrific destruction wrought on the battlefields of France is described in an official communique from the Canadian war records office which has been made public by Lieut. Gen. Sir Sam Hughes, minister of militia. "Incidentally the communique reiterates the claims of the British leaders in regard to the superiority of the allies in the air and in artillery. In the latter respect the Canadian officer says that the allies are fighting five shells to the Germans one."

Describing the desolation caused by the tremendous struggle the communique says:

"Never has human agency controlled such engines of destruction, nor has war ever so profoundly impressed itself upon the face of nature. No plague could be more ruthless, no natural blight more devastating."

After describing the peaceful scenes in the rear of the battle line the perfectly tilled fields, the farms cultivated to the last inch of their available space, and after paying a tribute to the "brave, silent industry of the women, the old men and the children" of France, the communique continues:

"The transition from this scene of beauty, peace and ancient prosperity is a most distressing sight. Fields are given over to the trampling rows of tattered horses and are disfigured by a variety of encampments from ordered white tents to huts of rusted biscuit tins and low discolored shacks of nondescript material. This area of active occupation gradually thins and about a region of more sinister appearance, there trees have broken trunks and the houses seem in pain, for their roofs are rent, their windows gone, their walls scarred and pierced. But the full view of the land of war is reached with the crossing of the black, greasy slopes east of Albert with their chalky scars cut by the long lines of trenches."

"The view suddenly sweeps into the valley. Before La Boisselle there were the original German and British lines on July 1. This was the outer wall, the stoutly resisting shell of the defense through which the indomitable English had fought their way and so permitted those who followed, other English, Australians, South African and Canadians, to come and deal their blows."

"Of La Boisselle there is more upon the map than on the ground. A few shattered trunks, here and there a splintered beam, perhaps a corner-stone or two, some cellars roofed with wreckage—otherwise only the upheaval of tortured earth, mine craters, heads of rotting white sand bags, half-choked trenches and a dreary litter of old wire, cans and human rubbish remain."

"On the left is the twin city of desolation, Ovillers, and between the two the white road runs beyond and mounts to the level of Pozieres. Pozieres shares the fate of La Boisselle. No hand could trace the outlines of a single house or garden which could be no bricks nor beams which could be used in restoration. As a village Pozieres has disappeared.

"Just beyond Pozieres and still below the summit runs the line of trenches first occupied by the Canadians. These are in the midst of the ground which has most suffered. Here is the scene of destruction. No grain of surface remains undisturbed. There is no room for a fresh shell hole. Somewhere is the power of modern artillery or the thoroughness of preparation better exemplified. We have literally blasted our way forward. Ruin appeared not only in the devastated earth and the crushed houses, but also in the sudden waste of human life. This is all ground sacred to the memory of our dead. Also, in the scarcely defined trenches of the enemy, the German corpses lie thickly."

In regard to the situation in the air, the communique says:

"In this respect the British and French domination is almost absolute. Here all day long we watch our planes circling above our heads. Closely they come and go with the speed and alertness of birds so far off they seem to hang suspended in the sky. Occasionally five or more planes, intent upon some special mission, go over high up and disappear in the distant mist. So rarely do the German machines appear that some men who have been here daily for a month have not seen a single one."

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Get a 25-cent bottle of Dandruffo at any drug store, pour a little into your hand and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of this awful scurf will have disappeared. Two or three applications will destroy every bit of dandruff; stop scalp itching and falling hair.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If Cross, Feverish or Bilious Give "California Syrup of Figs"

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given. If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that it's little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has headache, diarrhea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative" because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," they see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

TO SPIRITUAL DIRECTOR

Rev. Joseph Denis, O.M.I., organizer and former spiritual director of the
A. C. Cadets brass band, was last night tendered a reception at the home of the president of the band, Arthur

REV. JOSEPH DENIS, O.M.I.

Gionet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alice Gionet, 125 Fourth avenue, on the occasion of the chaplain's transfer from St. Joseph's parish to Notre Dame de Lourdes in Middlesex street. The event was informal but proved very interesting to all concerned.

The "boys" gathered at the home of their president in the early evening with their new chaplain, Rev. Louis Gionet, O.M.I., formerly of Twickenham, who has been assigned to fill the position made vacant by the transfer of Rev. Fr. Denis, O.M.I., and later a telephone message summoned Fr.
Denis to the gathering. Upon entering the home the reverend gentleman was presented a purse of gold by President Arthur Gionet in behalf of the musical organization. The young men took occasion to inform the guest of honour of the boys' sorrow to lose so valuable a worker and extended him

GROSSMAN IS FOUND GUILTY OF ARSON

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—A jury in the superior criminal court yesterday returned a verdict of guilty in the case

BIG INCREASE IN LIVING COST IN YEAR

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—This country was probably never so prosperous as just now, but it's dollars to doughnuts that the average workingman would be glad to trade a little of the prosperity for a chance to live a little more economically, when each succeeding 24 hours develops something to put another dent in the already slim family wallet.

Going back a year ago to get a line on the cost of living at that time, practically the only thing that was any higher at that time than it is today was fresh pork to roast. Perhaps a costly blunder is made in disclosing this discovery, for possibly in the present marking up of prices this item may have been overlooked.

Apples are no more costly than at this time last year, but everything else, from soup to nuts and from feedles to anchovies has gone up. The apples, it continued in their original state, are cheap enough, but with hard 12 cents a pound and pastry shops costing more than $5 a barrel, apple pie, and for that matter any kind of pie, is costly.

The kind of flour necessary for the kind of bread "mother used to make" is costly $11 to $11.25 a barrel, which is $2.75 a barrel more than it cost last year. Furthermore, consumers have got to spread the butter on the bread more thickly, because it is costing exactly seven cents a pound more than it did last year, and this is not the case alone with the best butter, but with all grades. Eggs are always high around this time of the year, but just now the heat of them are 50c a dozen, which is two cents a dozen more than this grade was selling for the year ago.

Cabbages, onions and potatoes are more costly this year, and it is said that they are going higher, for the farmers did not get away to a running start last spring, and all crops had to be made up to the fact that even a fairly high yield could not correct the deficiency.

Sugar is bringing 2 to 2 1/2 cents a pound more than it did this time last year; beans, the Saturday night and Sunday morning kind, were high last year, but they are positively costly just now, with retailers getting 20 to 25 a quart and not likely to be able to sell much longer at 20c.

Canned goods are way up in price, for which is blamed not only short crops of the tomatoes, peas and other vegetables, but a big increase in the cost of tin cans.

To keep warm this winter is going to be costly, for coal is 50c a ton higher than a year ago and kindling wood 25c a cubic foot above the prices at this time last year.

Here is the result of the investigations:

FLEES ASYLUM TO BE KILLED BY TRAIN

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Thomas Conroy, 26, one of three men who escaped from the Kings County House of Correction, New York, Monday, was instantly killed at 8:20 last evening when he fell or was knocked off the top of a freight car near the East Somerville station on the western division of the Boston & Maine railroad. The wheels passed over his body, cutting it in two.

Godfrey Samuels, 31, of 493 9th ave., Brooklyn, and James Visco, 30, of 535 10th ave., Brooklyn, his companions, were later arrested by Railroad Officer Henry E. Cheney and turned over to the Somerville police on the charge of unlawfully riding on a freight train.

It was not known until the men were taken into the Somerville station that they were two of the three men who were wanted by the police of New York. They said they made their escape on Monday and came to this city with money that had been sent in to Visco by his relatives. They spent the time in this city until last evening when they determined to jump aboard a freight train to Portland as they believed they could get work there and escape detection.

Both men admitted their identity and showed marks of the New York institution on their underclothing. Neither of the men knew where Conroy lived. They told Lt. Harman they were parole inmates, with freedom of the grounds, and that escape for them was easy.

The men showed signs of being mentally deranged. The New York police were notified of their arrest. Conroy's body was removed to the northern district mortuary.

INDIANS PLAY U. S. S. RHODE ISLAND

The Indian football team will play the strong eleven from the U. S. battleship Rhode Island at Bunting park tomorrow afternoon. The game will start at 3 o'clock and a big crowd is expected. The Indians will be strengthened by the acquisition of Williams and Kelly, formerly of English High. Both are exceptionally fast men and have had considerable experience at the game. Williams is a back field man while Kelly is a tackle. The two elevens are in great condition, and a great game is expected. Eugie Donovan will referee the game.

VON KLUCK PLACED ON THE RETIRED LIST

BERLIN, Oct. 20 (via London).—Field Marshal Alexander H. R. von Kluck, who commanded the right wing of the German army in its sweep toward Paris in the fall of 1914, has been placed on the retired list at his own request.

He had never returned to the front since he was wounded by shrapnel fire in March, 1915, while inspecting advanced positions. The field marshal was 70 years old last May.

Field Marshal von Kluck and his army look an important part in the German advance toward Paris in September, 1914. His advance halted about 50 miles from the French capital and his force, with the rest of the German army was checked and driven back in the battle of the Marne.

He is said to have received his wound in March, 1915, by recklessly exposing himself after a stormy interview with Emperor William.

BISHOP LAWRENCE AT EPISCOPAL CONVENTION

SAYS DEVELOPMENT OF INDIVIDUAL CHARACTER MEANS DEVELOPMENT OF CHRISTIANITY

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20.—Development of individual character means the development of Christianity, the Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, bishop of Massachusetts, told delegates to the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church here today.

"A friend of mine called football the most spiritual game because it develops discipline, self restraint and character," he said. "All of these make for religion."

Bishop Lawrence spoke at a joint meeting of the two houses of the convention in the historic cathedral of St. Louis. He urged modernization of Sunday schools. "We can accomplish nothing by having our children step from modern secular schools to 15th century Sunday schools," he said.

Speaking of religion in the public schools Bishop Lawrence said: "I hold, a child can get religion in the home, on the public playground—anywhere he can get growth of character."

Robert H. Gardiner of Gardiner, Me., reviewed the work of the general board of religious education of the church. A proposal to permit Jews, who have become communicants of the church, to retain certain of the racial customs and feast days was on the house of deputies' calendar for discussion today.

Discussion of the proposed revision and enrichment of the Book of Common Prayer has been halted temporarily, pending action on the proposals by the house of bishops.

MARINE INSURANCE RATES DROP

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The abnormal rates on war risks for marine insurance which have prevailed since the sinking of the transatlantic merchant ships off the American coast by the German submarine U-53 have gradually been reduced and yesterday some New York underwriters quoted 1 per cent. on risks. In some quarters, however, 1 1/4 per cent. is asked on big consignments. Rates to South America and Panama have been reduced from 3 to 4 per cent. but the insurance on risk for the Mediterranean is still at a high figure.

HON. EDWARD KEATING GIVES WILSON CREDIT FOR CHILD LABOR LAW

Hon. Edward Keating, author of the child labor law, has the following on child labor legislation:

The story of the passage of the so-called Keating-Owen Federal Child Labor bill may be told in a sentence: Woodrow Wilson did it.

And he did it just like he has done so many other big things during the last four years—the frankly and publicly advised his democratic associates who control the legislative branch of our government to act on what was the manifest will of their constituents and strike the shackles from the limbs of children in industry.

Wilson is a great democrat, but in addition to that he is a born leader of men. Like John Paul Jones he commands the ship because he is the most capable man aboard the ship. His crew has confidence in his judgment and patriotism. It isn't necessary for him to use the baying ph. He gets results without adopting the tactics of distinguished predecessors who belabored their comrades in the halls of congress with a "big stick" or starved them into submission by depriving them of postoffice patronage.

Other presidents have emphasized the need of federal child labor legislation, some would-be presidents are proclaiming before high heaven that they love the children and yearn for an opportunity to lighten their burden, but Woodrow Wilson is the only president who ever coined his words into deeds on this subject.

His influence put the bill through the senate, his signature made it law, and to him belong the honor and the glory. God bless him!

It wasn't an easy fight. I introduced the bill on the opening day of the sixty-third congress. A score of cooks had a finger in the pie. Owen Lovejoy and Dr. A. J. McKelway of the national child labor committee had devoted the best years of their lives to the task of creating a public sentiment which would compel congress to deal with the problem in an effective way. Jane Adams, Felix Adler, former Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania and scores of other big-hearted men and women from every section of the country had contributed time and money and thought. Prof. W. S. Parkinson, of Columbia—who should be on the supreme bench—supervised the legal work and made a wonderful argument in support of the constitutionality of the bill.

We encountered the lobby at the beginning of the contest. It was well organized, apparently generously financed, and absolutely fearless. It employed distinguished lawyers to raise constitutional objections, produced medical "experts" who insisted that boys of ten might be worked 12 hours a day in a cotton mill "without deleterious effect" and paraded an imposing array of business men who were sure they would be ruined if they were deprived of the services of their little serfs.

In the face of this opposition it required two months to force the bill through the house. We won on Feb. 2, 1916, and the fight was transferred to the senate. The lobby was not discouraged. Its leaders boasted that the bill would be pigeon-holed in the American house of lords, or failing that would be talked to death. With the assistance of such valiant champions as Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas and Senator John W. Kern of Indiana we avoided the pigeon-hole and had the bill favorably reported to the senate.

But the calendars were crowded with important constructive legislation and members of congress were anxious to get away to their districts. To ask the bill to reach congress was the mere threat of a filibuster might be sufficient. The lobbyists rejoiced.

But they had not reckoned on Woodrow Wilson. Returning from a cruise down the Chesapeake he discovered the situation and acted with the decision and directness characteristic of him.

He went to the capitol, called the leading democrats about him and told them that in his judgment congress should not adjourn until the child labor bill was passed.

The story of his visit and its object was carried to the country and the people from Maine to California lost no time in making it clear that they were back of the president.

The lobby stole away from Washington and the bill was passed. The bill provides that children shall not be employed in mines or quarries before they are sixteen years old, or in mills, workshops, canneries, etc., before they are fourteen years old, and that children between fourteen and sixteen years shall not be employed in mills, workshops, canneries, etc., for more than eight hours a day or six days a week or at night. If any mine, quarry, or manufacturing establishment violates the law its products will be barred from the channels of interstate commerce.

It is a very simple law but a very effective one. No one can misunderstand its provisions and under federal administration we are confident no one can evade them.

I may say in passing that the friends of this bill are not in the least apprehensive concerning what the supreme court will do when this legislation comes before the tribunal. We hold that when the original 13 states adopted the constitution they granted congress absolute power to regulate commerce between the states, with foreign nations, and the Indian tribes.

The only limitation on that power which you can find anywhere in the constitution is to be found in the fifth amendment, which declares that citizens shall not be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law. The supreme court has repeatedly construed the commerce clause of the constitution and the limitations fixed by the fifth amendment. We contend that the court has uniformly held that congress may regulate interstate commerce in the interests of the public health, the public safety, the public morals, and the public welfare, and that the only limitation recognized by the court was that the exercise of such power by congress must be a reasonable one. There is our case in a nutshell. We hold that child labor is immoral; that a moral taint attaches to the products of child labor; and that congress, in an effort to safeguard the public morals and the public welfare, may exclude this pestiferous thing from the channels of interstate commerce.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 20, via London.—Emperor William visited the Champagne front on Wednesday of this week, according to the Cologne Gazette and presented Gen. von Einem, commander of the Saxon army with the laurels of the Order "Four Le Merite."

The emperor was in excellent spirits, the newspaper says, and showed the greatest confidence in the outcome of the war. He expressed lively satisfaction over the heavy losses of the British and French.

ICE CREAM AND CAKE SALE

A delightful entertainment and ice cream and cake sale for the benefit of the French Baptist church in Euclid street was held Wednesday evening. The evening's program included violin duets by Charles Hutchinson and

MOTORISTS CHEATED BY SHORT GASOLINE PUMPS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Short measuring gasoline pumps, according to an investigation by the federal bureau of standards are melting motorists of millions of dollars a year. Tests in many cities have confirmed previous conclusions and actual tests of the types of pumps used by retailers at the bureau here have shown 50 per cent. of them give short measure for various reasons. Some of them are faults of construction and others are susceptible to manipulation by the dealer.

"This tendency toward deficient measurement," says an announcement by the bureau, "is worthy of careful consideration as it results in the aggregate in enormous monetary losses to the public."

"It is safe to say that in all localities not under an efficient and competent weights and measures administration and in a large majority of these cases which have a relatively competent administration, the condition of measuring pumps is such that the motoring public is being subjected to regular and continuous shortages in its purchases of gasoline."

BOXING, GOLF
AND ATHLETICSINFANTILE PARALYSIS AT HARVARD COLLEGEEDWIN GINN OF FOOTBALL SQUAD STRICKEN—NOW IN HOSPITAL

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Edwin Ginn, Harvard 1917, of Winchester, who has been playing football with the Harvard scrub team all fall, is at the Stillman infirmary, the Harvard university hospital, with what the college physicians believe to be a mild case of infantile paralysis. He was taken to the infirmary last Tuesday and last night the college authorities made an official statement regarding the case.

Ginn, who is of the publishing family, was one of the squad that went to Ogunquit, Me., for the preliminary practice. His playing this fall has been confined to the second team, whose quarters are apart from those of the varsity men, although he has been on the field with all the players daily.

Dr. Roger L. Lee, professor of hygiene at Harvard, states that the case is not considered alarming, and that the football team will continue not only to practice, but will meet the Massachusetts Agricultural college team in the stadium on Saturday. The precaution has been taken to inject the patient with serum, although no real paralysis has developed. Ginn was reported as doing very well.

The football squad has been instructed to keep closely to Cambridge for two weeks, and both the first and second teams will be obliged to have all their meals together at the Harvard Varsity club. Ginn's roommate, Ham Robb, assistant manager of the football team, has been quarantined.

WORKOUT IN RAIN

Tigers Prepare for Hard Battle With
Dartmouth a Week From Tomorrow

PRINCETON, Oct. 20.—The heavy rainstorm which swept over Princeton all night and yesterday and converted University Field into a sea of mud did not keep the Tigers from having a hard workout in the afternoon.

Rush had his charges in the baseball cage part of the time to get over their signals and try out a couple of new plays and then brought them out in the open where a dummy scrimmage and then a brief period of active play followed. It was another day of hard work, for with the Dartmouth game looming up just a week from Saturday and with reports coming from Haverhill of a team much stronger than last year, the Tiger moult is beginning to get away from fundamentals and concentrate his efforts on bringing about more concerted team play. Lafayette, which plays here Saturday, is also expected to have a more powerful team than last season.

SOME FIGURES
TO FANS

A review of the major league baseball season, which ended with the playing of the recent world's series, discloses a number of rather unusual features.

The pennant races in both the National and American leagues were closer and better sustained than has been the case for some years. In the American league every club, with the exception of St. Louis and Philadelphia, led the league at week-ends, one or more times, while the same honor fell to only three clubs in the National league, first place being held in every case by either Brooklyn, Philadelphia or Boston.

From figures compiled from the official box score, it is shown that Brooklyn, the pennant winner, won second in the total number of runs scored in the senior league, with New York first and Philadelphia third.

Brooklyn made the greatest number of hits during the season, with Cincinnati second and New York third.

Brooklyn made the least number of errors, with Cincinnati second in this respect and Philadelphia third.

Brooklyn had more players left on bases than any other club in the National league, with Pittsburgh second and Cincinnati third.

Brooklyn also had fewer runs scored by opponents than any other club, while Boston was second and Philadelphia third.

In the American league the pennant-winning Boston club scored less runs than all but two of its rivals, the exceptions being Philadelphia and Washington.

The Red Sox also collected less hits than any of the other clubs except the Athletics. On the other hand, Cincinnati's players made fewer errors than any of the other seven clubs, while the Philadelphia combination made the most.

St. Louis had the least number left on bases, while Detroit holds the record for stranded players in the Junior league.

The complete record of the sixteen clubs of the major leagues, showing runs, hits, errors, left on bases and runs by opponents is as follows:

Club	Runs	Hits	Errors	L. B.	OR
Brooklyn	535	1,445	224	1,020	471
Pittsburgh	529	1,245	232	913	502

ATLANTA—TRACK RECORD LOW-
ERED—OTHER WINNERS

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 20.—Ben Earl, the 2007, gelding, owned by Edward Peterson of Omaha, took first money in the Grand Circuit's $2000 Piedmont Hotel Cup chase pacing race in straight heats here yesterday. Coming in for second, third and fourth places respectively were Spring Maid second in two heats; Young Todd and Peter Pointer.

Peter Pointer, driven by "Pop" Geers, was a poor fourth in each of the heats. The best time was made in the third heat, when Ben Earl, piloted by Chiles, paced in 2:06 1/2.

The most sensational performance was the 2:07 class pacing, won by Atlanta. The little gray mare took the first, second and fourth heats, her best time being in the second, 2:07 1/2. Birdonna, driven by Stout, fought every inch of the way.

The 2:15 class trotting was won by Ridgemark, though Truesada, driven by Cox, won the opening heat. Ben Earl came out between scheduled events in an attempt to lower the track record of 2:03 1/2, made by Goldie O'last Tuesday, and covered the oval in 2:04 1/2. The summary:

THE BROOKLYN CLUB IS NOT YET SOLD

FRED EBBETS SAYS THAT HE WILL NOT MAKE SACRIFICE BUT WILL ACCEPT REASONABLE OFFER

Charles H. Ebbets and his associates have not yet sold the Brooklyn club of the National league. After a conference with some prospective purchasers Mr. Ebbets remarked: "Very much in the dark."

He added: "If this broker brings the men he represents to me with a certain check for, say, a reasonable amount of the purchase price, to show good faith, we will be glad to talk business. But he made no definite engagement with me, although he seems to have told the newspaper men of a specific time."

"The club is for sale, as I have said before, but at our own price. I am anxious to take a rest, but I do not propose to make a sacrifice and am not so anxious to sell that I will part with the club for one penny less than it is worth."

"It is not altogether fair to make a comparison with the price we want for the Brooklyn club and the one of $500,000 paid for the Yankees. The New York club, of the American league, sold a franchise and some players, but nothing else. It had no real estate; it had no home of its own."

"The Brooklyn club owns a valuable piece of property in the Flatbush district, which has increased materially in value since we purchased it, and which will increase even more when the new subway reaches our door."

"The stands could not be built these days, with the big jump in steel, at anything like what it cost us, and we have a team which, with a little strengthening here and there, is sure to be a sharp contender, even if it does not repeat and again win the National league pennant. All these things must be considered."

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

Larry Burns, the rugged Lawrence lightweight, has been matched to box Harry Pierce of New York in the feature bout before the members of the 20th Century A. C. of Pittsfield, Oct. 30.

Burns has been out of the game nearly a year on account of illness and fans will watch with interest the result of his first bout.

Young Sadow of Chelsea and Kid Thomas of Lawrence will box at Gloucester next Monday night in a twelve round bout. Gardner Brooks, the local boxer, has defeated both of these boys and would like to meet the winner if such a bout could be arranged.

Tommy Reagan and Young Ditt will probably be seen in action at the Commercial A. C. of Boston in the near future.

Harry Carlson is due to meet Larry Hansen tonight at Boston and should be in fine condition for his bout with Phinney Boyle next Thursday at Lawrence.

Battling Levinsky of New York and Jack Dillon of Indianapolis, two of the best big men in the world will meet for the second time at the Boston arena Tuesday night in a twelve round fight to a decision.

Dillon has beaten Levinsky every time a decision by the referee depended upon the outcome so it will not be a surprise if the "Giant Killer" defeats the "Battler" when they meet.

Young Chakas of Manchester has resumed ring activities and the other night gave Joe Carroll, the Lawrence fighter, a sound whaling at Berry, N. H.

Chakas in shape will give any of the lightweights a merry battle before being subdued as he is a fast two-handed fighter always carrying the fight to his opponent.

Kid Williams and Al Shubert had a hard battle over in Philadelphia the other evening and after the bout opinions differed as to which man won. Below is a list of newspapers and how their writers viewed the fight.

Associated Press—Draw.
United Press—Williams by share.
International News—Draw.

Philadelphia Record—Shubert.
Philadelphia Bulletin—Shade for Williams.
Four rounds even, two for Williams.

Philadelphia Press—Williams.
Philadelphia Record—Shade for Shubert.
Philadelphia Engineer—Draw.

Philadelphia Public Ledger—Shubert by slight margin.
Summary—Nine representative newspapers and press associations gave: Williams, 3; Shubert, 2; draw, 1.

Tommy Carson, former Lawrence boxer now living in Hartford, Conn., has been matched to meet Sammy Waltz at Meriden, Conn., Oct. 31. Carson was a very good performer in Lawrence rings and his fight with Howard McGee, Joe Carroll and Phinney Boyle will long be remembered by those who witnessed the encounters.

Young Britt and Al Shubert, both of New Bedford are slated for a return bout at the Armory A. A. of Boston on the night of Oct. 31 in one of the twelve round bouts. The other bout has yet to be chosen. Britt gave Shubert quite a whaling the last time they met and Al has been bounding him for a return bout ever since.

All Lowell fans will watch Jimmy Gardner's attempted comeback with interest as Jimmy was one of the most popular boxers ever turned out in this part of the country. Gardner was also one of the cleverest men that ever pulled on a padded mitt as his great record will prove. He met the best of them and only on a few rare occasions he lost the verdict. Frank Klaus was over Gardner in his Jimmy's last fight in three rounds at Boston in June, 1914.

CORNELL SECOND TEAM
WINS FROM VARSITYREGULARS HAVE TO YIELD BE-FORE THE POWERFUL ATTACK
OF SCRUBS

ITHACA, Oct. 20.—In the last scrimmage before the Bucknell game, the Cornell varsity yesterday bowed in defeat for the first time this year to the scrubs, three touchdowns to one. The scrubs' victory was due to the wonderful running of the second team backfield, Quarterback Speed and Advers Bratz and Hauke. The varsity was crippled by the absence of five regulars.

The first two scores were made by Hauke, the first following a 50-yard run by Speed, the second following a costly fumble by Fritz Shiverick on the varsity 10-yard line. The last scrub score was made by Speed, following a straight march down the field. Shiverick scored the varsity touchdown following hard line plugging by the varsity backs, especially Capt. Mueller.

The varsity ends, Ryerson and Zander, left half Benedict, Miller, right guard, who have been on the injured squad most of the week, are expected to start the game against Bucknell in yesterday's practice. Left tackle Gillies was temporarily shifted to left end, and Clarence Tilley, the last year's tackle, played at the other wing position.

For the second time in a week the big undergraduate mass meeting on Schoellkopf field was postponed on account of rain. The playing of the second game yesterday made it practically certain that they will be used in the big games against Harvard, Michigan and Pennsylvania this year.

MEETING OF THE WILSON MANSFIELD LEAGUE

The first meeting of the Wilson-Mansfield League of the 5th congressional district was held in headquarters in Associate building last night with a large attendance of leading democrats of Lowell and suburbs and many active labor men.

The meeting was called to order by Major Robert Crowley and reports were heard from various parts of the district relative to the work of organizing for election day. Major Crowley said that the National Wilson club had decided to organize state and congressional clubs to work in cooperation for ultimate success, believing this to be more satisfactory than if the work were carried on from one central body. He urged personal work among the voters and advocated the welding of city and town committees so that the best results could be obtained. The district has been canvassed thoroughly and the various democratic leaders are alive to the importance of the work ahead.

In Lowell the democratic city committee with Cornelius Cronin at its head had organized ward committees for the purpose of carrying on an active campaign for the entire ticket. Announcement was made last evening that Humphrey O'Sullivan has succeeded in securing a splendid group of speakers for the three big rallies to be held in Associate hall during the next few weeks. On the night of Oct. 24

the speakers will include Judge Thomas S. Hogan, attorney general of Illinois, Hon. A. L. Thurman, solicitor of the department of commerce and grandson of the late Allen Thurman and District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier of Boston.

On Oct. 31 at Associate hall the speakers will include Congressman Fitzgerald of New York, house chairman of the committee on ways and means and one of the most eloquent speakers in congress; Hon. Frederick W. Mansfield, Mayor Curley of Boston and Judge Thomas P. Riley of Malden. It is expected that William N. Osgood, one of the original progressives of the city will preside.

On the evening of Nov. 6 the speakers will include former Mayor Barton of Melrose, Attorney General Thomas J. Boynton and former Congressman Joseph A. Kelleher of Boston. Frank Warnock, labor leader of Lowell, reported that the Trades and Labor council of the city had unanimously endorsed Mr. Mansfield for governor and has planned to conduct a labor rally in his interest during the first part of next month. Mr. Mansfield will speak on that occasion.

Brief addresses were made last evening by Mr. O'Sullivan, Mr. Cronin, John T. Sparks, Michael Lee of the Carpenters' union and Mr. Young of the Machinists' union. It was decided to keep the headquarters open daily so that meetings of ward committees and other organizations may gather there at their convenience. The next meeting will be at the call of the chair.

FAY CHAMPION SHOT

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 20.—Out-shooting 638 competitors at the national rifle tournament here yesterday, Capt. W. Garland Fay, United States Marine corps, won the title of individual military champion rifle shot of the United States. Capt. Fay's score in the contest, which is known as the president's match, was 290 out of a possible 300 points.

W. H. Richards of New Haven, Conn., Quinipiac club, finished second with 259 points, and G. W. Chesley of the same club was third with 255 points.

YALE IS FAVORITE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 20.—A rain-soaked gridiron and unfavorable weather conditions served as a heavy handicap to Yale and Virginia Polytechnic Institute in their first football game here this afternoon. On the strength of comparative records Yale was a warm favorite. The game was scheduled for today because the bowl will be used tomorrow for the pageant commemorating the 200th anniversary of the removal of Yale from Saybrook to New Haven.

Yale was weakened by the absence of Capt. Black and Sheldon who have minor injuries. The Blue started with a new center, Hutchinson, who previously has played fullback.

BOSTON BOXER GETS DRAW

DONOVAN SIGNS AGAIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Wild Bill Donovan, who has managed the Yankees for the last two seasons, yesterday signed a new contract to manage the team during the season of 1917. The papers were signed after a conference between Donovan and Capt. T. L. Huston at the Hotel Endicott. Both Capt. Huston and his partner in the ownership of the Yanks, Col. Jack Ruppert, were well pleased with Donovan's managerial work during the last season.

The Yanks have decided to train again at Macon, Ga., where they trained last season. This will be the first time in the history of the club that they have trained at the same southern resort two years in succession.

STAR PLAYER INELIGIBLE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—William Neill, star guard on the University of Pennsylvania football team, was declared ineligible yesterday by the faculty committee on athletics because he had played three years on the Whitman college team of Walla Walla, Wash., before coming to Pennsylvania. Neill was a regular on last year's Pennsylvania team and therefore had played four years of college football, according to the ruling.

Coch Coach Folwell declared that Whitman college only recently had been raised to the college rating and that Neill's eligibility had not been questioned until this week.

Plant Juice is designed for just that purpose—to assist Nature. It is a remedy that puts the stomach in perfect condition, thus acting directly on the blood, liver and kidneys. Not a day passes but what testimonials from local people are received in the cities where Plant Juice has been introduced, giving glowing accounts of how they have been restored to health.

Only recently, the following signed testimonial was received from Mr. Arthur Glasgow, of No. 247 Dutton street, a well known retired business man of this city, having lived here for the past 20 years and who has hosts of friends and acquaintances. Mr. Glasgow was a member of Co. J, 4th Regiment, Massachusetts Cavalry, under Gen. Sheridan and is prominent in G. A. R. circles. He stated:

"For 25 years I have suffered with my stomach, and my bowels were affected and I had terrible pains in my back and side, was also badly constipated and had tried dozens of medicines, which only gave me temporary relief. As soon as I began to take Plant Juice I felt immediate benefit and since I have continued to take it for several weeks I feel like a new man. I can eat anything I want without the slightest distress, sleep well at night and feel refreshed and rested in the morning. Plant Juice has made life worth living for me and I am glad to make this public statement, endorsing it to others."

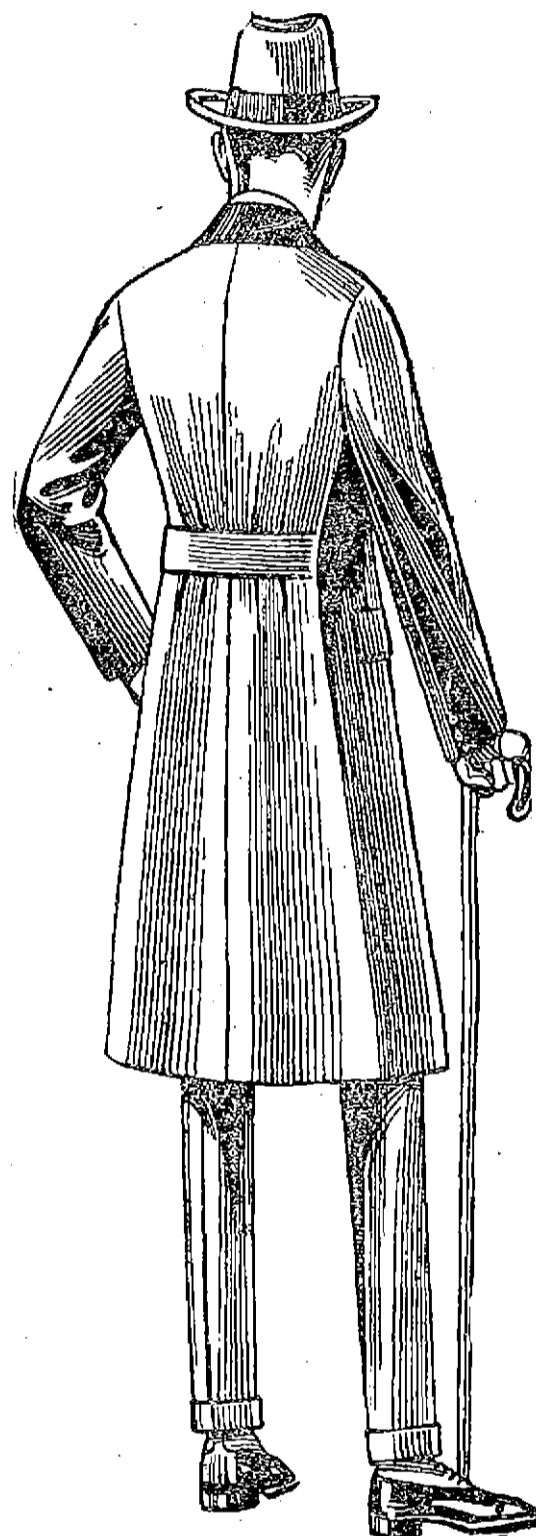

"The Plant Juice Man" is at Dr. J. H. Devereux's, Merrimack Square, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. On Saturday he will remain at the store until 10 p. m. to meet those who are unable to call during the day.

"Please tell me whether a man should use the prefix 'Mr.' on his cards, also whether his card should be larger or smaller than a lady's?" was the query of Robert.

"Yes, the prefix 'Mr.' should be used on a man's card and it should be smaller than the card of a lady," said his sister.

"Please tell me whether it is correct to congratulate a young lady upon her engagement or should such congratulations be given only to the man?" inquired Gladys.

"It is correct to congratulate a man upon his engagement, but one does not use the word congratulate in flattering the young lady. One should, however, express one's interest and pleasure to her and wish her all possible happiness," said her aunt.

"If a bride is to have more than one bridesmaid, should she select the style and pattern of their gowns, or should the bridesmaids do this themselves?" asked Jane.

"The bride usually decides on the style and making of her bridesmaids' gowns, and it is always well to select colors and materials that it may be possible for their wearers to use again," said her aunt.

"My husband and I are planning to entertain a number of friends at dinner to meet a visitor. How shall I word the invitations?" asked Mrs. Newby.

"I should write them in this way," suggested her friends: "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith request the honor of your company at dinner on Wednesday, May the fifteenth, at eight o'clock, to meet Mr. George Brown."

"Will you please tell me the proper etiquette on leaving cards when an invitation has been extended to you?" asked Mabel.

"The rule is to leave a card for every woman whose name appears on the invitation, and if the hostess is a married woman, a man guest invariably leaves a card for her husband also. A woman, however, never leaves her card for the man of the house," answered her mother.

AMERICAN SCHOONER IS CAPTURED BY BRITISH

THE RICHARD W. CLARK FROM NEW BEDFORD TAKEN INTO GRIMSBY

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The American fishing schooner Richard W. Clark has been captured in the waters around Iceland and taken to Grimsby. The Clark measures 553 gross tons, and is owned by A. A. Corey of New Bedford, Mass.

Late in August the American fishing schooner Maxine Elliott and Lizzie Griffin were seized while fishing off the coast of Iceland, and taken to Lerwick, Shetland Islands, but were later released.

NEW BEDFORD, Oct. 20.—The schooner Richard W. Clark, reported captured in the waters of Iceland and taken to Grimsby, was a three-masted coasting vessel. The Clark made trips from this port to Dominica, Las Palmas and Fayal, carrying supplies to the whaling fleet and bringing home the catch of the whalers.

After her return with the catch this summer she was sold to New York parties for $24,000, which was $500 more than it cost to build her seven years ago. At the time it was understood that the Clark was to be used in the transatlantic freight service.

It is not believed here that the big coaster was engaged in fishing, as is intimated in the report of her capture.

The Clark was built at Phippsburg, Me., in 1903, by F. S. Bowker. She is 148 feet long, 33 feet beam and has a draft of 13 feet. She was formerly owned in this city, and was commanded by Captain A. A. Corey.

NEW HAVEN TO HOLD B. & M. FOR YEAR

DATE OF SALE OF HOLDINGS OF B. & M. STOCK POSTPONED BY FEDERAL JUDGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The date for the sale of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad's holdings of Boston & Maine stock was today postponed by Federal Judge Mayer until January 1, 1918, an extension of one year. The sale is required under a decree of the court growing out of the Sherman law dissolution suit against the New Haven road. The trustees of the stock had asked for a two-year extension.

Conrad W. Crocker, who participated in the proceedings as a representative of minority stockholders of the Boston & Maine, did not oppose the one-year extension, but told Judge Mayer that he wanted the trustees instructed that they would "fully and faithfully" comply with the terms of the dissolution decree and be prevented from carrying on their "campaign of reorganization." Crocker, who has complained that the trustees in seeking the two years' postponement were influenced by the New Haven, was instructed by Judge Mayer to file a petition setting forth the details of his complaint.

STRIKERS VOTE TO RETURN AT BAYONNE

BAYONNE, N. J., Oct. 20.—Striking employees of the Standard Oil and several other companies operating plants voted to return to work today. Earlier in the day John J. Moffit and James A. Smyth, United States mediators, had assured a committee representing the men that the companies had expressed a willingness to negotiate demands for increased wages and better working conditions if the workers would return to their places.

The strike, which began 10 days ago and was marked by rioting during which three persons were killed and many others wounded, affected the plants of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, the Tide-water Oil Co., the Vacuum Oil Co., the General Chemical Co., the Pacific Coast Borax Co., the International Nickel Co., the Southern Cottonseed Oil Co., and the Columbia Oil Co. While only about 33% of the men actually went on strike, it was said approximately 8500 others were thrown out of work.

The strikers, most of whom were receiving $2.20 a day each, demanded a 25 per cent. increase in wages for all those receiving under $3 a day and a 20 per cent. increase for those receiving more than $3 a day, together with better working conditions.

FEDERAL ACTION ON BIG MASS. MILK DEALERS

DR. ALSBERG, SPEAKING AT SPRINGFIELD, SAYS PROSECUTION LIKELY

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 20.—Intimation that the federal authorities would shortly take action against a half dozen or more big milk dealers of Massachusetts was given by Dr. Carl L. Alsberg, chief of the bureau of chemistry, United States department of agriculture, in an address to the International Association of Dairy and Milk Inspectors in this city last night.

Dr. Alsberg said that the move would probably be necessitated by persistent refusal of the dealers to remedy conditions in unsanitary and uncleanly plants. Conditions in these places, he said, were much worse than found on the grounds of the small farmers.

He declined to tell the names of the men involved because it would be unfair to them. There was some indication that they would get one more chance before Uncle Sam's hand descended.

Dr. Alsberg said that the dealers were apparently dead to reason as inspectors, time and time again had made the recommendations for improvement without accomplishing anything.

The association elected the following officers last night: William H. Price of Detroit, president; A. W. Lombard, Boston, W. F. Furrington, Concord, N. H., Dr. William S. Clum of Harrisburg, Penn., vice president; and J. A. Weld, Washington, secretary-treasurer.

Sullivan, Lawrence; vice-president, James Cash, Taunton; secretary, Jas. M. Keane, Cambridge; treasurer, Christopher H. Chase, Brockton; sergeant-at-arms, James P. The election of Traffic Officer Edward E. Flanagan to the executive board will be appreciated by local members of the association. Mr. Flanagan is a former president of the association and a great advocate of the police and their principles. He is held in highest esteem by the association who appreciate the splendid work he has done and will continue to do for the association in which he has always shown such a lively and beneficial interest.

The purpose of the association is to bring about a better understanding between the public and the police and to disabuse the public mind of some of the thoughts entertained relative to policemen in general. Its purpose is to show to the public that the police are friends and protectors of the community and that the greatest assistance that can possibly be rendered is the co-operation of the general public in the enforcement of the law.

The Governor Present
Speakers included Governor Samuel H. May Jr., Mayor James F. Curley of Boston, former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, Penal Commissioner David B. Shaw, Dist. Atty. Joseph C. Pelletier, and others. The toastmaster was ex-Representative Alvin E. Ross of Malden.

The following speaker, David B. Shaw, said that Massachusetts should pride itself on her virtues throughout the Union. Through the Bay State, he said, had originated practically all the reforms of late years in police and institutional work she had been given no credit for her part.

"Furthermore," he continued, "while a few years ago Massachusetts was all states in regard to crimes committed in proportion to population, the condition has been reversed and there is less crime in this state than in any other in the Union."

At the afternoon session Mayor Curley spoke a welcome. President James A. Philbrick of the Metropolitan Park police branch, invited the delegates on an inspection tour of the park system of Greater Boston. The trip represented a 60 mile automobile ride and the delegates were also entertained a complimentary banquet.

The association has a membership of over 2500 and was represented by 137 delegates who were all the guests of the Metropolitan Park police. The next convention will be held in Taunton.

WINS DIVORCE FROM HER BOY OF 13 IS SIX FEET DEAF AND DUMB MATE ONE INCH TALL

MRS. WATERS, HERSELF AFFLICTED, FINDS IT HARD TO TELL COURT HOW HUSBAND ACTED
BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Judge Fox in the divorce session of the superior court yesterday experienced some difficulty in dealing with a rebel brought by Mrs. Eva Waters of Chelsea against David Waters, who formerly was a barber in Chelsea, but whose present whereabouts is unknown.

The couple married in 1911. Their accounts began when both, who are deaf and dumb, attended the Florence Mann school on Newbury street. Mrs. Waters sought a divorce for desertion on the part of her husband that had continued for more than three years.

It was hard for the judge to understand the story that Mrs. Waters desired to tell. An attempt was first made to have her answer written questions. This proved a failure, as Mrs. Waters can neither read nor write.

Finally the services of an interpreter were secured, and Mrs. Waters, convinced Judge Fox that she was entitled to a divorce, which he granted. Mrs. Waters was given the custody of her 3-year-old daughter, who is in the possession of all her faculties.

SUFFRAGISTS ATTACKED PRES. WILSON TALKS TO BY WILSON SUPPORTERS NEW CITIZENS IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—President Wilson's visit to Chicago yesterday was marked by a near riot in which about a hundred women, members of the national woman's party, were attacked, knocked down, trampled and badly used by a mob that objected to their banners advising women not to vote for President Wilson because he is against woman suffrage.

The suffragists were staging a "silent protest." They were ranged around the Congress hotel, some in automobiles and others on foot. They did not utter a word, but held up their banners.

President Wilson was seated in an automobile a few hundred feet away when the demonstration started, but passed into the building and was not a witness to the scene that followed.

As the president's automobile drew up to the hotel, an automobile loaded with women from the woman's party headquarters also drew up. They carried a huge misanthropic banner, bearing the inscription: "Women voters—Vote against President Wilson. He opposes national woman suffrage."

In the car were Mrs. Minnie E. Rourke of Chevy Chase, Md.; Mrs. A. H. Colvin of St. Paul, Minn.; and Miss Caroline Koenigstein of Philadelphia. In other autos and on foot were nearly a hundred women from Chicago and nearby cities.

Signal for Attack

A Wilson woman dashed up to the leading auto, hooked her umbrella through the banner and tore it to shreds. Other women had shouted, "Shame," and "Disgrace" at the banner bearers. This was the signal for a general attack by the Wilson women upon all banners and their bearers. The suffragists fought back as best they could, but were outnumbered 10 to one, and were vanquished.

Hair was pulled, clothing was torn. Eyes and faces were scratched and lacerations were plentiful. The women kicked, clawed and screamed at each other, then when it was all over the street cleaners gathered up a large assortment of face veils, combs, hairpins, bits of clothing, three old hairpins, a number of coins and other debris.

Riot Call Sent In

urged the women to "Get the banners" and "Smash the suffragists," both of which were done very effectively. A riot call was sent in, but the police could do little beyond rescuing the disheveled suffragists, who were sorry-looking spectacles.

The excitement continued until all the banners had been seized. With disheveled hair and soiled and torn clothing, the women marched back to their headquarters under police guard.

Charges Police Looked On

Charges that the police sympathized with the rioters and failed to protect the demonstrators were made by Mrs. Josephine Pearce and Mrs. E. L. Mattee, officials of the local woman's Republican club.

"There were all kinds of policemen standing about merely looking on, not moving a hand," said Mrs. Pearce. "Some of them didn't seem to want to help us. I saw a policeman deliberately stand nearby and laugh at us while we were being beaten and the banners torn from our hands."

"We were merely standing quiet, holding our banners and not harming anyone. Suddenly there was a regular riot. They grabbed our banners, trampled on them and knocked us down. It was terrible."

Like Attacks on Parade

Members of the Congressional union compared the scene at the demonstration with the suffrage parade in Washington the day before President Wilson was inaugurated. "The disgraceful attack upon the suffrage demonstration is similar to the attack by mobs upon the great suffrage parade. Mr. Wilson is unfortunate that he runs the risk of going out of office to the same tune by which he entered," said Mrs. A. H. Colvin, Minnesota state chairman of the Congressional union.

Miss Alice Paul, national chairman of the Congressional union, characterized it as an attack by democrats. "The violent attack by democrats upon the demonstration shows the seriousness with which they take our campaign," she said. "Evidently they feel keenly the weakness of President Wilson's suffrage position when they resort to such violence to prevent his hostility to national woman suffrage being revealed to the people of Chicago."

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—President Wilson, speaking to a new citizens' meeting here last night, declared that foreign born citizens of the United States should put their American allegiance above all others. He praised the ideals that brought new citizens to the United States, and outlined his belief that in the determination of the future of the world at the present war, America will play an important part.

During a strenuous 12 hours in Chicago, the president addressed a gathering of women as "fellow citizens," upheld the principle of the eight-hour day, and urged that progressives of all parties work for a broader America.

When the president began to address a new citizens' allegiance meeting in the stockyards pavilion last night, the audience stood and cheered for more than five minutes.

The preliminary speakers were constantly interrupted by shouts of "Wilson!"

Future Depends on Loyalty

"I come here tonight to address those who have finally sworn allegiance to the United States," said the president, "but I realize that I cannot do so without speaking to my own conscience and the conscience of the other people of the nation."

He pointed out that the new citizens had chosen their new allegiance. "Within the last few months," he added, "some distinctions have been drawn. A man or woman who becomes a citizen of the United States is not expected to give up his or her love for the country of their birth."

"But people who come to this country are expected to put their allegiance above every other allegiance. It puts an obligation on them."

"The future of this country depends on the self-control and loyalty of its citizens. Only by the consciousness of loyalty felt in every throb of the heart can you become true citizens."

Should Not Live by Selves

"A free self-governing people does not need to be watched," he declared. "Say it again," people in the crowd shouted often as he spoke of the need for loyalty.

"It is necessary that new citizens who come to this country should not live by themselves. That is important to the old country here. The strength of a nation does not lie much in its thinking as in its feeling. Outside the heart there is no life. You must see to it that you do not hold aloof."

"You must remember that the United States has a great part to play in the world. Can you imagine a nation more fitted to play a great part? A nation made up out of the world should understand the world. We are prepared to understand other nations."

May Interpret Thought of World

"I like to think that in the days to come America may interpret the thought of the world. I like to think that the only things that disturb America are not things which interfere with her ambitions, but with her sympathies."

"I like to think that when it comes to the settlement of the present war we shall be able to assist in interpreting the needs of the future."

He did not mean the United States should have any part in determining the terms of settlement. He spoke of the fact that many Americans are drawn from Germany, Ireland, England, France, Italy, Spain and many other nations.

Welcome to Great Partnership

"Let us never allow ourselves to do things against our ideals," he continued. "Let us never allow ourselves to want a single foot of foreign territory. Let us stand by the little nations that need to be steady. Let us show the world we are interested in the geography of politics. Let us show that we want no boundaries to the rights of mankind."

"I believe in you as I would have you believe in America. I have not come here to read you a lesson, but merely to bid you welcome to a great partnership."

PRESS CLUB SPEECH

Wilson Predicts the Beginning of a Renaissance of the Sense of Patriotic Responsibility

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—In his speech before the Chicago Press club the president predicted the beginning of a renaissance of the sense of patriotic responsibility and urged the development of progressiveness.

"I am particularly interested in something that we are just doing, to which you gentlemen of the press do not seem to have paid much attention. You are singularly inattentive sometimes. I mean by the appointment of those seven men whom I selected the other day to be associated with the national council of defense. They are the nerves by which the government is to reach the professions and industries which they represent, and learn how the duty of supplying the government in case of necessity can be best distributed among them so as to bring all resources to the assistance of the nation."

"I predict that this is the beginning of a renaissance in this country of the sense of patriotic responsibility and a patriotic intimacy of relationship. I believe it is going to lead to a kind of co-operation and a kind of development and a kind of enterprise in times of peace which we have never known before."

ADDRESS TO WOMEN

President Doesn't Mention Suffrage—Introduced by Mrs. Ella Flagg Young—Jane Addams in Box

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—At the meeting of women the president was introduced by Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, former superintendent of Chicago's schools who declared he had kept the United States happily at peace. Miss Jane Addams, who recently came out for him, sat in a box.

The president devoted his message to the women as follows:

"Society is now organizing its whole power in order that it may understand itself in order that it may have new organization and instrument of civilization, and I am ambitious that America should show the way in this great enterprise."

He did not touch on votes for women.

The president declared that some of the difficulties in the foreign relations of the United States have been due to the fact that other nations have not realized that this nation was disinterested. "When the nations of the world come to love America," he said, "they will obey and follow America."

Cheered in Streets

The president was cheered by throngs in the streets during his automobile rides from place to place, and in halls where he spoke. He stood constantly in his automobile while passing through the crowds, and smilingly waved his hat to the people on the streets and in the windows of buildings.

Mrs. Wilson accompanied the president. She was dressed in black and wore a large bouquet of orchids and violets.

Between his speech to the women and his night address, the president went to the western democratic campaign headquarters and for the first time witnessed the details of the machinery used in an effort to re-elect him. Afterward the president had a brief conference with Senator Walsh, and was told that "a decided swing had set in to the west for the democratic ticket."

SCHOOL TEACHERS MAY MARRY

BERLIN, Oct.—The magistracy and school board of Berlin-Schoenberg have decided that women school teachers who marry during the war shall be retained in office and receive the pay drawn by them before. It will also be endeavored to secure for them the increased pay granted from state funds for length of service. The authorities explain that "the situation created by the war makes it more and more requisite to encourage marriage."

Schoenberg's action is a step in advance of any other Prussian city. Others, including Berlin proper, permitted women teachers married to soldiers in the first days of the conflict to retain their positions, but they have not gone further. Scientific men are advising the removal of any limitation on the marriage of women teachers. Dr. Felix Theilhaber, a well-known authority on social and sociological subjects, recently directed attention to the fact that nearly 20 per cent of all women in Berlin forty years old are single, a number almost double that of a generation ago.

"A dollar or two a week will do" to clothe the family.

HUGHES AND HIS WAR LORD

Candidate Hughes says a vote for him will not mean a vote for war. Ah! Mr. Hughes is hedging on the effect of his early campaign, the speeches of Root and of Roosevelt. It is alleged that should Hughes be elected he will make Roosevelt secretary of war. Would that mean war? Well, yes, if Roosevelt had any say in the matter. He is the most dangerous man in this country today and he is at the same time the greatest campaign asset of the republican party. He is the war lord of this country, the Kaiser of the United States, so to speak. At least that's about his own opinion of himself. He caused the defeat of the republican party four years ago and now after basely betraying the progressives, he is out to show the old party that with his aid it can elect a president. All this is to prove that Theodore Roosevelt is bigger than the republican party.

Despite his abuse of Hughes the latter received the colonel with open arms and paid him every honor. Who, under such circumstances can say that should Hughes be elected Col. Roosevelt will not dictate his policies? Is it not probable that Roosevelt will get the position in the cabinet that is most to his liking? That is the office of secretary of war. With Roosevelt as secretary of war or secretary of state who could keep this nation out of war? Not Mr. Hughes; not even congress. But the people of this country do not want war unless it is forced upon them in defense of their rights, and that is why they are going to re-elect President Wilson, who has steered the ship of state through the most dangerous reefs and has compelled Germany to respect the American flag and vessels bearing American citizens on the high seas.

MR. MANSFIELD'S CAMPAIGN

Candidate Mansfield, the democratic nominee for governor, is conducting a vigorous campaign throughout the state, advocating support of the national and state tickets and democratic policies generally.

Mr. Mansfield is an able speaker and he handles Governor McCall in a manner that will undoubtedly appeal to republicans as requiring some form of defense.

He has brought to the attention of the farmers, the fact that Gov. McCall has failed to fulfill the promises made to the agricultural interests a year ago. Mr. Mansfield points out these promises seriatim and shows how the governor ignored them. He specifies the milk question in particular and has promised that if elected he will advocate legislation that will give the farmers a better price for their milk and at the same time reduce the price to the consumer. This, he conceives, will be possible by restricting the profits of the milk contractors who are largely responsible for the high price of milk.

Mr. Mansfield presented strong arguments showing that the farming interests have been ill treated on the milk question and other matters and that as a result, many farmers had to sell their cattle. This, as Mr. Mansfield proved, led to an impoverishment of the soil and the ultimate abandonment of some of the farms.

There is certainly an issue here with which Gov. McCall will have to deal in one way or another if he expects to split the agricultural vote with Mr. Mansfield. It is refreshing to have a man so sincere as Mr. Mansfield come out and tell the farmers how their interests can best be promoted.

U-53 CONTROVERSY

The allies are waiting for our government to lay down a definite policy on the admission of armed submarines to American ports, the question having been brought up by the visit of the German submarine U-53 and her subsequent sinking of certain vessels off Nantucket. The submarine was treated as would be a war vessel of any other type and there the matter has been dropped although the allies apparently want our government to bar armed submarines from such visits. In reply to their note Norway has announced that she will permit armed submarines to traverse Norwegian waters only in case of emergency and then they must remain on the surface and fly the national flag. Merchant submarines are to be allowed in Norwegian waters only in a surface position in full daylight and when flying the national colors.

The British government makes much of the U-53 entering port and getting information from newspapers which is a breach of international law relative to visits of belligerent warships to neutral ports. The question is also asked whether American commanders of destroyers acceded to the request of the German submarine commander to get out of the way so as to allow him room to blow up the captured ships.

Evidently there are many technical questions involved in this whole matter, which only complete investigation can clear up. The state department at Washington will weigh well all the facts in the case before making a final statement on the points at issue.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

The medical profession has been greatly encouraged by the reported discovery of the germ of infantile paralysis by Dr. Burrows of the Johns Hopkins university. It appears that enough has been demonstrated by the numerous autopsies to show that the germs work in the intestines. How they get there has not yet been determined, but in all probability they may be conveyed in food or drink the same as typhoid germs.

The progress made towards finding the origin of this dread disease has inspired strong hopes that further investigation will soon discover the remedy. Never have so many scientific investigations sought with such earnestness, the origin of any disease as have been brought to bear upon this mysterious malady so puzzling in its origin and its spread. Some doctors of high standing still doubt the claim that the disease is contagious, but not being able to prove this they hold to the quarantine regulations. Until such times as the medical profession can cast more light upon the disease, it is well to adopt every known precaution. If, as is alleged, the fourteen cats found paralyzed by the Humane society suffered from "poliomyelitis" or infantile paralysis, that fact should interest the medical profession as showing a possibility of spreading the germs together with an opportunity to study the peculiarities of the disease in the lower animals.

THE IRISH SITUATION

Mr. Redmond, the Irish leader, has forced the British government to show its hand on the Irish question. As the coalition ministry was formed to conduct the war and avoid all controversial issues, during the war, the refusal of the government to reopen the question was not a surprise. Lloyd George, as well as Premier Asquith, voiced the wish of the government to put the home rule act in operation provided the Irish people north and south can agree upon the application of the measure to the whole of Ireland. Judging from recent utterances among the Ulster men, unless something occurs to reopen the breach, they will soon reach the point at which they will join hands with the Nationalists for a peaceful and self-governing Ireland.

At a recent meeting in Ireland Dr. Plunket, Protestant bishop of Tuam, said:

"I feel the days coming when we can all join hands and make a nation of this country; but mark you, a united nation with such a big heart that she will be able to 'abrace men of all churches and classes north as well as south'."

If nothing further occurs to stir up the enmity of the government, the home rule act will take effect after the war, if not before. The coalition ministry will go out of power and the question of giving six counties of Ulster a referendum on the home rule act will be settled by the new parliament. The bill on the statute books will remain intact. The national party has no fear whatever of the outcome of a home rule referendum in Ulster.

POOR TRAIN SERVICE

There is considerable complaint among business men, lawyers, especially, relative to the train service on the Boston and Maine between Lowell and Boston. Several of the trains from the north are habitually late. It is that is the condition in fine weather, what will happen in case of a storm? Lawyers complain that the train scheduled to leave Lowell at 5.56 a. m. is often from fifteen to twenty minutes late. This prevents lawyers from filling early engagements in law cases. They cannot rely upon any of the trains from the north being on time. This state of affairs often causes great inconvenience and disappointment. The 3.55 train from Lowell in the afternoon is often from twenty to twenty-five minutes late. There is a train from Lowell to Boston at 3.50 p. m. on Saturdays that proves very serviceable because it leaves on time. Why not run this train on the other business days of the week? It is certainly much needed, partly because of the aggravating delays of the 3.55 train.

It would seem that the Boston and

SUPPORT THE TICKET

The local democrats should wake up to the necessity of loyally supporting all their candidates at the coming election. There seems to be a lack of the old time activity, due perhaps to the absence of any local contest of towering interest. Nevertheless, it is the duty of every democrat to be counted in support of his party ticket.

Now that His Honor, the mayor, and the superintendent of police have taken steps to prevent drunkenness in the hotels on Sunday, would it not be well to give a little closer inspection to the places not having a fourth class license, that are in the habit of dispensing pints and half pints, just before closing time on Saturday nights? Perhaps if this practice were stopped there might be less drunkenness on Sundays.

Of all the malefactors the mind can conceive, very few, if any, are more contemptible than the autoist who runs down a pedestrian and leaves him mangled, it may be dying, on the road. The police of every city should co-operate with the state highway commission in keeping these conscienceless marauders off the public highways.

It is reported from the suburbs that apples are being allowed to fall from the trees and in many cases rot upon the ground for want of men to pick them. The men who seek work on farms nowadays want from $2 to $2.50 per day and some of the farmers find it unprofitable to pay that rate of wages.

Gentlemen, it should be the business of some municipal department to see that no tree growing on private land along a public street or road will be allowed to menace those who may use that street or road. The Parker street accident is a case in point.

A woman missionary in China was taking tea with a mandarin's eight wives. The Chinese ladies examined her clothing, her hair, her teeth, and so on, but her feet especially amazed them.

"What! cried one, 'you can walk and run as well as man.'"

"Yes, to be sure," said the missionary.

"Can you ride a horse and swim, too?"

"Yes."

"Then you must be as strong as a man!"

"I am."

"And you wouldn't let a man beat you—not even if he were your husband—would you?"

"Indeed I wouldn't," the missionary said.

"Now I understand why the foreign devil never has more than one wife. He is afraid!"

MANSFIELD QUESTIONS M'CALL

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Frederick W. Mansfield, democratic candidate for governor, in rallies yesterday at Gardner, Athol and Orange, hurled battery after battery of questions at Governor McCall and demanded that he state his position on the milk question and the railroad situation.

5-Hour Law Question

"Where do you stand, Governor McCall, on the 5-hour law?" he asked. "Are you in favor of the universal 5-hour day? Are you in favor of the Adamson bill, for which your friend Joe Cannon and 59 other republicans voted? If you are not for it, are you against it? If you are against it, why are you against it?"

"Do you take the same position that Mr. Hughes does, that you are in favor of the 8-hour day but against its enforcement?"

"Before you were elected, Governor McCall, you declared in many speeches that you believed in encouraging agriculture and that necessary laws to that effect would be enacted. What have you or the republican legislature done to carry out this policy?"

Queries on Milk Problem

"You stated that an immediate settlement of the milk problem which should be just to the farmer and the consumer was necessary. What have you done to carry out this policy? You promised to deal energetically with the problem if the people elected a republican governor, and what have you done to substantiate this promise?"

"You promised to open the Boston milk market to producers and to have weekly lists published containing quotations on milk the same as other farm products. But what have you done to carry out this promise? You promised to hold conferences with the farmers and milk producers in an attempt to solve the problem so that the farmers would get more money for their product and the consumer would have to pay less. What have you done to keep this promise?"

Claim Promises Unkept

"You promised that the republican legislature would grapple with the problem of what became of the excess being paid for milk by the consumers over what the farmer receives. What have you done to keep that promise?"

"I charge that you even refused to send messages to the legislature when you were asked to do so by those representing the best interests of the farmer and milk producer of the state. But not one of these pre-election promises was kept."

FILM BARRED IN MILFORD

MILFORD, Oct. 20.—The selection have refused to sanction the production here of the film "Where Are My Children?" Dr. Thomas J. Nugent, the chairman, said its production here would neither give wholesome entertainment nor serve any good moral purpose. The production was announced for Milford on Oct. 20-21.

MAYORSUGGESTS SUNDAY RULES FOR HOTELS

A conference having to do with the sale of liquor in local hotels on Sunday was held in the mayor's reception room at city hall yesterday afternoon. Present at the conference were 11 license commissioners Charles H. Han-

HON. JAMES E. O'DONNELL,

son, Thomas P. Boulger and George E. Putnam and Supt. of Police Redmond Welch. Various opinions were offered and suggestions by the mayor as to the form of procedure were finally agreed upon and these suggestions will be given the hotel keepers in the form of demands at a meeting to be held in the rooms of the license commission in the Market street building this evening.

The hotel men will be told that the sandwich must no longer serve as an excuse for Sunday liquor selling, and the burden of proof shall be put upon the licensed liquor dealers. The superintendent of police will be instructed to report to the license commission every week the number of persons served in hotels with liquor on Sundays and the hours at which such serving is made.

Another suggestion was that if a man calls for a sandwich, and with it a bottle of beer, or other liquor, and the proprietor is satisfied that he is a legitimate guest—that he has resorted to the hotel for food—then the proprietor will be justified in serving him the liquor with his food, but the proprietor is not to serve freely with liquors of any sort simply because he has ordered one sandwich.

Sandwich As Subterfuge

The mayor suggested that while the supreme court may have decided in one particular case that a sandwich constitutes a meal, that should not justify any hotel keeper in serving liquor, and that the licensing board be not governed by any such ruling, and if the members of that board are satisfied from the general conditions that the serving of a sandwich is a mere subterfuge for the sale of liquor, then the licensing board shall cancel the license where such conditions obtain.

Extra Rooms and Help

Another suggestion was to the effect that no extra room, or rooms, be used on Sunday for the serving of food and liquor than on any other day during the week, and that a large number of extra employees about the premises on Sunday will be taken as an indication that the hotel proprietor who hires them is preparing for more business than is usual. It was suggested that if the proprietors of the hotels will give more personal attention to the conduct of their establishments, so that the excuse frequently offered that their employees had received instructions which were not carried out, cannot be made, then the hotels will be run far better than they are at present, and a stricter observance of the law, he felt, will follow observance of these conditions.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH CHARGES NEW DIVISION

WITH ENFORCEMENT OF LAWS RELATING TO FOOD AND DRUGS—
OTHER LAWS ENFORCED

The division of food and drugs is one of the new divisions of the state department of health and was created by the commissioner of health from several entities which were in existence under the state board of health. These entities were the food and drug laboratory force, the food and drug inspectors and the department of cold storage, slaughtering and dairy inspection. The chief analyst, in charge of the food and drug laboratory, was made the director of the new division.

In an article appearing in the state department of health bulletin for September, Herman C. Lythgoe, division director, explains the work of the division, as follows:

The division is charged with the enforcement of the laws relating to food and drugs. About 2,000 samples are examined per annum, the analyses of which are all made in the laboratory of the division. Of these samples 900 are milk, 1200 foods other than milk, 900 drugs, 500 are samples taken from cold storage, 300 are samples of poison submitted by police authorities, and 100 are liquors submitted by police. The division enforces the general and specific laws relating to the adulteration of milk, the adulteration of food and the adulteration of drugs. It also enforces the general and special laws relating to the cold storage of food, and a portion of the laws relating to slaughtering.

In the enforcement of the above laws we have absolute control of the machinery of enforcement up to the time the case reaches the courts. In addition to enforcing the above laws the division does a large amount of work over which it has but partial control. It is required to make examinations of liquor for police authorities, to examine paints, oils and turpentine for the Massachusetts district police, to examine poisons for police authorities, and liquor for local boards of health. In all but the latter instance, however, we must have the assurance that the authority submitting the sample intends to use the analysis in the enforcement of law. After these analyses are made a certificate is prepared, which is prima facie evidence in court of the quality of the article examined. The greater part of the work of the division is entirely separate from other divisions in the department, and from other authorities throughout the state, but in a few instances we come in contact with local boards of health. These instances are as follows:

Inspectors of Slaughtering

The statutes require that local boards of health must annually in March nominate one or more inspectors of slaughtering. These nominees cannot be appointed until they have been approved by the state department of health. In general these nominees are approved, but occasionally the department finds it necessary to make disapprovals. Nominees are disapproved for the following reasons:

1. Members of local boards of health are disapproved on account of being from three attorneys generals that it is illegal for persons to appoint themselves to office.
2. Persons engaged in the business of slaughtering are disapproved because it is not expected that any person can give an unbiased opinion of his own work.
3. Persons convicted for violation of the slaughtering laws are invariably disapproved. The reason is obvious.
4. Persons who, in our opinion, have violated the slaughtering laws, and against whom insufficient evidence can be secured to warrant conviction in our courts.

Unless you are well advanced in years your hand should be steady. If you hand, your thumb or foot trembles when you try to hold it still, if the lines are shaky when you write, if you have tremors of your lips or chin, your nerves need strengthening.

These signs often precede a serious nervous breakdown. In meeting this condition it is necessary to exercise care in the diet and take a nerve tonic. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain ingredients that build up the nerve at the same time that they tone up the system in general and their value in preventing nervous disorders from developing cannot be disputed.

They are especially recommended for nervous, run-down people because they are a non-alcoholic tonic.

If you have a nervous troubles write today to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for their little book on nervous disorders. It gives methods of home treatment and directions regarding hygiene that every one should have. A diet book will also be sent free on request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by your own druggist or will be sent direct by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

court, are, as a rule, disapproved if the evidence is in our opinion sufficiently circumstantial to warrant the action.

5. Incompetent persons are disapproved.

It is a difficult matter to pass upon about 500 nominees for these various positions throughout the state between the time the nominations are received and the first day of April. Inspectors of slaughtering are expected to submit reports upon the work performed by them while holding office. Blanks are sent to each inspector upon the first day of January, April, July and October, asking for the number of cattle, calves, sheep and hogs inspected, the number confiscated, the reasons for confiscation and the disposition of the confiscated carcasses. These reports make very interesting statistical studies, and we are now attempting to apply the theory of probability to the returns in order to ascertain the efficiency of the inspector and to assist us in picking out localities which need the attention of our own veterinary inspectors.

Revocation of Milk Licenses

The law provides that cities shall and towns may appoint inspectors of milk who have certain statutory duties to perform. Local milk inspectors may grant licenses for the sale of milk within their respective cities and towns. If a local inspector refuses or revokes a license the dealer whose license has been refused or revoked has an appeal to the state department of health, whose decision shall be final and conclusive. These appeals, of course, must be heard according to the rules of evidence, and the local inspector must be able to prove his case beyond a reasonable doubt. Many local boards expect the state department to assist in the collection of evidence in these cases, not thinking that in this capacity the department acts as a judicial board, and the collection of evidence at once makes it a prejudiced department. This is no part of the work of a judicial tribunal.

Revocation of Milk Permits

The statutes require that all local boards of health shall inspect the dairies where the milk is produced for sale within their cities or towns, and if satisfactory must grant a permit to the owner. The permit is required to inspect the milk as well as the premises upon which the milk is produced and handled. These permits must be given to the dealer as well as to the producer. The board of health is to say what shall constitute a satisfactory inspection of the milk or of the dairy; therefore, each board makes its own standards upon which these inspections are to be judged. These permits are good until revoked, and are, therefore, different from licenses, which are good for one year only.

Examination of Liquors, Etc.

In 1915, through the influence of certain temperance organizations, the legislature passed an unnecessary law requiring the state department of health, at the request of local boards of health, to make analyses of liquor for poisonous drugs or other substances dangerous to health. The law was passed despite the fact that the secretary of the organization asking for legislation and the legislative committee hearing the evidence were informed that all liquor contains poisons and other substances injurious to health, the most prevalent one being the high toxic substance known as "alcohol." Another sickening and needless "reform" is always present in distinguishable quantities in high grade straight distilled liquors and blends and compounds to a much less extent than in straight liquors.

On account of the peculiar wording of the law it is necessary for the state department of health to do a large amount of making analyses of samples of liquor submitted by local boards of health. After these analyses are made we report that the sample has been examined and found to contain certain poisonous substances which are always present in distilled liquor.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Today and tomorrow are the last chances for the theatregoers of this city and the surrounding cities and towns to see the great comedy drama, "The Birth of a Nation," which is being played by the Emerson Players at the Opera House to crowded houses. It is one of the biggest successes offered in the many years and so great is the demand for seats for the remaining performances that reservations will be held until 1.30 and 7.15 o'clock only. Seats can be reserved by phoning 251. Jean Miller, the popular leading man of the Emerson Players, is scoring a big hit by his clever portrayal of Jimmie, and Inez Hagan gives a charming characterization of Kitty Blake. James H. Ross, Vincent, Gertrude Shirley, Rosa Morrison, Gladys McLeod, David Baker, James T. Galloway, Ernest East, Frank Wright, Ben Hadfield and other members of the company are fine characters, and a superb scenic production is offered with all new and special effects.

Sunday afternoon and night another splendid program of vaudeville and musical comedy will be offered with five big acts and the newest releases in photoplays. An act that is certain to score a tremendous hit is the Three Johns in a classy staging and piano offering. This is one of vaudeville's biggest headlines and it will be surrounded by an excellent bill. The matinee starts at 2.15 and the evening performance at 7.30. Seats are selling at 10, 15 and 25 cents, and can be secured in advance.

Next week, starting with a special hon-ton matinee on Monday, the Emerson Players will offer that superb dramatic success, "The Hawk," which has scored a year in Paris, a year in New York, a year in Chicago, four months in packed houses at the Majestic theatre in Boston, and in all other big cities for long runs. This is the first production of "The Hawk" by any stock company in the country, having been secured by special arrangement with William Faversham, who has starred in the play in all the big cities and who again will tour the country in this play at two dollar prices.

Another big feature of next week's attraction at the Opera House will be the first appearance of Miss Harriette Duke, the Broadway favorite and popular stock star, who will be seen in the leading role with Ivan Miller. Miss Duke is pretty, possesses a beautiful voice and is one of the most talented young artists on the American stage. She has appeared in many of Broadway's latest attractions and has also been connected with America's best stock companies. That she will give one of the highest favors that Lowell has ever known is certain.

Seats should be secured early for next week's attraction as it is positively limited to one act and in ordering seats patrons should arrange to see the play as early in the week as possible. Reservations can be made by phoning 251. The box office is open daily from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m.

D. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Jingling music, pretty girls, natty dresses and spontaneous comedy are the four big points of the "Girlish Revue," in which Bobby West and his six attractive assistants appear at the D. F. Keith theatre, this week. Keith is a polished comedian and singer, as well as being a copartner of popular comedy. In fact all of the numbers given during the act are his. While this is the top notch combination, the artistic dancing of Elizabeth Frank-Hooper and Herbert Marbury is greatly enjoyed. No more pretentious dancing act has been given here this year than the one these two thoroughly trained strollers gave. Frank-Hooper and Buncie Wyde, in "That's All Right," offer entertainment which consists of smart repartee, singing and dancing. This is a pair who are a delight to the metropolitan audiences. Gittner, Taylor & McCall are more than ordinarily good, and the Better Brothers are wonders with their acrobatic, gymnastic work. Bolger Brothers, Harlanettes, Gene and Delta Muller, acrobatic hoopers, and the final chapter of "Gloria's Romance," are the other attractions of the bill. Good seats for the remaining performances of the week may be obtained in advance at the box office. The telephone number is 28.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The days of the engagement of D. W. Griffith's "The Birth of a Nation" at the Merrimack Square theatre are fast passing by; only today and tomorrow are left on which to view this stupendous spectacle which shows in pictorial form facts which were never learned in school about American history when studying about the Civil War and its terrible aftermath. How many every were taught in school that attempts were made to treat the conquered south as conquered provinces and to hang the rebel leaders at the hands of the colored regime and carpet-baggers than from the war itself; that it was the Ku Klux Klan which once more restored order to the southern states? These are facts which are not universally known, yet they are true. It is because these and other incidents just as important in the history of this country are shown in "The Birth of a Nation" and shown in a manner that will insure perpetuity in memory of them that this great play has become an educational force and therefore should be seen by every school child as well as grown-ups. This play will be presented at the Merrimack Square theatre today and tomorrow, at 2 and 7 o'clock. Admission reduced from $2 to 15c and 25c; no seats reserved.

OWLE THEATRE

Charles J. Ross, known to fame as the head of the team of Ross and Fenton, one of the greatest combinations in the history of vaudeville, has the star part in "The Senator," the latest Equitable vaudeville hit, now presented at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow.

The story of "The Senator" is a wonderful presentation of official and social life in Washington. It is an illustration from the famous stage success of the same name. The plot, however, far exceeds the stage version in realism and strength. Intrigue, ambition, love, revenge and romance and the hidden but not the less powerful motives which move the currents of life in the nation's capital, are interwoven in this heart-stirring photodrama. The play deals with a statesman, and the manner in which he carries a bill through the tortuous channels which lead to its passage, foils the machinations of a social and political parasite who tries to wreck the lives of two trusting women, and finally how he wins not only the bill but also the fair girl who will be the chief beneficiary by its passage, forms a screen drama which will appeal to all the finer instincts of human nature. A new episode in the gripping serial "Fantomas," the story of the exploits of France's greatest criminal, will also be presented.

ROYAL THEATRE

All Stagh and his yellow hordes are still inspiring terror by their frenzied acts in the eighth episode of the great serial "The Yellow Menace," which stars Edw. Stevens in the powerful picturization of All Stagh, the yellow fanatic, whose dreams of empire over the whites of all nations, are causing the most intense horror and fear in the picture. The play is a wonderfully realistic melodrama, and is produced and acted with the best talent that could have been secured. The eighth episode is one of the up-to-date and thrilling features of the Royal show today and tomorrow, and besides it is shown the eighth episode of "Liberty," the Universal Preparedness serial. The story of the capture of the Walcamp is a captivating heroine in "Liberty" and she has to do many daring and sensational stunts which she does in perfect style in every episode. Jack Holt, the soldier lover and Eddie Polo in a character part, are well suited to their respective parts. Among the many other short reels is a Ham and Egg comedy, and comedies filmed by Kullum are really funny, and are well worth while seeing. A big Sunday show next Lord's day, and Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne will be seen in "The House of Choice" next Monday and Tuesday.

BRYAN PRAISES WILSON'S HANDLING OF AFFAIRS

FORMER SECRETARY URGES RE-ELECTION OF PRESIDENT IN KENTUCKY

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ky., Oct. 20.—William Jennings Bryan, in addresses here yesterday afternoon and several other Kentucky towns during the day, in behalf of President Wilson, praised his handling of the country's affairs and urged his re-election. Referring to the campaign methods of the republican party, he attacked them as being those of "futile criticism."

SKIDS IN LEONISTER

Starkey Auto Hits Down a Fence at a Point Where the Police Say Is Used as a Speedway

LEONISTER, Oct. 20.—A touring car, No. 2242, credited to Charles Starkey, Maple place, Foxboro, skidded yesterday at Divils corner, tipped down six sections of a guard rail of the street and landed backward in a field against a stone wall. Two wheels were demolished, a mudguard was doubled up and other damage done to the machine, but neither Starkey nor his male companion were injured.

It is in the same part of Cental street where Rachel Hart was thrown from a car last Friday night and severely hurt and a short distance from where Elizabeth M. King of Worcester received fatal injuries the day following. It is a state road and the police declare many motorists use the strip as a speedway.

THE MEXICAN SITUATION

An interesting talk on the Mexican situation was given before a number of young men and women in the F.M.C.A. building last evening by Geo. Young, an official of a Mexican mine who is visiting in this city. In referring to the causes of the revolution, Mr. Young said: "The Americans were free before they were independent. They knew something of government, had something to say in local affairs, and were prepared for self-government. The Mexican people up to the time they attained independence, were practically slaves to Spain. They had absolutely no opportunity to exercise self government in the slightest degree, and were not therefore prepared for self government. Since obtaining their independence they have continued to be exploited."

"TIT"

This seems to be a most popular word recently, and it is all about the big dance test they are going to have at Associate hall tonight. Everything is in readiness; the "champs" will be there on exhibition and for their own enjoyment as well; the Honey Boy Quartet has a good repertoire of vocal entertainment; and all is supported by the music of Miner's and Doyle's orchestra for the dancing. Someone was heard to say, "All the basketball fans and the dance fans will be there, will you? The answer was, "Nuf sed."

MR. AND MRS JOSEPH H. CHOATE

Fifty-five years ago Joseph H. Choate, famous lawyer and diplomat, married Miss Caroline Dutcher Sterling of Cleveland, O. Aside from a few congratulatory telegrams from relatives no special observance marked the anniversary, which was observed by Mr. and Mrs. Choate in their home at Stockbridge, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Choate are in excellent health and are out every day in their automobile. They expect to remain in Stockbridge until at Nov. 10. Mr. Choate will be eighty-five years old on Jan. 24 next. He was admitted to the New York bar in 1852. The mutual devotion of Mr. and Mrs. Choate is noted among the friends of the aged couple. Yesterday at a dinner Mr. Choate was asked, "Who would you like to be, Mr. Choate, if you were not Joseph H. Choate?" He replied, "Mrs. Choate, my second husband."

ANOTHER HOOST IN FLOUR
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 19. The prices of best grades of flour rose again today. Fancy patents which rose 20 cents yesterday and sold at $9.10 a barrel were quoted at $9.25 today. The increase in prices was due to a strong foreign demand and the bullish condition of the wheat market, millers declared.

PRICE ONE CENT

GREAT BRITAIN PAYS U. S. $10,000,000 A DAY

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Reginald McKenna, chancellor of the exchequer, replying in the house of commons yesterday to criticisms of the high rate of interest payable on the new treasury bonds and the objection raised that this would lead to their being largely held abroad, said:

"That is the very thing we desire. It must be remembered that we have to pay a very considerable amount day by day in the United States. At present we have to find £2,000,000 (nearly $10,000,000) a day for every working day. That means a prodigious amount to find every six days."

Mr. McKenna prefaced his statement regarding the large amounts being spent in America by a defense of his action in paying a high rate of interest upon treasury bonds.

"It is not possible," he said, "to apply pro-war standards and to say that 5 per cent is enough, or that we could get it more cheaply. Very likely it could be done if we only wanted a little or even the equivalent of the greatest sum ever raised before the war."

"It should be remembered, however, we have to raise a sum about once a month and it is only possible to find it by the sale of government securities, the results of borrowings and payments whether we are successful in meeting our obligations. In order to meet all expenses and to keep our undertakings with our allies, I have to make sure of getting money."

McKenna proceeded to explain that unless Great Britain was able to raise the needed money in the United States she would have to go short of supplies from there which were absolutely essential to the purposes of the allies.

Defending the issue of the 5 per cent bonds, the chancellor mentioned the fact that within a fortnight these treasury bonds had been sold to the extent of £35,000,000 (nearly $175,000,000). He added that the present moment of competition for money was unfavorable to the issue of a long term loan, but the government intended to resort to such a loan when the treasury considered it advisable, and the government would not shrink from the fulfillment of its promise in regard to the conversion of previous loans.

The chancellor declared he did not doubt the ability of the empire to bear the strain of the war. Its expenditure was not diminishing, he stated, there being an advance under the two heads of munitions and advances to Great Britain's allies, but in both of these avenues.

directions he was confident the country would not grudge the needful supplies.

The British government has for some time been spending $25,000,000 a day, according to statements by Premier Asquith and Mr. McKenna in the house of commons, most of this, of course, being due to the war. The chancellor's statement quoted above shows that Britain is spending nearly half of that vast sum daily in the United States for food and war supplies.

GIANT POLICE OFFICER HAS PARALYSIS

FIVE NEW CASES OF PLAGUE IN QUINCY—THREE IN ONE FAMILY

QUINCY, Oct. 20.—Five new cases of infantile paralysis, one of the victims being a policeman, were reported to the board of health yesterday. The officer is Night Patrolman Jeremiah J. Dineen, the biggest man on the local force, and a giant in strength.

He had been feeling slightly indisposed for a few days, and when he began to lose the use of his hands he called in Dr. John H. Ash. Dr. Ash found definite symptoms of infantile paralysis, and that both arms were affected.

Officer Dineen stands several inches over 6 feet, and has parolled the Adams street beat at night. He was manager of the police department baseball team for several seasons, and is one of the most popular officers in the department.

Three cases were reported from one family by Dr. William J. McCausland. The victims are: Willard Erickson, 3 years old; Walter Erickson, 18 months old; and Evelyn Erickson, 8 months old, living at 56 Verchid street. Physicians are at a loss to account for these children getting the disease, as all three have been kept at home every day, and have not had any child visitors.

The fifth case is that of William Hallister, 4 years old, of 121 Kendrick street, who has also been kept at home.

GEORGE O'MEARA ELECTED A.O.H. PRESIDENT

An interesting meeting of the members of Divs. 1 and 2 of the A.O.H., which were recently amalgamated into one division was held last evening in A.O.H. hall and a feature of the evening was the election of officers of the new body. The meeting was largely attended and considerable business was transacted.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

GEORGE P. O'MEARA

George O'Meara, president; J. Joseph McOsker, vice president; Michael Casey, recording secretary; J. A. Sheehan, financial secretary; Thos. Sheedy, treasurer. The new division will be known hereafter as Division 1 and an effort will be made by the members to double if possible its membership and to that purpose a committee of five was appointed to arrange for a large class initiation on the second Sunday in November. A committee of ten was also appointed to make arrangements for the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the division, which will take place next February.

JUVENILE COURT TOO EASY SAYS GRANT

BOSTON POLICE CAPTAIN COMPLAINS OF INCREASE OF YOUTHFUL MISDEMEANORS

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Failure to inflict punishment on the great majority of offenders who are taken into the juvenile court is held by Captain Robert E. Grant of the City Point police to be the reason for the rapid increase of youthful misdemeanors in his district.

Getting Beyond Control

This pessimistic view was expressed by Captain Grant to a reporter yesterday, when the case of Romeo Santelli, son of Antoine Santelli, 699 East Third street, South Boston, charged with the larceny of $81 from his father, was continued for a week. The father had refused to give a dime to the lad, who therefore took the paternal pocketbook from under a pillow and made off with it. When the continuance of the case was announced, Captain Grant said:

"That's probably the last we will hear of it, and in this case I probably will be all right. I suppose. But I'll have to confess that, as a result of juvenile court leniency, the spirit of lawbreaking in this district is beginning to get beyond police control. I am especially in favor of giving every chance to boys who have been, as long as no undue advantage is taken of court leniency. But during the last ten months we have taken into the juvenile court more than 150 boys. Some of these were charged with throwing missiles, some with having broken windows and inflicted property damage. A large number were arrested for other offenses, which included almost everything except murder. Only one was fined for throwing missiles. All the others, arrested on various charges, have had their cases filled or were placed on probation."

"I am telling you this to show how the juvenile criminal art works in our division."

WILSON AND BRYAN MEET AND SHAKE HANDS AT PITTSBURG

GERMAN VICTORIES
IN EAST AND WEST
REPORTS BERLIN

WILL TAKE OFFICERS FROM THE HOTELS
ON SUNDAY

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 20.—President Wilson and W. J. Bryan, former secretary of state, met today for the first time in months. The president stopped in Pittsburgh for an hour and a half on the way from Chicago to Long Branch and Mr. Bryan came here on the way to speak in the district of representative W. W. Bailey, of Youngstown, Pa.

As soon as they arrived at the station the former secretary of state entered Mr. Wilson's private car and the two men shook hands. A large crowd outside the car witnessed the greeting. The men spoke together only for a moment or two and then left the car.

The appearance of Mr. Bryan caused a five minute delay in an automobile tour of Pittsburgh, arranged for the president. Automobiles for the president's party were waiting outside the station and President and Mrs. Wilson immediately entered one of them. Mr. Bryan had been held back by the crowd.

Seeing that Mr. Bryan had not been taken care of Secretary Tammity stopped the short automobile parade just as it was getting under way. He ran forward and talked briefly with the president and then ran back and talked with Mr. Bryan. The former secretary of state said he preferred not to disarrange the plans, and he and Secretary Tammity got in another automobile together.

The president and the other members of his party, including Mr. Bryan, then left on an hour and a half ride through the parks and the downtown section of Pittsburgh.

When the president and Mr. Bryan met, each smiled broadly as they shook hands. Mr. Bryan said he would ride on the president's train for a short distance in order to get into Mr. Bailey's congressional district.

Before coming to Pittsburgh the president shook hands with a large crowd at Alliance, O. Several other brief stops between here and Harrisburg were on the schedule.

During the automobile ride in this city, the president was greeted at several places by school children waving American flags.

Mr. Bryan returned to the president's train a few minutes before Mr. Wilson. "Where is Mr. Bryan?" asked the president when he arrived. The two sat and talked in the president's private car.

Man Arrested

On the ride about the city the president lost his hat and the automobile was stopped while a secret service man recovered it. A man, apparently a workman with a bag of tools, jumped on the running board of the automobile, but was knocked off by a secret service man. The man chased the president's conveyance for a block before he was arrested by local detectives.

The prisoner gave the name of Richard Collier, aged 22, a machinist of this city. On his way to the police station he told the police that he was not at all satisfied with President Wilson's conduct of the European war. In the bag he carried a knife with a blade five inches long and a bottle of liquid the police are having analyzed. Also in the bag were several wood chips.

The prisoner is held for observation.

Mr. Bryan, who has been making speeches in support of President Wilson's re-election, said Mr. Wilson was gaining strength constantly. During the automobile ride he and Secretary Tammity discussed political conditions at length.

President Wilson is due to arrive at Shadow Lawn at midnight.

Tomorrow Mr. Wilson will deliver a "punch speech" at Shadow Lawn to a delegation of farmers from nearby states. It will be directed to the farmers of the country because of the feeling of the president that they will play an important part in the election.

Speaking this morning on the subject of those who conduct the hotels, I feel confident that when these instructions on the matter of stationing officers in the hotels on Sunday, necessary to post officers in the hotels, if, however, conditions do not improve and if we find it necessary to place them back, they will be so placed."

Jones, with seven other men had reached the bottom of the shaft, where canary birds were released to test the air. All the birds were almost immediately killed and Jones, who had been entombed by an explosion, also fell. One by one his companions, advancing to his rescue were overcome. When they did not return to the surface another party entered the mine and brought them out. All recovered except Jones. The bodies of four of the victims of yesterday's explosion were recovered today.

EVANGELINE BOOTH IS ILL WITH NEURITIS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Authorization was given today by Lieut. Col. Souder, chief of the aviation section of the army signal corps, for the complete equipment of two additional aero squadrons for the regular army. When the material, costing about $800,000 for each squadron, has been delivered at San Antonio, Tex., the regular army flying service will have been tripled.

Orders for enlistment of 3391 men for the new squadrons have gone out and selection of officers is being considered.

The aviation service has ordered more than 200 aeroplanes of various types within the last two weeks and a board of officers is now examining bids. Officers are concerned over the fact that the industry appears to be swamped by army requirements. The quickest delivery that can be obtained apparently is sixty days for the first machines.

That the detective department of the Boston & Maine railroad has started a crusade against freight jumpers, track walkers and other trespassers upon the railroad property, was evidenced by the presence of 10 boys, eight of whom were juveniles, before Judge Enright in police court this forenoon. Judge Enright showed that he intends to do his part to keep the youths from the tracks by imposing a $20 fine in each case.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

It is just quarter of a century since the citizens of Massachusetts voted to amend the constitution of the state abolishing the payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting. Before that time voters a man had paid his poll tax he could not be registered to vote the following year. Massachusetts was one of the last states to abolish this feature of its constitution. The old Sun commented editorially on the change as follows: "The poll tax amendment is carried by a large majority, but it is to be thanked for it for another month and not the dollar will vote. The passage of the amendment will tend to minimize political corruption. No citizen hereafter will be deprived of the suffrage merely for the nonpayment of the poll tax and the collection and assessment necessarily made to pay poll taxes in lieu of votes will be no longer necessary. No man will hereafter be disfranchised in this commonwealth for being poor. This will make the poorer class of citizens more independent, it will increase their own interest in their country and more respect for the law. The payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting was a source of the foundation of long ago. Massachusetts can now boast of having an absolutely free ballot."

File Made His Point
Yesterday's newspaper is contained a challenge to a joint debate from Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, democratic candidate for United States senator to his republican opponent, Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, and the announcement recalls the interesting facts that 25 years ago Hon. John F. Fitzgerald made his first appearance in politics as a successful candidate for the Boston common council while 25 years ago, also, a feature of the Russell-Allyn gubernatorial campaign was a great joint debate between the Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge and Hon. John E. Russell, of Leicester, the latter then one of the foremost democrats in the country. Of the Russell-Lodge joint debate the old Sun said: "The joint debate in Boston, last evening, between Hon. John E. Russell and Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge was listened to by 4000 persons and many thousands were unable to obtain admission, the crowds coming from all over the state to hear the distinguished debaters. Mr. Russell ably sustained the brilliant character of Governor Russell's administration and those who expected to see the republican policy vindicated were disappointed. The charges made by Lodge against the governor were mostly insignificant and unfair and were proved such by Mr. Russell."

tor Lodge and ex-Mayor Fitzgerald would be worth going miles to hear.

Alex. Ray on The Stamp

Says the old Sun: "Secretary Alex. Ray of the Central Labor Union has been asked to go on the stump by the democrats to contrast the labor records of the two gubernatorial candidates."

And Alex was right there on the stump and with the goods, though in more recent years he jumped the fence and lined up with the G.O.P.

But speaking of joint debates do you remember the old time outings of the Caledonian club at Belle Grove when Alex. Ray, Peter Caddell and John Gantt, the Centralville baker, would have a tilt.

"And for bono Annie Laurie I'd lay me down and die," sang John Grant, in his contra tenor voice.

"Nay, Jack, you're wrong me lad," quoth Alex. Ray. "You should pronounce it 'bunny Annie Laurie,' not bono lad."

"Ye both talk like a couple of wild men," says Peter Caddell, "the correct pronunciation is 'bounie Annie Laurie, the lass was here bonie nor bunny, but bonny. Old Bobbie Burns would turn F his grave if he heard yer."

An' dinna ye remember the year that the club had its outing on the V.M.C.A. oval on First Street and when the good Christians discovered that snugly hidden under the tent was—well, a wee drop, that's all, what a holler they made! Those were the happy days!

Start of Lowell General Hospital

The beginning of the present Lowell General Hospital was announced in The Sun of quarter of a century ago as follows:

"A meeting of the Lowell Hospital corporation was held Thursday evening at the board of trade rooms. A large gathering was present and the deeds of the Fay estate were turned over to the corporation. Hon. Charles D. Palmer on behalf of the corporation accepted the deeds from the donor, Mr. Fellows and expressed for the corporation their deep appreciation of their gift. In a letter conveying the deeds and setting forth the conditions on which the building is given, Mr. Fellows said that the understanding was that the corporation was to raise by subscription twice the value of the Fay estate. The other stipulations were contained in the following portions of the letter:

"It goes proper for me to stipulate that the property thus donated (being now free) shall at no time be encumbered by any debt created by the board of trustees, and that the building shall be kept well insured. It is also my desire that you and your successors shall constantly keep at least one woman on the staff of attending physicians and that in recognition of this gift you shall exercise from said staff any physician who habitually prescribes alcoholic medicines, believing as I do that their use is unwise, unscientific and therefore to be discouraged."

"That this hospital may be speedily placed in operation and prove an enduring blessing for the relief of human suffering is my most earnest desire."

"Several gentlemen delivered addresses, among them being Dr. Pillsbury, Rev. Dr. Greene, Mr. Fellows and Rev. Dr. Chamberlain."

The original Fay estate with which the hospital was opened is now but a small part of the institution for as the hospital proved to be an "enduring blessing" to humanity along came an "enduring blessing" to the hospital, in the person of Frederick Fanning Ayer, through whose generosity the institution has been greatly enlarged and improved in recent years.

The Currier System

Says the Sun of quarter of a century ago:

"The precinct officers of Watertown adopted a system of counting ballots at Tuesday's election which they claim was original, but which was substantially the Currier system, invented by J. B. Currier of Lowell, although the Currier system has several advantages over it. By the Watertown system only 25 ballots are adjusted to be counted at one time, but the Currier system averages 50 ballots, a much better number to verify by addition. The Currier system has a clamp to keep the ballots in place, an improvement which the Watertown officials said would be a desirable one." Mr. J. B. Currier for many years was one of Lowell's leading undertakers with a place of business in Prescott street. He was also an inventive genius as his system for counting ballots which was adopted throughout the state would prove. He had numerous smaller inventions which he never placed on the market. The Currier system is still in use on election day, but since the coming of the blanket ballot in the primaries it has been impossible to use it at the caucuses.

WOMAN HAD NERVOUS TROUBLE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her.

West Danby, N. Y.—"I have had nervous trouble all my life until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nerves and for female troubles and it straightened me out in good shape. I work nearly all the time, as we live on a farm and I have four girls. I do all my sewing and other work with their help, so it shows that I stand it real well. I took the Compound when my ten year old daughter came and it helped me a lot. I have also had my oldest girl take it and it did her lots of good. I keep it in the house all the time and recommend it."

MOST EFFECTIVE REMEDY MOTHER HAD EVER USED

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Relieves Baby When Other Medicines Failed

There is nothing so necessary to a child's health and comfort as regularity of the bowels. All children are especially susceptible to stomach trouble and any overstrain of the sensitive organs has a tendency to obstruct elimination. This condition is responsible for much of the illness of children.

To relieve constipation a mild laxative should be resorted to. Cathartics and purgatives are violent in their action and should be avoided. Mrs. Alfred Du Bois, Mt. Holly, N. J., says Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is without doubt the most effective remedy for constipation she has ever used and that it is the only remedy she could find for her baby. Little Earl was so fully constipated during his first year and nothing she tried seemed to help him until she got a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Now he is a fine, strong, healthy boy, and she thanks Dr. Caldwell for it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, free from opiates or mercury, and is easily absorbed and out of danger of either overstimulation or injury to children because of its pleasant taste. Druggists everywhere sell it for fifty cents a bottle, and every mother should have it in the house for use whenever occasion arises.

To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes always be sure to ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, P.O. Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

WILLIAMS TELLS WHAT FEDERAL RESERVE LAW HAS DONE FOR FARMER

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 20.—John Skelton Williams, comptroller of the currency, speaking here today before the Farmers' National congress, described the relation of the federal reserve law to the farmer and closed with a personal statement brought out by President Wilson's recent allusion to attacks on the comptroller. "I see that our president, in an address at the University of Chicago, said the comptroller tells the country that the bankers, or certain bankers, or some special interests are after my official scalp because I, as the comptroller of the currency, have enforced the law. This is no surprise to me."

"I know that I have been held up as a kind of ogre, a raw head and bloody bones, a terror to the bankers and financial interests of the country. Maybe the best answer to that may be found in the records and indisputable facts, that the national banks of the country today are stronger and in better condition than ever before, that they are more numerous than when I became comptroller, are more prosperous and show a smaller proportion of failures and losses than was ever known in their history; and my office is receiving a steady stream of applications for charters for new national banks and for permission to increase the capital of the existing banks. "My official scalp is not especially dear to me. My business is to administer the law and the law is just what it is. I have had a somewhat stormy time and have been an uncomfortable prominent target. But I have always kept in mind words spoken by Patrick Henry in my own town, 41 years ago—'Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God!'"

Mr. Williams said the new federal reserve law "will forbid the grasping from using for their own advantage the necessities of their neighbors," and that it puts the farmer on the same plane as the business man. "The farmer," he said, "is enabled to borrow according to his industry and commercial standing because his banks know how and where to get the money. It will not be possible to have the money supply locked in the great centers for speculation or gambling purposes while the real producers and legitimate productive enterprise are pinched or denied, perhaps just at the time of their most important need."

Cries of "back to the farm," he said, were futile without promise of comfort and happiness and prospect. "Put money, or opportunity to earn it," he said, "on the farm and the people will go to them fast enough and stay with them. This is precisely what the federal reserve system is doing in large measure, and we hope the rural credits system will do in even larger measure." He told of the decentralization of huge accumulations of money from the few great centers and its transfer to the federal reserve banks—twelve reservoirs from which pipe lines already run to nearly 8000 banks, available to every reliable farmer, storekeeper or business man. "God Almighty alone," he said, "knows how many strong men have had strength, hope and power sapped by unfair interest rates, how many promising boys and girls deprived of opportunity and driven to worthlessness and crime by the same direful, inexorable power."

"This is the first time since the beginning of the national banking system that the farmer and the small business man have been able to borrow on the security of their farm from any national bank." He added that there had been "a general collapse in interest charges in those sections of the country where the abuse was the greatest and general disposition by banks in all sections to live within the law."

Banks that had been charging on some loans up to 50 and 60 per cent. were now limiting charges to the rates permitted by their state laws, the comptroller said.

TO LICENSE COAL AND ICE PEDDLERS IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Following the suggestion of the finance commission, Mayor Curley yesterday directed Corporation Counsel Sullivan to draft an ordinance by which coal and ice peddlers shall pay a license fee to the city. The amount of the fee has not been fixed.

Recently the finance commission took up with Charles H. Woolley, sealer of weights and measures, the matter of increasing the revenue of his department. Sealer Woolley suggested to the commission that an ordinance be drafted giving his department authority to license and supervise the work of coal and ice peddlers. At the present time no license fee is charged these peddlers and no revenue is derived by the city from them, although a large part of the time of his staff is devoted to them, according to Sealer Woolley.

Fee for licenses and supervision are charged produce peddlers and the finance commission believes that coal and ice peddlers should bear a part of the public burden.

The proposed ordinance will be sent to the city council for adoption.

FIRST CASE OF KIND IN BAY STATE

NEW BEDFORD MEN SEEK TO ENJOIN IMMORAL USE OF BUILDINGS

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—As a result of recent raids made by the Watch and Ward society on houses of ill-fame in New Bedford, bills in equity brought by citizens of New Bedford to have the owners of the buildings declared by the courts as maintaining a nuisance, under the provisions of chapter 624 of the Acts of 1914, were brought to the attention of Judge Tenney of the superior court yesterday on a motion that owners of the buildings in question be enjoined from letting their property for immoral purposes.

The matter was postponed until Oct. 30 by agreement of counsel to enable counsel for the defendants to make arrangements, if possible, to avoid action by the court.

This is the first case of the kind that has arisen in the commonwealth. The nature under which proceedings were brought reads that every building, part of a building or place used for immoral purposes shall be "deemed a nuisance."

GERMANS DO WITHOUT MANY THINGS SINCE WAR

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, October.—(Correspondence the Associated Press.)—One thing after another has disappeared so gradually from German markets since the war began that the very existence of certain luxuries and some things that were once considered necessities, has been forgotten. It was the experience of a correspondent of the Associated Press who had been in Berlin since the war began, and for many years before, to find, upon his arrival in Stockholm, the butcher-shop and grocery windows filled with food-stuffs he had seen scarcely a suggestion of in Germany for many months, and the restaurant bills of fare also served as pleasant reminders of ante-bellum days when the German restaurants, as much as those of any country, were prepared to supply a great variety of food.

Germany is not starving, and there is no fear there that it will, but the people are doing without far more things than they realize, having become so gradually accustomed to the loss or curtailment of certain comforts. Bacon—which the correspondent had not seen in Germany for months—is plentiful here, of course; butter, lard, olive oil, seen in the grocery shops offered a really irresistible appeal to one who had scarcely known them for so long. There were different cuts of pork; the correspondent had had a small portion of pork twice in three months. He found many kinds of bread, while the only kinds he recently knew were rye mixed with potatoes and wheat mixed with rye. There was real coffee, which one cannot obtain even in the best hotels or millionaires' homes in Germany.

The taste of French-fried potatoes was almost a new thing, for no German household has enough fat to permit indulging in this luxury. With baskets of bread on the tables in hotels and restaurants, and no bread required as a condition precedent to partaking, it seemed almost irregular and even wasteful. An order for macaroni brought a quantity greater than a household of two persons can obtain in Berlin for a whole week. A single order of cold meats contained more than the amount allowed per capita in Germany for a week.

What, then, it may be asked, are the Germans eating? The answer is: Bread, potatoes and other vegetables, one-half pound of meat weekly when it can be obtained, and fish, canned, fresh and smoked. The disappearance of the legumes—lentils, peas and beans—has been especially felt by the poorer people. A few beans and peas are occasionally to be had, but only a negligible quantity. Lentils, of which the

BERLIN, Oct. 19, 1 p. m., via London, Oct. 20.—General von Ludendorff has joined his chief, Field Marshal von Hindenburg, in opposing a more ruthless prosecution of submarine warfare. Field Marshal von Hindenburg's position was made plain at a meeting of the department committee for German peace terms last Saturday when, through a personal representative, he requested the committee to abstain from agitation for a sharper submarine campaign.

Gen. von Ludendorff has announced his views through a letter which was read at a big public meeting at Magdeburg yesterday by national liberal leader Schiffer. The letter said in part:

"The hopes of our enemies based on extraordinary simultaneous exertions on all fronts can only be frustrated through mighty efforts on our part. We will accomplish this if the German people stand united behind us, give us their confidence and do not demoralize the army by controversies over the expediency of means and ways to success. If to the outside it seems that the program on certain questions is lacking this does not prove that the program is actually at fault."

Field Marshal von Hindenburg's message had the disadvantage of being delivered at a private gathering, and thus was not broadcasted in having it gain a wider circulation. Gen. von Ludendorff's letter, however, has been sent broadcast throughout the country through reports of the meeting at which it was read being carried by the press agencies.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

To properly pasteurize milk put a gallon of water over the fire in a clean pan or kettle. When the water is boiling hard take the kettle from the fire and allow it to stand on the table for ten minutes uncovered. Then put in the milk and corked nursing bottles and leave them for half an hour, covering the kettle meanwhile with a blanket. At the end of half an hour remove the bottles and cool them as quickly as possible to fifty degrees and put them where they will keep cool when needed.

When it is time to feed the baby take out a bottle and set it in a pail of warm water over the fire to heat. After the baby has finished the bottle the should be emptied, rinsed and filled with cold water. At some convenient hour of the day the mother will wish all the used bottles with soap and warm water, using a bottle brush to clean the inside of them. She should then place them in a pail of water in the same pan or kettle in which they were pasteurized.

In most cities mothers, whether poor or rich, may have the benefit of carefully inspected milk and drinking water. In the country it is a wise precaution to look into these matters before selecting the summer home. Flies and mosquitoes are two great enemies of the baby, affecting not merely his comfort, but endangering his health, and perhaps his life.

In going to the country the mother should select, if possible, a place where the doors, windows and porches are screened. The prudent mother will include a box of mosquito netting in the outfit she takes to the country in order that baby's crib at least may be protected from insects. In going to a new place with the baby all the drinking water, and the milk also should be boiled, if from a strange supply about which the mother knows nothing.

Quite a problem which will confront mother a little later will be the providing of a wardrobe for the children that will help make their vacation a period of comfort and pleasure, and the high rates charged for laundering should also be considered when planning the small outfit. Comfort, of course, may easily be secured. A pair of overalls or a set of rompers will provide this, but no child will feel happy so garbed among associates wearing pretty clothing that may be as comfortable as well.

Children vary in feature and form quite as much as adults, and so it is quite necessary to study what will be becoming to them. A plump little maiden will look ridiculous in a short beruffled skirt, standing out like an overtimed lampshade, yet her fairy like sister may be a ravishing beauty in the same frock. For a sojourn in the country or at a farm house, a frock of some light weight woolen material and several thin white frocks of inexpensive material will be sufficient.

If going on a short journey with the baby it is better to prepare the feedings for the whole trip at home. You can sterilize the milk for this purpose as follows: Stand the filled bottles in a kettle over the fire and let the water boil for about an hour and a half. After boiling, the bottles should be gradually cooled and then made as cold as possible by standing them in a pail of cracked ice.

A good portable ice box for such a journey may be made at home as follows: Use two covered tin pails, one an inch or two smaller than the other, so it may stand inside the larger one. Fill the space between the two with sawdust, put the bottles with cracked ice in the inner pail and cover both tightly, making a canvas or flannel cover for the whole. To warm the bottle for baby you should carry an enameled ware pitcher which the mother will fill with warm water and you can set the bottle in that until warm enough for feeding.

Out of school, children should spend as much time as possible in the open air. They should also go to bed early in rooms provided with all the fresh air available and have refreshing baths followed by a vigorous rubbing down with a coarse towel.

That children are listless and not hungry does not mean that they should go without food, the important point being the selection and attractive form of offering suitable foods. Observations recorded from hundreds of school children show the bad effects of poor food, while the same children properly fed, have made bodily advance fully four times greater than in their previous condition in a given time.

LOSS OF BREMEN CAUSES CANCELLATION OF SAILING OF KOENIG'S CRAFT

LONDON, Oct. 20.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam says that a telegram received there from Bremen confirms the report that the German Ocean Navigation Co. has decided to cancel the sailing of the submarine Bremen and that she is regarded as lost. Great anxiety prevails among the families of the crew, virtually all of whom reside in Bremen and it is expected difficulty will be experienced in obtaining crews for other commercial submarines which may undertake transatlantic voyages.

According to this information the sailing of the Deutschland on another voyage across the Atlantic has been cancelled.

BIRTH CONTROL CLINICS

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Margaret Sanger of this city, who was arrested and convicted but not punished while in England, Oct. 19, recently, for advocating birth control, announced today that clinics for the dissemination of information on that subject soon are to open in San Francisco, Cleveland and other western and inland cities.

The police are searching for a clinic which is being conducted in Brooklyn and which has been advertised by distribution of hand bills in English, Yiddish and Italian. The teaching of birth control here is a misdemeanor under the law.

Mrs. Sanger said today she believed the police would find the clinic in a few days. "We are prepared," she added, "not in any aggressive or insolent way, but dispassionately, to fight the matter through all the courts in the state."

LADIES' AUXILIARY, A.O.H.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' auxiliary, A.O.H., was held Tuesday evening with a large number of the members present. Routine business was attended to after which eight new members were admitted, and the application of four others referred to the committee. A varied musical program was enjoyed after which refreshments were served.

A Halloween party for the members and their friends will be held in the hall Halloween night from 8 until 10 o'clock. The same talent that furnished the entertainment last meeting night, assisted by others, will be present.

statement the mayor said that the extra expenses will have to be taken into account. The station special officers in the hotels would mean quite an expense and he looks for prompt co-operation which will make it unnecessary. "We are looking for results," said the mayor, "first of all we are taking up the problem of the Sunday hotels. There may be other contributory causes to alleged Sunday drunkenness, and we intend to deal with those later."

Industrial Accident Board

Four cases were heard today in the industrial accident board before Frank E. Donahue, former secretary of state, now chairman of the industrial accident board.

The first was a petition for rehearing in the case of Family McLaughlin of the Thompson Hardware company who was killed at Westway while driving an automobile. The committee comprised Denis J. Murphy, Thomas G. Robbins and Mr. Donahue. The committee on arbitration confirmed the previous decision, finding the mother entitled to the maximum amount of $500 payable by the Industrial Board of the state.

The second hearing was on a bill presented by Dr. James P. McAdams for the treatment of Annie McLaughlin of North street, who was injured Sept. 22, 1915, in the Bay State mill where she is employed. She lost part of one finger. The Employees Liability company claimed that she should have gone to the Lowell Corporation hospital, but she claims that she was told by Agent Frederick S. Thomas of the Bay State that she might go to her family physician. The committee heard the evidence in the case and will make its decision later.

There was a hearing at 2 p. m. on the petition of Michael Hesson of the J. W. Clements company, joint petitioners being Michael and Sara Hesson, Martin M. Connolly of Amesbury represented the insurance company. In this case the regular compensation was paid and there was no dispute, but the question discussed today was whether Mr. Hesson is entitled to 12 weeks' pay for the loss of the use of one finger or 26 weeks' pay for the loss of the use of two.

At 4 p. m. evidence was presented for a report on a bill for $139 brought by Dr. John H. Lambert for the treatment of Abraham Osman, an employee of the Gilet Carbonizing company, injured March 31, 1916. The American Mutual Liability company contests the claim, stating that it was a hospital case.

Examinations for Chauffeurs

Messrs. Hubbell and Haley of the Massachusetts highway commission examined 17 prospective chauffeurs in the examination chamber this morning.

Purchasing Agent Foye has called for bids on 800 square yards of granite sidewalk, bids to be opened next Tuesday, Oct. 24.

Commissioner James E. Donnelly reports that the tower being constructed on the Sycamore street school is about two-thirds complete. The public property department is putting in a 500-pound bell at a cost of $220 and a special Gamewell fire alarm tapper which will cost $330.

Superintendent Thomas reports that the pipe being laid to Summit street has been opened up Fairmount street to a point about half way along the reservoir. If the weather continues good, he expects to have the work well in hand before the end of the fall, but he thinks it will not be completed until next spring. The street and sewer department is also putting in 500 feet of 8-inch sewer on Garden avenue, Belvidere, formerly Homewood street.

It is expected that the Woburn st. 10-inch sewer will be completed next week, and work will start immediately on the laying of a 6-inch pipe on Corbett and Anderson streets, off Gorham. Considerable progress has been made on the sewer from Merrimack street to Market through the Dummer street extension.

The Fire Department

Commissioner Putnam does not anticipate any important improvements or additions to the fire department, owing to the fact that expenses are running very close to the appropriation. He read a statement showing that his department had to its credit Oct. 1, $47,053, with expenses to $46,500, leaving a balance of $553. He states that one of the horses on the big truck at the Central fire station will have to be replaced. Recently one of the horses of the water works department was transferred to the Lawrence street firehouse.

Building Permits

FUMES FROM COAL STOVE KILLED PEABODY MAN

PEABODY, Oct. 20.—Fumes from a coal stove killed Edward H. Macdonald and caused probably fatal effects to his father, Edward Macdonald, while they slept at their home on Holten street last night. It was discovered today. The elder Macdonald who is 76 years old, is a critical condition. He was unconscious when a grocer found them in their beds this morning. Father and son, who lived alone, conducted a drug business on Main street.

FIRST UNIVERSALIST CHURCH

The vestry of the First Universalist church was the scene last evening of a dramatic recital of the play "Peg o' My Heart." Interspersed with songs. This very delightful entertainment followed the October supper, and the vestry was well filled with parishioners and friends. The entertainers were Mr. and Mrs. David Spaulding, formerly of Lowell and now of 51 Queensberry st., Boston. There were three acts in the offering and not one of them held a dull moment. Before and after the play and between the acts Mr. Spaulding sang acceptably "Peg o' My Heart," "Your Heart Will Call Me Home," "Come Back to Erin," "The Sunshine of Your Smile" and "Wearying for You." Mrs. Spaulding formerly was Miss Mina Brooks of this city.

The committee in charge of the supper comprised the following: Mrs. B. D. Tuttle, chairman; Mrs. W. M. Jones, Mrs. George Lockwood, Mrs. Archie McLean, Mrs. E. P. Dennis, Mrs. T. C. Entwistle, Mrs. F. Jenness, Mrs. Gay Morey, Mrs. Dora Chase, Mrs. F. E. Bates, Mrs. Everett Moore, Mrs. A. C. Churchman, Mrs. M. Douglas, Mrs. G. C. Howes, Mrs. Barnard, Mrs. E. P. Flinders, Mrs. M. S. Clark, Mrs. D. W. MacKenzie and Misses M. Sherry, May Stevens and Clara Stanley.

LOWELL EAGLES TO UNVEIL TWO MONUMENTS

An event of the utmost importance in fraternal circles will take place next Sunday, when Lowell aerie, No. 223, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will unveil two monuments which were recently erected, one in St. Patrick's cemetery and the other in Westlawn cemetery.

These monuments were erected in loving remembrance of the departed brethren, and no expense or labor has been spared to make these memorials the best of their kind in this part of the country. Each monument is surrounded by an immense bronze eagle with outspread wings, signifying the protection given by the Eagles to the families of their deceased members.

The aerie, it is said, will next Sunday hold the distinction of being the only fraternal organization in New England to have two monuments unveiled on the same day.

The unveiling exercises will be held Sunday afternoon and will be preceded by a parade, while the event will be brought to a close in the evening with a banquet at the Richardson hotel. The members of the organization will meet at their quarters in the Harrington building, Central street, at 12 o'clock, and at 1 o'clock the parade line will be formed.

The roster of the parade will be as follows: Platoon of police, Lowell Cadet band, R. A. Griffiths, leader.

Chief marshal, Thomas H. Corcoran. Past worthy presidents.

Worthy President Patrick J. McCann. Officers.

Carriages.

Assistant marshal, C. Fred Gilmore.

Chief aid, Timothy F. Barry.

Aids and members of degree team.

Members.

The parade will start at 1:15 o'clock and will proceed through the following route: Middle to Shattuck, to Merrimack, to Central and to Gorham as far as St. Patrick's cemetery, where the first ceremonies will be held. The program at the cemetery will be as follows: Selection, band; prayer, Rev. Jos. A. Curran of St. Patrick's church; selection, band; oration, Mayor James E. O'Donnell, a member of the aerie; unveiling of monument by Misses Mary A. McFarlane and Bertha L. Mutch; singing of "Amenita" by the attendees; benediction, Rev. Fr. Curran.

The gathering will then proceed to Westlawn cemetery, where similar exercises will be held with the following changes: Prayer, Rev. N. W. Matthews, pastor of the Gorham Street P. M. church; oration, Charles T. Laidy of Brockton, a member of the grand aerie; benediction, Rev. N. W. Matthews.

At the close of the exercises the aerie will repair to its hall, where a reception and entertainment will be held. In the evening at 8 o'clock a banquet will be held at the Richardson hotel with Worthy President Patrick J. McCann as toastmaster. Several notable speakers from Lowell and other cities will address the gathering. The exercises of the day will be in charge of Treasurer Richard D. Griffiths and Secretary John M. Hogan.

The officers of the aerie, for the parade, are requested to wear Prince Albert coats, silk hats, white gloves and black ties, while the members will wear their regular clothes, white gloves and special badges, which will be supplied for the occasion. The band will report to H. F. Sullivan, the past worthy president to Marshal Thomas H. Corcoran and the officers to Worthy President Patrick J. McCann. The exercises will be held at 2:15 o'clock and at Westlawn at 3 o'clock.

ercises at St. Patrick's cemetery will be held at 2:15 o'clock and at Westlawn at 3 o'clock.

MILITARISTS AND PACIFISTS CLASH AT EPISCOPAL CONFERENCE IN ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 20.—Militaryists clashed with pacifists in a debate on prayer in the house of deputies of the Protestant Episcopal general convention here yesterday, over the proposal of the commission on the enrichment of the book of common prayer to add prayers for the army and the navy, which divided the body into two factions.

The prayer which was finally adopted asks "The Lord God of Hosts, . . . to strengthen and protect the soldiers of our country; support them in the day of battle, and in time of peace keep them safe from evil." It also pleaded that in "all things they may serve without reproach."

A similar prayer suggested by the commission for the navy also was adopted. One faction led by the Rev. Howard Mells of Brooklyn, held that any war is unchristian and that no soldier can serve without reproach. The other, of which the Rev. Leighton Parks of New York was the spokesman, while not championing war, agreed that it is the duty of the church to pray for those men who forsake civil pursuits, in which the remuneration might be greater, for the service of their country. Previously, several delegates had urged the inclusion in the ritual of a prayer for world peace. The Rev. W. H. Milton of Wilmington, N. C., introduced a resolution to this end which was referred to the commission.

The prayers for the army and navy as recommended, it appeared by the house of bishops will be in tentative use in the next three years and will be acted upon finally at the next general convention. The house of bishops approved the report of the trustees of the pension fund providing for a pension for all clergymen after the age of 65 and also amended the minority report providing for favoring the appointment of a negro suffragan bishop to give the negro suffragans a temporary right of succession to the diocesan bishopric with a vote in the house of bishops.

This amendment probably will cause discussion in the house of deputies, for if adopted, it may result in a negro bishop temporarily presiding over a white diocese.

SLASHED WITH RAZOR

Worcester Man Died of Injuries—Woman Is Not Expected to Recover

WORCESTER, Oct. 20.—Actuated by jealousy, a man, said to be William Porter of 40 Austin street, went to the house of James McKenny at 14 Arch street yesterday afternoon and slashed McKenny with a razor so badly that he died a few minutes later at the city hospital.

Porter then turned on Mrs. Eliza Patton and slashed her on the chest and arms so severely that her recovery is not expected.

All the principals are colored. As far as the police can learn, Porter went to the house yesterday afternoon in an effort to have the Patton woman return to live with him.

Her refusal to do so led to Porter's using the razor.

Porter has escaped and the police are searching for him.

BROTHER OF DISTRICT FIRE CHIEF MEETS DEATH IN LOWELL BLEACHERY YARD

A fatal accident occurred late yesterday afternoon in the yard of the Lowell Bleachery when Michael A. Sullivan of 22 Olive street, brother of District Fire Chief James G. Sullivan of the department, was struck and almost instantly killed by an electric truck owned by the company and driven by James McLean. After the accident McLean gave himself up to the police and was held in the sum of $2000 on a charge of manslaughter. He was later released.

The accident occurred shortly before 5 o'clock in the yard which runs through the Bleachery yard. Sullivan was crossing the street on his way from the machine shop, where he was employed, to the blacksmith establishment with a lute tool in his hand. He stepped directly in front of the truck and before the vehicle could be brought to a stop he was knocked down and died almost instantly. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Un-

DR. W. GLADDEN OUT FOR PRESIDENT WILSON

COLUMBUS, Oct. 20.—The republican campaign of vilification, which he likens to that waged against Abraham Lincoln in 1864, has caused Dr. Washington Gladden, the distinguished clergyman and author, a lifelong republican, to declare himself for President Wilson's re-election.

Dr. Gladden cast his first vote in 1869 for Lincoln, and has voted for every republican elected to the presidency since. In 1912 he was a leader in the progressive movement.

"The ideals and principles of progressive democracy," he says, "are better represented today by the democratic party and its leaders than by the republican party and its leaders." In his statement made public through the Columbus Citizen, Dr. Gladden further says:

"With Mr. Wilson's general conception of political duty and responsibility in a democracy I am in cordial agreement. The moderation and rationality exhibited by Mr. Wilson in the conduct of our national affairs were almost universally recognized by our people during the first year of the war. When the election drew near the caudron began to bubble. Those of us who are old enough to remember the election of 1864 and the tempest of vilification and accusation which burst upon the head of Abraham Lincoln during the campaign preceding his second election, know what to look for in a time like this.

"I wonder if a debate led by eminent men, in which such a record as Mr. Wilson has made can be reviewed by his opponents without a generous or appreciative word, is really good politics. I wonder how many wavering voters it has confirmed in their purpose to vote for Mr. Wilson. I know of one."

A telegram from Indianapolis announced the appointment of this committee by President H. E. Stockbridge, with Frank O. Odell, a member of the farmers' executive committee, as spokesman.

George P. Hampton, editor of the Farmers Open Forum and secretary of the Rural Credit League of America, said that the Farmers' day with the president should prove a red letter feature of the campaign.

FATHER DROWNED SON BARELY RESCUED

NEWBURYPORT, Oct. 20.—Robert C. Cheney, aged 69 years, of Bangs Island, was drowned, and his son, Robert K. aged 23, barely rescued, in a boating accident on the Merrimack river late yesterday afternoon.

The father and son run a boat yard on the island, which is just opposite this city, in the town of Salisbury. Shortly before 5 o'clock the boat went out to a large power boat anchored in the river, which was to be brought ashore.

Neither could swim.

The craft safely boarded, the men proceeded to haul in its large anchor, and their exertions caused the boat to capsize, throwing both into the river. Neither could swim, but young Cheney grasped a mooring and held on to it, screaming for help. His father's body shot beneath the waves, which had been lashed with fury by yesterday's wind and rain.

Fishermen who live on the island put out and rescued young Cheney. They grappled for the father's body and recovered it 30 minutes later.

WAS FOUND NOT GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

JUDGE ENRIGHT FINDS THAT CHARLES CHASE DID NOT SHOW CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE

Charles R. Chase of Newbury, who was on trial in the local police court all day yesterday on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Clayton F. Currier in Tyngsboro on Aug. 17 last, was found not guilty and discharged by Judge Enright late yesterday afternoon.

In reviewing the case, His Honor said that besides hearing the evidence of both sides he visited the scene of the accident during the noon recess and his decision was that no criminal negligence was shown.

ALLIED WARSHIPS ACTIVE

MANILA, P. I., October.—Allied warships, believed to be British vessels, are again active in territorial waters of the Philippine and a half-dozen inter-island vessels have been overhauled, halted and examined during the past few days. The procedure is generally to halt a ship, send an armed landing party aboard, examine the ships papers and for information as to the nationality of the passengers and inquire whether the ship carried arms or mail addresses to Philippine subjects. So far there has been no interference either with passengers, mail or cargo.

A British cruiser, believed to be British, created a sensation recently by dashing into Manila bay and coming within four miles of the harbor. Then she turned tail and as suddenly made for the open sea again. No effort was made to stop her by the American warships in the bay which have charge of enforcing neutrality regulations, but it is understood that the matter was the subject of correspondence between the governor-general's office and the British consulate.

Tell your mother Resinol will heal your skin

"If she will wash these sore, itchy places twice a day with Resinol soap and hot water, and then put on a little Resinol Ointment, I am sure the trouble will soon disappear."

That is good advice. Patches of eruption may not be anything serious at first, but they cause so much discomfort and so often develop into eczema, or other severe ailment, that it pays to use the Resinol treatment right away.

Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap have been prescribed by physicians for many years as the only remedy which could possibly cure the terrible skin. Sold by all druggists. For free sample of each, write to Dept. 42, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

CONSTANTZA TRANSFER POINT BEFORE WAR

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. — "From now until peace is declared Rumania's chief support, Constantza, will concentrate her modern docks and quays to the 'import trade in Russian soldiers' whereas before the war this thriving little city of 27,000 inhabitants handled practically all the surplus wheat raised by the Rumanian peasants which did not find its way up the Danube to the great flour mills of Budapest," says today's war geography bulletin issued by the National Geographic society.

"A large percentage of the czar's fighting men who will pass through Rumania bound for the front will be supplied with food and clothing from Constantza via the Black sea land traversed in peace times by passenger ships of the Rumanian state-owned steamship lines, 150 miles to the south of Constantza is Constantzopolis through which the allies hope eventually to secure the vast stores of grain now held in southern Russia, as well as the coming season's wheat crop of Rumania.

"Until hostilities began in 1911 Constantza was the transfer point for the extensive passenger service from London, Paris, Brussels, Berlin, Vienna and Budapest to Constantzopolis and the near east. Here express steamers connected with the de luxe trains from the west, making their way to the Sublime Porte overnight.

"Millions of dollars have been spent on the harbor and docks of Constantza since the town became a Rumanian possession by the treaty of Berlin, which transferred the Dobruja province to this country. The principal improvements were begun in 1908.

"Constantza, or Kustendje, with its wide clean streets, its numerous mosques, synagogues and churches, occupies the site of the ancient Tenedos or Tenos, the metropolis of the Euxine. The remains of many columns and fragments of statuary testify to the importance and wealth of the city in those days. In the fourth century Constantza the great changed the name of the port to Constantinople, in honor of his sister, the wife of Theodosius. It experienced an era of great prosperity as the metropolis of Pontus, but after it passed under the control of the Bulgars and later of the Turks its decline was rapid. In the Russo-Turkish war of 1812 it was bombarded by the Russians, and 17 years later surrendered to the same power without a blow in its defense.

"Probably the most noteworthy event in the history of ancient Tenedos was its designation by the Emperor Augustus as the place of exile of the great Latin poet Publius Ovidius Naso, familiarly known as Ovid. The poet's offense was the publication of "Ars Amatoria," which enjoys the questionable distinction, according to no less an authority than the Oxford scholar George Sidney Owen, of be-

"I have a girl friend who was married last year," began Marjorie as she strolled in to see Marie. "She has a birthday next month and I want to give her something different, but can't seem to think of anything pretty and novel."

"Why not use your talent for painting and give her something which bears the imprint of that talent?" suggested the French Maid. "For instance, some hand painted bottles for her toilet table or bathroom cabinet would be nice, useful and pretty."

"Just get two square bottles of the kind with ground glass stoppers, so universally used in any medicine chest. They are marked Listerine, Alcohol, Dorax, etc. On them paint in oils a dainty cluster of flowers, daisies, forget-me-nots or roses—all are bright and attractive motifs."

"The workmanship should be free and simple, and, however crude, the result will prove surprisingly effective. The decoration may best be placed just below where the bottle begins to grow larger and broader, and directly above the label of the contents."

"Should one's taste dictate a wide border effect, it is easy to block this on in some neutral tint, dark blue or green, and, in striking relief, paint the flowers in brilliant colors. Any magazine suggests good designs for this work or decoration may be copied from china or any odd bit of painted furniture or bric-a-brac. Combine an article with beauty and utility and the result is sure to be gratifying."

"A set of these charming bottles and towels with embroidery to match makes a most elaborate gift, and one dear to the heart of every woman. The latter requires, however, a bit of clever needlework as well. In those modern times, when every corner of the house is considered from the viewpoint of comfort as well as artistically, the bathroom is frequently the most neglected room in the house. But to the fastidious this unique gift will come as a pleasing and welcome novelty."

CLEAN UP SALE

SUITS AND OVERCOATS

The enormous business we did last Saturday and Monday is a glaring testimonial to the values we offered. We wish to thank those who bought and for the benefit of the many who have written us to reserve a suit or overcoat at these prices, and those who could not be waited on, in the rush, we wish to state we are going to continue this sale until the $5000 stock we bought at panic prices way below the cost of production, is sold.

If we have to give these goods away we want our friends to get them. It's our first year in business and this is another way to advertise for next season's business. We are making all our clothes in our mammoth daylight workshop, journeymen custom tailored, paying twice the price for tailoring ever paid by any popular priced tailor in New England. We don't send our clothes to ready-made contractors in Boston. All our clothes bear the label of the local Journeymen's Custom Tailors' Local, 103, of Lowell. The best piece of goods in the world is no good unless it is properly tailored. Our tailors are all skilled tailors, yet we don't charge you as much as you pay for a cheap ready-made suit of cheviot, cassimere or soft shoddy cloth that breaks and tears easily.

We don't ask you to buy, but we do ask you to look over the mammoth purchase of virgin wool productions of strong all wool worsted serges, melton, etc. Never sold below $25 to $35, for this sale $15.00.

The public is cordially invited to visit our workshop any time.

TELLS BRITISH MINISTER ALLIES
POWER

LONDON, Oct. 20.—King Constantine in an interview with the British minister to Athens, complained bitterly of the action of the allies in recognizing the provisional government at Saloniki, according to the Athens despatch to the Daily Mail. The despatch says the king told the minister that as the allies had deprived him of all power they had better address their proposals to Venizelos. The monarch made certain proposals which the British diplomat considered of no importance and he advised Constantine to change his entire policy.

PARIS PAPER STATES VENIZELOS
DID

PARIS, Oct. 19.—The Journal des Debats in a long leader on the Greek situation, calls attention to the press campaign against Venizelos in Spanish and other papers of Germanophile tendencies and regrets finding in the American press certain attitudes concerning the action of the allies toward an "independent state."

"Our American conferees," says the paper, "have only to recall the history of their own country to dispel thoughts that the allies committed acts of violence contrary to the large principles of international relations."

As Washington rebelled against the arbitrary procedure of Great Britain in order that he might found a free state, so Venizelos went to Saloniki to create a new country. As France gave with enthusiasm its armed co-operation to Washington so she may and ought to give it to Venizelos without infringing the great principles which inspired free peoples.

"This time, however, France and Great Britain are proceeding in accord for the same cause. We should be happy to see the United States of America faithful to the memory of their struggle for independence and recognizing with us that free Greece is found at this moment at Saloniki and no longer at Athens."

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—To save this city $700,000 a year which it expends for the support of children deserted by their parents the board of aldermen has taken the first step toward the establishment of a "desertion bureau" the duties of which will be to find delinquent parents and compel them to support their children.

Routine meetings were held last evening by the Painters, Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, and the Blacksmiths.

SARDINIA UNKNOWN TO AMERICAN TRAVELERS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct.—When Europe, at peace once more, invites the American traveler to its shores, one of the few spots whose ruins will not suggest the sanguinary struggle which has brought sorrow and desolation to practically all that war-ridden continent is little-known Sardinia, the subject of a communication from Helen Dugan Wright to the National Geographic society. A part of the writer's descriptive article has been issued by the society as a geography bulletin, which says:

"Those who have taken the Mediterranean route have at least had a glimpse of Sardinia from their steamer a day out of Naples. The island is in sight for some hours, and, if the steamer passes sufficiently close, a bold, rocky coast can be seen on which Roman outlook towers remain similar to those scattered along the south shores of Spain. The tourist seldom includes a trip to Sardinia in his travels, neither of his advisers, Thomas Cook nor Baedeker, recommends it to him. It, however, is one of the few foreign fields that has not been overrun and overflooded by the tourist, and in many of the villages a traveler is still regarded as a guest and not as a prey to be pounced upon."

"Some day, when tourists are tired of taking the train and out for them by the guide books, perhaps they will break away from the continent and set sail for Sardinia, especially if they are not travelling just to enjoy hotel comforts. One can rent a good automobile at Cagliari, and a week spent touring around the island would probably leave the pleasantest of recollections and an experience long to be remembered."

"Sardinia can be reached by an eight hours' night voyage from Civitavecchia, the port of Rome, to the north end of the island. The crossing is quite comfortable. The beauty of the sunrise over the sheer cliffs and the craggy isolated rocks of Golfo degli Aranci compensates for getting up at five in the morning."

"As soon as one lands, a refreshing fragrance in the air is noticed—a perfume characteristic of Sardinia—not due, certainly, to orange trees, as suggested by the name of the port, there being none in this district, but to the many wild herbs and shrubs all over the island."

"Except for the eucalyptus and pine planted near the stations, there is a noticeable lack of trees along the railway routes. Among the mountains, however, which occupy the eastern half of the island and occur to some extent along the western coast, there are important forests of oak, flex, cork and wild olive. In the mountainous areas of the island are many fertile valleys."

"The town of Macomer is the centre of a region where many fine horses are bred for the Italian army, as are also the small ponies used in Naples. Cagliari, at the southern end of the island, is the principal seaport of Sardinia, and is often visited for a few hours by tourists taking the weekly steamer from Genoa and Livorno to Tunis. The bay of Cagliari is most impressive. On the right and left as you enter are hills, with mountains in the distance, while rising up from the lowlands directly opposite the entrance is the city, on a rocky hill 400 feet high. The top of this hill is encircled by a massive wall, built by the Pisans in the 13th century. At two of the angles rise the towers of the Lion and the Elephant, but of the tower of the Eagle, which completed the triangle, only the base remains. In the centre of these fortifications is the old town. On the slopes of the hill outside the walls is built the modern city of 50,000 inhabitants, the largest in Sardinia. The entire population of the island is estimated at 250,000, a density of population of 85 per square mile; that is a much lower figure than in any other part of Italy."

"Among the objects historically interesting in Cagliari are the rock-cut tombs on the hillside below the Castello. These are probably of the same period as the nuraghi, the famous prehistoric truncated cones 30 feet in diameter at the base and built by the men of the Bronze age."

"The nuraghi were undoubtedly fortified habitations. They are usually situated in commanding positions at the entrance to tablelands, near the fords or rivers, or on almost inaccessible mountain peaks and within significant distance of one another. Traces of at least 5000 of these remains have been found."

"The ancient tombs of the inhabitants of the 'nuraghi' are usually found near them. These are called the 'tombs of the giants' and are 3½ feet wide and from 30 to 40 feet long, with a roof of flat slabs or rocks and with the sides made of the slabs or of rough walling. The bodies were probably arranged in a sitting position. In front of the tombs are circles about 40 feet in diameter surrounded by stones; these were, no doubt, used for sacrifices and burial rites."

"We get an insight into the life of the inhabitants of this isolated island, one should visit its villages. It is in the entire eastern half, with its mountainous valleys and villages, where the real Sards now live. Here one will find their good looking and in good health, generous, hospitable, honorable and quite poor. Politeness is carried almost to an extreme. Often as one rides through the small villages, the women, children and the old men sitting at the doorsteps rise and wish you a 'buon viaggio'; or, if it happens to be noon, some may wish you a 'buon appetito'. Even the young boys are taught to take their hats off when strangers pass by; and if one is in an automobile and happens to stop to get out his kodak, a crowd of youngsters seems to spring up around the car, all anxious to be in the picture. To refuse a cup of coffee or a liqueur when visiting the house of an inhabitant of a village is an act of great discourtesy, and even the poorest have some beverage to offer."

"Generally speaking, the peasants seem to be somewhat downtrodden and do not realize their just rights. The music of the Sards is characteristic; not all quiet and vivacious like that of the Sicilians or other southern Italians, but monotonous and slow, resembling very much the music of northern Africa. The Sards' costumes are one of their greatest attractions. They are of rich, harmonious, though brilliant colors, each village having its own distinctive type."

TERRIFIC DESTRUCTION ON BATTLEFIELDS OF FRANCE DESCRIBED

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 20.—The terrific destruction wrought on the battlefields of France is described in an official communique from the Canadian war records office which has been made public by Lieut. Gen. Sir Sam Hughes, minister of militia. Incidentally the communique reiterates the claims of the British leaders in regard to the superiority of the allies in the air and in artillery. In the latter respect the Canadian officer says that the allies are fighting five shells to the Germans one.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, the bowels and the liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel—there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a dark brown taste, a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the jointly effective result.

Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 50c and 25c per box. All druggists.

pressed itself upon the face of nature. No plague could be more ruthless, no natural blight more devastating."

After describing the peaceful scenes in the rear of the battle line the perfectly tilled fields, the farms cultivated to the last inch of their available space, and after paying a tribute to the "brave, silent industry of the women, the old men and the children" of France, the communique continues:

"The transition from this scene of beauty, peace and ancient prosperity is infinitely distressing. Fields are given over to the trampling rows of tethered horses and are disfigured by a variety of encampments from ordered white tents to lumps of rusted biscuit tins and low discolored sheds of nondescript material. This area of active occupation gradually thins and about a region of more sinister appearance. Here trees have broken trunks and the houses seem in pain for their roofs are rent, their windows gone, their walls scarred and pierced. But the full view of the land of war is reached with the crossing of the bleak, greasy slopes east of Albert with their chalky scars cut by the long lines of trenches.

"The view suddenly sweeps into the valley. Before La Boisselle there were the original German and British lines on July 1. This was the outer wall, the stoutly resisting shell of the defense through which the indomitable English had fought their way and so permitted those who followed, other English, Australians, South African and Canadians, to come and deal their blows.

"Of La Boisselle there is more upon the map than on the ground. A few shattered trunks, here and there a splintered beam, perhaps a corner-stone or two, some cellars roofed with wreckage—otherwise only the upheaval of tortured earth, mine craters, heaps of rotting white sand bags, half-choke trenches and a dreary litter of old wire, cans and human rubbish remain.

"On the left is the twin city of desolation. Ovillers, and between the two the white road runs beyond and mounts to the level of Pozieres. Pozieres shares the fate of La Boisselle. No hand could trace the outlines of a single house or garden plot. There are no bricks nor beams which could

Get a 25-cent bottle of Dandruff at any drug store, pour a little into your hand and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of this awful scurf will have disappeared. Two or three applications will destroy every bit of dandruff; stop scalp itching and falling hair.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother, see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that it's little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

be used in restoration. As a village Pozieres has disappeared.

"Just beyond Pozieres and still below the summit runs the line of trenches first occupied by the Canadians. These are in the midst of the ground which has most suffered. Here is the scene of destruction. No grain of surface remains undisturbed. There is no room for a fresh shell hole. Nowhere is the power of modern artillery or the thoroughness of preparation better exemplified. We have literally blasted our way forward. Earth appeared not only in the devastated earth and the crushed houses, but also in the sadder waste of human life. This is all ground sacred to the memory of our dead. Also, in the scarcely defined trenches of the enemy, the German corpses lie thickly.

In regard to the situation in the air, the communique says:

"In this respect the British and French domination is almost absolute. Here all day long we watch our planes circling above our heads. Closely they come and go with the speed and alertness of birds so far off they seem to hang suspended in the sky. Occasionally five or more planes, intent upon some special mission, go over high up and disappear into the distant mist. So rarely do the German machines appear that some men who have been here daily for a month have not seen a single one."

Gionet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aime Gionet, 125 Fourth avenue, on the occasion of the anniversary transfer from St. Joseph's parish to Notre Dame de Lourdes in Middlesex street. The event was informal but proved very interesting to all concerned.

The "boys" gathered at the home of their president in the early evening with their new chaplain, Rev. Louis Bachand, O.M.I., formerly of Tewksbury, who has been assigned to fill the position made vacant by the transfer of Rev. Fr. Denis, O.M.I., and later a telephone message announced Fr. Denis to the gathering. Upon entering the home the reverend gentleman was presented a purse of gold by President Arthur Gionet in behalf of the musical organization. The young men took occasion to inform the guest of honor of the boys' sorrow to lose so valuable a worker and extended him their best wishes. Following the presentation, little Miss Yvonne Gionet presented Fr. Bachand a large bouquet of plums as a token of esteem on the part of the musicians.

Rev. Fr. Bachand then expressed his thanks for the gift he received and promised to do all in his power for the advancement of the band. He then extended to Fr. The remainder of the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner, a varied entertainment program being given. Luncheon was also served. In the course of the evening Fr. GROSSMAN IS FOUND GUILTY OF ARSON

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—A jury in the superior criminal court yesterday returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Israel Grossman, who was charged with setting fire, on April 26, to a barn on Blue Hill avenue, in which he kept seven horses.

The verdict was reached Wednesday afternoon after the close of court, and was returned yesterday morning Judge Sisk, upon motion of Asst. Dist. Atty. Melsano, increased Grossman's bail from $100 to $750, and he was sent to the detention pen.

Grossman is the second case tried in the series of arson indictments now pending. Mr. Melsano has obtained a conviction in each case.

—GROSSMAN FROM BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Prof. Ernest Hocking of the Harvard college philosophy department was suitably criticized by a committee of the Senate on Monday for his remarks on the German invasion of France.

Prof. Hocking's remarks were that the German invasion of France was the work of Pichon.

of the noblest productions of German literature.

He declares the comparison to be "a sad illustration of the confusion of intellectual standards by the partisan passion engendered through the European war."

"Fichte, as is known to every student of philosophy, delivered those addresses at a time when his country was at the mercy of the Napoleon. In these speeches Fichte, at the risk of his own life, appealed to the national instinct of self-preservation—he held up in them the ideals of national life that has made the Germany of today."

"These facts need only to be recalled in order to show the irrelevance of the parallel attempt by Prof. Hocking."

SAY DOCTOR AIDED SLAYER

Providence Case Complicated by the Murder in East Boston on Monday of Massachusetts

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 20.—Belief that a physician aided in the escape of Thomas Russell of Boston, one of the men wanted in connection with the murder of Cosimo Di Nuccio, is entertained by the police here. It was stated yesterday that Russell, who was wanted, had been helped out of the city by several friends.

The transfer of Massachusetts in East Boston Monday night has frightened many persons here who have given the police information. Two of the women who disclosed the nature of the business done by Di Nuccio have appeared to the police for protection.

UNITED STATES URGED TO TAKE
END

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 20, via London —A demand for the stoppage of submarine warfare coupled with an appeal to the United States to take the initiative toward that end, is voiced by the Telegraf. The Telegraf says:

"Ten days have elapsed since the submarine war was carried to the door of America and nothing has been done. Are we to understand that our ships are allowed to be torpedoesd in all frankness to America that submarine war must be stopped and Germany must be told that mistakes, which all the world know are no mistakes, will no longer be tolerated. Let America speak the redeeming word and she will deeply in the future having neglected a task plainly to be expected from the mightiest neutral."

BIG INCREASE IN LIVING COST IN YEAR

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—This country was probably never so prosperous as just now, but its dollars are doughnuts that the average workman would be glad to trade a little of the prosperity for a chance to live a little more economically, when each succeeding 24 hours develops something to put another dent in the already slim family wallet.

Going back a year ago to get a line on the cost of living at that time, practically the only thing that was any higher at that time than it is today was fresh pork to roast. Perhaps a costly blunder is made in disclosing this discovery, for possibly in the present marking up of prices this item may have been overlooked.

Apples are no more costly than at this time last year, but everything else from soup to nuts and from feedies to anchors has gone up. The apples, if consumed in their original state, are cheap enough, but with hard 10 cents a pound and pastry flour costing more than $1 a barrel, apples, and for that matter any kind of pie, is costly.

The kind of flour necessary for the kind of bread "mother used to make" is costly $11 to $11.25 a barrel, which is $2.75 a barrel more than it depleted the family exchequer at this time last year. Furthermore, consumers have got to spread the butter on the bread more thinly, because it is costing exactly seven cents a pound more than it did last year, and this is not the case alone with the best butter, but with all grades. Eggs are always high around this time of the year, but just now the best of them are 60c a dozen, which is two cents a dozen more than this grade was selling for one year ago.

Cabbages, onions and potatoes are more costly this year, and it is said that they are going higher, for the farmers did not get away to a running start last spring, and all crops had to many setbacks that even a fairly mild fall could not correct the deficiency.

Sugar is bringing 2 to 2.12 cents a pound more than it did this time last year; beans, the Saturday night and Sunday morning kind, were high last year, but they are positively costly just now, with retailers getting 20 to 25c a quart and not likely to be able to sell much longer at 20c.

Canned goods are way up in price, for which is blamed not only short crops of the tomatoes, peas and other vegetables, but a big increase in the cost of tin cans.

To keep warm this winter is going to be costly, for coal is 50c a ton higher than a year ago and kindling wood 25c a cubic foot above the prices at this time last year.

Here is the result of the investigation:

FLEES ASYLUM TO BE KILLED BY TRAIN

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Thomas Conroy, 25, one of three men who escaped from the Kings Park State Insane hospital, New York, Monday, was instantly killed at 8:20 last evening when he fell from the top of a freight car near the East Somerville station on the western division of the Boston & Maine railway. The wheels passed over his body, cutting it in two.

Godfrey Samuel, 31, of 433 9th ave., Brooklyn, and James Visco, 30, of 536 Flushing ave., Brooklyn, his companions, were later arrested by Railroad Officer Henry E. Cheney and turned over to the Somerville police on the charge of unlawfully riding on a freight train.

It was not known until the men were taken into the Somerville station that they were two of the three men who were wanted by the police of New York. They said they made their escape on Monday and came to this city with money that had been sent in to Visco by his relatives. They spent the day in the city until last evening when they determined to jump aboard a freight train to Portland as they believed they could get work there and escape detection.

Both men admitted their identity and showed laundry marks of the New York institution on their underclothing. Neither of the men knew where Conroy lived. They told Lieut. Harmon they were parole inmates, with freedom of the grounds, and that escape for them was easy.

The men showed signs of being mentally deranged. The New York police were notified of their arrest. Conroy's body was removed to the northern district mortuary.

VON KLUCK PLACED ON THE RETIRED LIST

BERLIN, Oct. 20 (via London).—Field Marshal Alexander H. R. von Kluck, who commanded the right wing of the German army in its sweep toward Paris in the fall of 1914, has been placed on the retired list at his own request.

He had never returned to the front since he was wounded by shrapnel in March, 1915, while inspecting advanced positions. The field marshal was 70 years old last May. Field Marshal von Kluck and his army took an important part in the German advance toward Paris in September, 1914. His advance halted about 80 miles from the French capital and his force, with the rest of the German army was checked and driven back in the battle of the Marne.

He is said to have received his wound in March, 1915, by recklessly exposing himself after a stormy interview with Emperor William.

BISHOP LAWRENCE AT EPISCOPAL CONVENTION

SAYS DEVELOPMENT OF INDIVIDUAL CHARACTER MEANS DEVELOPMENT OF CHRISTIANITY

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20.—Development of individual character means the development of Christianity, the Rev. William Lawrence, bishop of Massachusetts, told delegates to the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church here today.

"A friend of mine called football the most spiritual game because it develops discipline, self restraint and character," he said. "All of these make for religion."

Bishop Lawrence spoke at a joint meeting of the two houses of the convention in the interest of organization of the work of religious education. He urged modernization of Sunday schools. "We can accomplish nothing by having our children step from modern secular schools to 15th century Sunday schools," he said.

Speaking of religion in the public schools, Bishop Lawrence said: "I hold, a child can get religion in 'the home, on the public playground—anywhere he can get growth of character."

Robert H. Gardiner of Gardiner, Me., reviewed the work of the general board of religious education of the church.

A proposal to permit Jews, who have become communicants of the church, to retain certain of the racial customs and feast days, was on the house of deputies' calendar for discussion today.

Discussion of the proposed revision and enrichment of the Book of Common Prayer has been halted temporarily, pending action on the proposals by the house of bishops.

MARINE INSURANCE RATES DROP

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The abnormal rates on war risks for marine insurance which have prevailed since the sinking of the transatlantic merchant ships off the American coast by the German submarine U-53 have gradually been reduced and yesterday some New York underwriters quoted 1 per cent. on risks. In some quarters, however, 1 1/4 per cent. is asked on big consignments. Rates to South America and Panama have been reduced from 2 to 4 per cent. but the insurance on risk for the Mediterranean is still at a high figure.

HON. EDWARD KEATING GIVES WILSON CREDIT FOR CHILD LABOR LAW

Hon. Edward Keating, author of the child labor law, has the following on child labor legislation:

The story of the passage of the so-called Keating-Owen Federal Child Labor bill may be told in a sentence: Woodrow Wilson did it.

And he did it just like he has done so many other big things during the last four years—he frankly and publicly advised his democratic associates who control the legislative branch of our government to act on what was the manifest will of their constituents and strike the shackles from the limbs of children in industry.

Wilson is a great democrat, but in addition to that he is a born leader of men. Like John Paul Jones he commands the ship because he is the most capable man aboard the ship. His crew has confidence in his judgment and patriotism. It isn't necessary for him to use the baying pin. He gets results without adopting the tactics of distinguished predecessors who belabored their comrades in the halls of congress with a "big stick" or starved them into submission by depriving them of postoffice patronage.

Other presidents have emphasized the need of federal child labor legislation, some would-be presidents are proclaiming before high heaven that they love the children and yearn for an opportunity to lighten their burdens but Woodrow Wilson is the only president who ever coined his words into deeds on this subject.

His influence put the bill through the senate, his signature made it law, and to him belong the honor and the glory. God bless him!

It wasn't an easy fight. I introduced the bill on the opening day of the sixty-third congress. A score of cooks had a finger in the pie. Owen Lovejoy and Dr. A. J. McKelway of the national child labor committee had devoted the best years of their lives to the task of creating a public sentiment which would compel congress to deal with the problem in an effective way. Jane Adams, Felix Adler, former Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania and scores of other big-hearted men and women from every section of the country had contributed time and money and thought. Prof. W. S. Parkinson, of Columbia—who should be on the supreme bench—supervised the legal work and made a wonderful argument in support of the constitutionality of the bill.

We encountered the lobby at the beginning of the contest. It was well organized, apparently generously financed, and absolutely tireless. It employed distinguished lawyers to raise constitutional objections, produced medical "experts" who insisted that boys of ten might be worked 12 hours a day in a cotton mill "without deleterious effect" and paraded an imposing array of business men who were sure they would be ruined if they were deprived of the services of their little sons.

In the face of this opposition it required two months to force the bill through the house. We won on Feb. 2, 1916, and the fight was transferred to the senate.

The lobby was not discouraged. Its leaders boasted that the bill would be pigeon-holed in the American house of lords, or failing that, would be talked to death. With the assistance of such valiant champions as Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas and Senator John W. Kern of Indiana we avoided the pigeon-hole and had the bill favorably reported to the senate.

But the calendars were crowded with important constructive legislation and members of congress were anxious to get away to their districts. To talk the bill to death seemed easy. The mere threat of a filibuster might be sufficient. The lobbyists rejoiced.

But they had not reckoned on Woodrow Wilson. Returning from a cruise down the Chesapeake he discovered the situation and acted with the decision and directness characteristic of him.

He went to the capitol, called the leading democrats about him and told them that in his judgment congress should not adjourn until the child labor bill was passed.

The story of his visit and its object was carried to the country and the people from Maine to California lost no time in making it clear that they were back of the president.

The lobby stole away from Washington and the bill was passed. The bill provides that children shall not be employed in mines or quarries before they are sixteen years old, or in mills, workshops, canneries, etc., before they are fourteen years old, and that children between fourteen and sixteen shall not be employed in mills, workshops, canneries, etc., for more than eight hours a day or six days a week, or at night. If any mine, quarry, or manufacturing establishment violates the law its products will be barred from the channels of interstate commerce.

It is a very simple law but a very effective one. No one can misunderstand its provisions and under federal administration we are confident no one can evade them.

I may say in passing that the friends of this bill are not in the least apprehensive concerning what the supreme court will do when this legislation comes before the tribunal. We hold that when the original 13 states adopted the constitution they granted congress absolute power to regulate commerce between the states, with foreign nations, and the Indian tribes.

The only limitation on that power which you can find anywhere in the constitution is to be found in the fifth amendment, which declares that citizens shall not be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law. The supreme court has repeatedly construed the commerce clause of the constitution and the limitations fixed by the fifth amendment. We contend that the court has uniformly held that congress may regulate interstate commerce in the interests of the public health, the public safety, the public morals, and the public welfare, and that the only limitation recognized by the court was that the exercise of such power by congress must be a reasonable one. There is our case in a nutshell. We hold that child labor is immoral; that a moral taint attaches to the products of child labor; and that congress, in an effort to safeguard the public morals and the public welfare, may exclude this pestiferous thing from the channels of interstate commerce.

MOTORISTS CHEATED BY SHORT GASOLINE PUMPS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Short measuring gasoline pumps, according to an investigation by the federal bureau of standards, are cheating motorists of millions of dollars a year. Tests in many cities have confirmed previous conclusions and actual tests of the types of pumps used by retailers at the bureau here have shown 50 per cent. of them give short measure for various reasons. Some of them are faults of construction and others are susceptible to manipulation by the dealer.

"This tendency toward deficient measurement," says an announcement by the bureau, "is worthy of careful consideration as it results in the aggregate in enormous monetary losses to the public."

"It is safe to say that in all localities not under an efficient and competent weights and measures administration and in a large majority of those cases which have a relatively competent administration, the condition of measuring pumps is such that the motoring public is being subjected to regular and continuous shortages in its purchases of gasoline."

TO STANDARDIZE SALARIES OF STATE

MR. DE LAMARR THE SPEAKER AT ROGERS HALL

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—The executive council yesterday confirmed the recommendation of the committee on the salaries of the members of the executive council, which was made at a meeting held last evening at the Rogers Hall school.

The first meeting of the council on the subject of the salaries of the members of the executive council was held last evening at the Rogers Hall school.

It was voted to grant a salary of $10,000 a year to the speaker of the house, and a salary of $8,000 a year to the clerk of the house.

The committee on the salaries of the members of the executive council, which was made up of Messrs. De Lamarr, Rogers, and others, has recommended that the salaries of the members of the executive council be standardized.

The order passed by the legislature under which the investigation is conducted, expresses the opinion of the senate and house that salaries and compensation paid by the commonwealth are to be standardized and re-established in the interests of economy and efficiency.

It is the plan of the committee of the executive council to carry out the purpose and spirit of this order fairly and fearlessly. It is essential that the salaries should be in the hands of the legislature, and that the same should be standardized and re-established in the interests of economy and efficiency.

The standardization of salaries of the executive council will be taken up first, but as yet no plan has been formulated with regard to the salaries paid to county officials.

HAS NOT RECOGNIZED NEW GREEK GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Recognition of the Venizelos provisional government in Greece has not yet been accorded by the United States, according to state department officials. They point out that the letter of the American consul at Saloniki to the provisional government's foreign minister, expressing hope of cordial relations, was purely a matter of form and could not be construed as recognition by the United States.

Extremely turbulent conditions in Greek capital.

LONDON, Oct. 20, 11:55 a. m.—Extremely turbulent conditions in Athens on Wednesday night are reported in a dispatch from Reuters' correspondent at the Greek capital, sent that evening. Greek reservists have taken the law in their own hands, despite the presence of strong entente detachments of police who are given virtually no assistance by the Greek authorities in maintaining order, the dispatch declares.

Twenty-five officers and 600 men of the Athens garrison have gone over to the national movement and left for Saloniki, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Athens.

Newspapers announce, with the message, that Jannis D. Greek Epiphany, has also gone over to the revolutionists, but official confirmation of this is lacking.

"Tonight," the message reads, "it is evident that the reservists are out of hand for despite the fact that strong cavalry forces are opposing the French and Greek marines and soldiers are spread about everywhere, the reservists, assembled in groups, have taken the law into their own hands and the Greek forces for the maintenance of order do not dispose of them."

The chief of the French police command has informed the editors of the anti-Venizelos press that beginning tomorrow the French will exercise a newspaper censorship and that newspapers printing anti-entente articles run the risk of suspension.

The foregoing, although bringing the news of developments in Athens only up to Wednesday night, is the latest report to be received on the situation there.

CLAIMS RECOGNITION OF NEW GREEK GOVERNMENT BY UNITED STATES

ATHENS, Oct. 19, via London.—The German newspapers today publish a report said to have been sent by the American consul at Saloniki to M. Politis, foreign minister of the provisional government established by former Premier Venizelos, expressing "the sincere hope of being able to continue with the de facto government, the cordial relations always heretofore existing between the authorities and this consulate."

The adherents of M. Venizelos claim that this constitutes recognition of the provisional government by the United States. The American minister, Garrett Thompson, denies that any consul has been authorized to do more than cultivate cordial relations with the de facto authorities in Mytilene and Crete as well as Saloniki.

BERLIN REPORTS TRENCHES TAKEN BY GERMANS ALONG SOMME

BERLIN, Oct. 20, by wireless to Sayville.—The greater part of the trenches on the road between Baccourt Fosse and La Barque, which were captured by the British on Oct. 10, were retaken yesterday by German troops in an attack, according to the official statement issued today at the German army headquarters.

Attacks made by British detachments to advance last night north of Compiègne and east of La Sere, the statement adds, failed.

In the last great attack against the German positions in the Somme region, the British used several tanks and three of them were destroyed by the German artillery fire, the statement declares.

Envy Is the Seed of Discontent

How often does one admire some possession of another and wish that she were as fortunate? This desire, unaccompanied with fulfillment, gives rise to discontent. ENTENTE FEARFUL OF THE EFFECT OF SUBMARINE OPERATIONS, SAYS BERLIN

BERLIN, Oct. 20, by wireless to Sayville.—That the entente is fearful of the effect of German submarine operations is regarded by the German press as clearly proved by the continuous agitation on the part of the entente press in an effort to induce the taking of measures by the United States against German submarine warfare near American waters, says an Overseas News agency announcement today.

"It is pointed out by the German newspapers that the submarine U-52, carried on cruise, and operated more than forty miles from the coast of the United States while British cruisers closely approached the coast at the three mile distance in seeking to destroy without warning a German commercial submarine, that was sailing."

The question asked by the press is: "Is it the Germans or the British who make war before the gates of the United States?" The newspapers observe further that submarine activity is exclusively a German-American and not a British-American matter."

SURPRISING REVELATION

Chief Medical Officer of Board of Education Says One-Sixth of England's Children are Defective

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Official figures of the Associated Parents' Federation, a body of parents' associations, which has been established for the purpose of securing a more complete knowledge of the physical condition of the children of the nation, has been revealed today. The report, which is a report just issued by the chief medical officer of the board of education, states that one-sixth of the children of the nation are defective.

awaken fears as to the nation's future as sharply as would news of a disastrous defeat of our arms." It makes the point that the waste referred to is preventable and that while it is being lessened by better housing, better labor conditions and purer and cheaper food, together with simpler medical facilities and sounder ideas in education and hygiene, that "the nation moves with incredible slowness."

Sir George Newman, the chief medical officer, at the conclusion of his report, indicates that a complete scheme is now practically ready that will enable the state to take entire charge of the child, mentally, physically and morally, with a view to preventing a future repetition of reports as disappointing as that just issued. The transformation is to be accomplished through the aid of several agencies.

The local education authorities, through their school medical service, have established a system of remedy and alleviation. Education committees, upon post-school conditions. In other words, if we are determined to rear a healthy and virile race of high capacity, we must, from a physical standpoint, begin earlier and continue later than the hitherto accepted period of education. What is needed, indeed, is an effective supervision and a sound and practical training of the body from the end of infancy to adolescence. It is said sometimes that in the interests of economy, that the state cannot afford such a complete scheme. My submission is that in the interests of economy, the state cannot afford to neglect a complete scheme."

OUTSIDE OWN TERRITORY

PEKING, Oct.—Nine million Chinese subjects are living outside of Chinese territory according to a census just compiled by the ministry of commerce and agriculture. India has attracted more Chinese than any single country. The census shows that there are 1,900,000 Chinese in India while Cochinchina ranks second with 1,740,000 Chinese. About the same number has settled in Siam, where they practically control important business and have become immensely wealthy. Five hundred thousand Chinese are living in Siberia and the same number are in the Malay Peninsula. Hongkong, an English colony, shelters 300,000 Chinese and 200,000 are living in Canada and Mexico.

The census estimates that 600,000 Chinese are residing in the United States and Europe, but no estimate is given as to the exact number in the United States.

AND ATHLETICSINFANTILE PARALYSIS AT HARVARD COLLEGEEDWIN GINN OF FOOTBALL

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Edwin Ginn, Harvard 1917, of Winchester, who has been playing football with the Harvard scrub team all fall, is at the Sullivan infirmary, the Harvard university hospital, with what the college physicians believe to be a mild case of infantile paralysis. He was taken to the infirmary last Tuesday and last night the college authorities made an official statement regarding the case.

Ginn, who is of the publishing family, was one of the squad that went to Ogunquit, Me., for the preliminary practice. His playing this fall has been confined to the second team, whose quarters are apart from those of the varsity men, although he has been on the field with the players daily.

Dr. Roger L. Lee, professor of hygiene at Harvard, states that the case is not considered alarming, and that the football team will continue not only to practice, but will meet the Massachusetts Agricultural college team in the Stadium on Saturday. The precaution has been taken to inject the patient with serum, although no real paralysis has developed. Ginn was reported as doing very well.

The football squad has been instructed to keep close to Cambridge for two weeks, and both the first and second teams will be obliged to have all their meals together at the Harvard Varsity club. Ginn's roommate, Ham Robb, assistant manager of the football team, has been quarantined.

WORKOUT IN RAIN

Tigers Prepare for Hard Battle With
Dartmouth a Week From Tomorrow

PRINCETON, Oct. 20.—The heavy rainstorm which swept over Princeton all night and yesterday and converted University Field into a sea of mud did not keep the Tigers from having a hard workout in the afternoon.

Rush had his charges in the baseball cage part of the time to go over their signals and try out a couple of new plays and then brought them out in the open where a dummy scrimmage and then a brief period of active play followed. It was another day of hard work, for with the rain, the game has been postponed a week from Saturday and with reports coming from Hanover of a team much stronger than last year, the Tiger mentor is beginning to get away from fundamentals and concentrate his efforts on bringing about more concerted team play. Lafayette, which plays here Saturday, is also expected to have a more powerful team than last season.

SOME FIGURES
TO FANS

A review of the major league baseball season, which ended with the playing of the recent world's series, discloses a number of rather unusual features.

The pennant races in both the National and American leagues were closer and better sustained than has been the case for some years. In the American league every club, with the exception of St. Louis and Philadelphia, led the league at week-ends, one or more times; while the same honor fell to only three clubs in the National league, first place being held in every case by either Brooklyn, Philadelphia or Boston.

From figures compiled from the official box score, it is shown that Brooklyn, the pennant winner, was second in the total number of runs scored in the senior league, with New York first and Philadelphia third.

Brooklyn made the greatest number of hits during the season, with Cincinnati second and New York third.

Brooklyn made the least number of errors, with Cincinnati second in this respect and Philadelphia third.

Brooklyn had more players left on bases than any other club in the National league, with Pittsburgh second and Cincinnati third.

In the American league the pennant-winning Boston club scored less runs than all but two of its rivals, the exceptions being Philadelphia and Washington.

The Red Sox also collected less hits than any of the other clubs except the Athletics. On the other hand, Cincinnati's players made fewer errors than any of the other seven clubs, while the Philadelphia combination made the most.

St. Louis had the least number left on bases, while Detroit holds the record for stranded players in the Junior league.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 20.—Ben Earl, the 2007 gelding, owned by Edward Peterson of Omaha, took first money in the Grand Circuit's $3000 Pacing Hotel Cup chase pacing race in straight heats here yesterday. Coming in for second, third and fourth places respectively were Spring Maid second in two heats; Young Todd and Peter Pointer, Peter Pointer, driven by "Pop" Geers, was a poor fourth in each of the heats. The best time was made in the third heat, when Ben Earl, piloted by Childs, placed in 2:06 1/4.

The most sensational performance was the 2:07 class pacing, won by Altwood, the little gray mare took the first, second and fourth heats, her best time being in the second, 2:07 1/4. Birdsong, driven by Stout, fought every inch of the way.

The 2:18 class trotting was won by Ridgemark, though Trusada, driven by Cox, won the opening heat. Ben Earl came out between scheduled events in an attempt to lower the track record of 2:05 1/4, made by Goldie Oast Tuesday, and covered the oval in 2:04 1/2. The summary:

THE BROOKLYN CLUB IS NOT YET SOLD

FRED EBBETS SAYS THAT HE WILL NOT MAKE SACRIFICE BUT WILL ACCEPT REASONABLE OFFER

Charles H. Ebbets and his associates have not yet sold the Brooklyn club of the National league. After a conference with some prospective purchasers Mr. Ebbets remarked: "Very much in the dark."

He added: "If this broker brings the men he represents to me with a certified check for $250, a reasonable amount of the purchase price, to show good faith, we will be glad to talk business. But he made no definite engagement with me, although he seems to have told the newspaper men of a specific time."

"The club is for sale, as I have said before, but at our own price. I am anxious to take a rest, but I do not propose to make a sacrifice and am not so anxious to sell that I will part with the club for one penny less than it is worth.

"It is not altogether fair to make a comparison with the price we want for the Brooklyn club and the one of $200,000 paid for the Yankees. The New York club of the American league sold a franchise and some players, but nothing else. It had no real estate; it had no home of its own.

"The Brooklyn club owns a valuable piece of property in the Flatbush district, which has increased materially in value since we purchased it, and which will increase even more when the new subway reaches our door.

"The stands could not be built these days, with the big jump in steel, at anything like what it cost us, and we have a team which, with a little strengthening here and there, is sure to be a strong contender, even if it does not repeat and again win the National league pennant. All these things must be considered."

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

Larry Burns, the bigged Lawrence lightweight, has been matched to box Harry Pierce of New York in the feature bout before the members of the 70th Century A. C. of Pittsfield, Oct. 20. Burns has been out of the game nearly a year on account of illness and fans will watch with interest the result of his first bout.

Young Sadow of Chelsea and Kid Thomas of Lawrence will box at Gloucester next Monday night in a twelve round bout. Gardner Brooks, the local boxer, has defeated both of these boys and would like to meet the winner if such a bout could be arranged.

Tommy Reagan and Young Britt will probably be seen in action at the Commercial A. C. of Boston in the near future.

Harry Carlson is due to meet Larry Hansen tonight at Boston and should be in fine condition for his bout with Pinney Boyle next Thursday at Lawrence.

Battling Levinsky of New York and Jack Dillon of Indianapolis, two of the best big men in the world will meet for the ninth time at the Boston arena Tuesday night in a twelve round fight to a decision. Dillon has beaten Levinsky every time a decision by the referee depended upon the outcome so it will not be a surprise if the "Giant Killer" defeats the "Battler" when they meet.

Young Chakas of Manchester has resumed ring activities and the other night gave Joe Carroll, the Lawrence fighter, a sound whaling at Derry, N. H. Chakas in shape will give any of the lightweights a merry battle before being subdued as he is a fast two-handed fighter always carrying the fight to his opponent.

Kid Williams and Al Shubert had a hard battle over in Philadelphia the other evening and after the bout opinions differed as to which man won. Below is a list of newspapers and how their writers viewed the fight.

Associated Press—Draw.

International News—Draw.

Ledger News Bureau—Shubert.

Philadelphia Enquirer—Draw.

Philadelphia Public Ledger—Shubert by slight margin.

Williams, 2; Shubert, 0; draw, 2.

Tommy Carson, former Lawrence boxer now living in Hartford, Conn., has been matched to meet Sammy Waltz at Meriden, Conn., Oct. 21. Carson was a very good performer in Lawrence rings and his fights with Howard Meitaz, Joe Carroll and Pinney Boyle will long be remembered by those who witnessed the encounters.

Young Britt and Al Shubert, both of New Bedford are signed for a return bout at the Armory A. A. of Boston on the night of Oct. 31 in one of the twelve round bouts. The other bout has yet to be chosen. Britt gave Shubert quite a whaling the last time they met and Al has been bounding him for a return bout ever since.

All Lowell fans will watch Jimmy Gardner's attempted comeback with interest as Jimmy was one of the most popular boxers ever turned out in this part of the country. Gardner was also one of the cleverest men that ever pulled on a padded mitt as his record will prove. He met the best of them and only on a few rare occasions he lost the verdict. Frank Khan won over Gardner in his Jimmy's last start in three rounds at Boston in June, 1911.

CORNELL SECOND TEAM
OF SCRUBS

ITHACA, Oct. 20.—In the last scrimmage before the Bucknell game, the Cornell varsity yesterday bowed in defeat for the first time this year to the scrubs, three touchdowns to one. The scrubs' victory was due to the wonderful running of the second team backfield. Quarterback Speed and Halfbacks Bretz and Hauke. The varsity was crippled by the absence of two regulars.

The first two scores were made by Hauke, the first following a 50-yard run by Speed, the second following a costly fumble by Fritz Silverick on the varsity 10-yard line. The last scrub score was made by Speed, following a straight march down the field. Silverick scored the varsity touchdown following hard line plugging by the varsity backs, especially Capt. Mueller.

The varsity ends, Ryerson and Zander, left half Benedict, Miller, right guard, who have been on the injured squad most of the week, are expected to start the game against Bucknell. In yesterday's practice Left Tackle Gillies was temporarily shifted to left end and Clarence Tilley, the last year's tackle, played at the other wing position.

For the second time in a week the big undergraduate mass meeting on Schoolcraft field was postponed on account of rain. The playing of the second backs yesterday made it practically certain that they will be used in the big games against Harvard, Michigan and Pennsylvania this year.

MEETING OF THE WILSON MANSFIELD LEAGUE

The first meeting of the Wilson-Mansfield league of the 5th congressional district was held in headquarters at the Associated Building last night with a large attendance of leading democrats of Lowell and suburbs and many active labor men.

The meeting was called to order by Major Robert Crowley and reports were heard from various parts of the district relative to the work of organizing for election day. Major Crowley said that the National Wilson club had decided to organize state and congressional clubs to work in cooperation for ultimate success, believing this to be more satisfactory than if the work were carried on from one central body. He urged personal work among the voters and advocated the welding of city and town committees so that the best results could be obtained. The district has been canvassed thoroughly and the various democratic leaders are alive to the importance of the work ahead.

In Lowell the democratic city committee with Cornelius Cronin at its head had organized ward committees for the purpose of carrying on an active campaign for the entire ticket. Announcement was made last evening that Humphrey O'Sullivan has succeeded in securing a splendid group of speakers for the three big rallies to be held in Associated hall during the next few weeks. On the night of Oct. 21

the speakers will include Judge Thomas S. Hogan, attorney general of Illinois, Hon. A. L. Thurman, solicitor of the department of commerce and grand-son of the late Allen Thurman and District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier of Boston.

On Oct. 21 at Associated hall the speakers will include Congressman Fitzgerald of New York, house chairman of the committee on ways and means and one of the most eloquent speakers in congress; Hon. Frederick W. Mansfield, Mayor Cutler of Boston and Judge Thomas P. Riley of Malden. It is expected that William M. Osgood, one of the original progressives of the city will preside.

On the evening of Nov. 6 the speakers will include former Mayor Barton of Melrose, Attorney General Thomas J. Boynton and former Congressman Joseph A. Kelleher of Boston. Frank Verhoek, labor leader of Lowell, remarked that the Trades and Labor council of the city had unanimously endorsed Mr. Mansfield for governor and has planned to conduct a labor rally in his interest during the first part of next month. Mr. Mansfield will speak on that occasion.

Brief addresses were made last evening by Mr. O'Sullivan, Mr. Cronin, John P. Hawks, Michael Lee of the Carpenters' union and Mr. Young of the Machinists' union. It was decided to keep the headquarters open daily so that meetings of ward committees and other organizations may gather there at their convenience. The next meeting will be at the call of the chair.

FAY CHAMPION SHOT

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 20.—Out-shooting 653 competitors at the national rifle tournament here yesterday, Capt. W. Garland Fay, United States Marine corps, won the title of individual military champion rifle shot of the United States. Capt. Fay's score in the contest, which is known as the president's match, was 290 out of a possible 300 points.

W. H. Richards of New Haven, Conn., Quinapiac club, finished second with 285 points, and G. W. Chesley of the same club was third with 285 points.

YALE IS FAVORITE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 20.—A rain-soaked afternoon and unfavorable weather conditions served as a heavy handicap to Yale and Virginia Polytechnic Institute in their first football game here this afternoon. On the strength of comparative records Yale was a warm favorite. The game was scheduled for today because the bowl will be used tomorrow for the pageant commemorating the 20th anniversary of the removal of Yale from Saybrook to New Haven.

Yale was weakened by the absence of Capt. Black and Sheldon who have minor injuries. The Blue started with a new center, Hutchinson, who previously has played fullback.

DONOVAN BOXER GETS DRAW

DONOVAN SIGNS AGAIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Wild Bill Donovan, who has managed the Yankees for the last two seasons, yesterday signed a new contract to manage the team during the season of 1917. The papers were signed after a conference between Donovan and Capt. T. L. Huston at the Hotel Endicott. Both Capt. Huston and his partner in the ownership of the Yanks, Col. Jack Ruppert, were well pleased with Donovan's managerial work during the last season.

The Yanks have decided to train again at Macon, Ga., where they trained last season. This will be the first time in the history of the club that they have trained at the same southern resort two years in succession.

STAR PLAYER INELIGIBLE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—William Neill, star guard on the University of Pennsylvania football team, was declared ineligible yesterday by the faculty committee on athletics because he had played three years on the Whitman college team of Walla Walla, Wash., before coming to Pennsylvania. Neill was a regular on last year's Pennsylvania team and therefore had played four years of college football, according to the ruling.

Coch. Patwell declared that Whitman college only recently had been raised to the college rating and that Neill's eligibility had not been questioned until this week.

ARTHUR GLASGOW

Plant Juice is designed for just that purpose—to assist Nature. It is a remedy that puts the stomach in perfect condition, thus acting directly on the blood, liver and kidneys. Not a day passes but what testimonials from local people are received in the cities where Plant Juice has been introduced, giving glowing accounts of how they have been restored to health.

Only recently the following signed testimonial was received from Mr. Arthur Glasgow, of No. 247 Dutton street, a well known retired business man of this city, having lived here for the past 26 years and who has hosts of friends and acquaintances. Mr. Glasgow was a member of Co. I, 4th Regiment, Massachusetts Cavalry, under Gen. Sheridan and is prominent in G. A. R. circles. He stated:

"For 25 years I have suffered with my stomach, and my food fermented and caused gas to form; I had no appetite and was very dizzy at times; had severe pains around my heart; from gas and always felt tired and 'all played out.' I could not sleep at night and felt as tired in the morning as when I went to bed at night; my liver and kidneys were affected and I had terrible pains in my back and side, was also badly constipated and had tried dozens of medicines, which only gave me temporary relief. As soon as I began to take Plant Juice I felt immediate benefit and since I have continued to take it for several weeks I feel like a new man. I can eat anything I want without the slightest distress, sleep well at night and feel refreshed and rested in the morning. Plant Juice has made life worth living for me and I am glad to make this public statement, endorsing it to others."

The Plant Juice Man is at Dows, the Druggists, in Merrimack Square, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. On Saturdays he will remain at the store until 10 p. m. to meet those who are unable to call during the day.

"How long should a formal call last and should the caller remove her wraps?" asked Mabel.

"Formal calls last from fifteen to twenty minutes and one should not remove her wraps as a general rule," answered her mother.

"Please tell me whether a man should use the prefix 'Mr.' on his cards, also whether his card should be larger or smaller than a lady's?" was the query of Robert.

"Yes, the prefix 'Mr.' should be used on a man's card and it should be smaller than the card of a lady," said his sister.

"Please tell me whether it is correct to congratulate a young lady upon her engagement or should such congratulations be given only to the man?" inquired Gladys.

"The bride usually decides on the style and making of her bridesmaid's gowns, and it is always well to select colors and materials that it may be possible for their wearers to use again," said her aunt.

"My husband and I are planning to entertain a number of friends at dinner to meet a visitor. How shall I word the invitations?" asked Mrs. Newby.

"I should write them in this way," suggested her friend: "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith request the honor of your company at dinner on Wednesday, May the fifteenth, at eight o'clock, to meet Mr. George Brown."

"Will you please tell me the proper etiquette on leaving cards when an invitation has been extended to you?" asked Maud.

"The rule is to leave a card for every woman whose name appears on the invitation, and if the hostess is a married woman, a man guest invariably leaves a card for her husband also. A woman, however, never leaves her card for the man of the house," answered her mother.

AMERICAN SCHOONER IS CAPTURED BY BRITISH

THE RICHARD W. CLARK FROM NEW BEDFORD TAKEN INTO GRIMSBY

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The American fishing schooner Richard W. Clark has been captured in the waters around Iceland and taken to Grimsby.

The Clark measures 503 gross tons, and is owned by A. A. Corey of New Bedford, Mass.

Late in August the American fishing schooner Maxine Elliott and Lizzie Griffin were seized while fishing off the coast of Iceland, and taken to Lerwick, Shetland Islands, but were later released.

NEW BEDFORD, Oct. 20.—The schooner Richard W. Clark, reported captured in the waters of Iceland and taken to Grimsby, was a three-masted coasting vessel. The Clark made trips from this port to Dominica, Las Palmas and Fayal, carrying supplies to the whaling fleet and bringing home the catch of the whalers. After her return with the catch this summer she was sold to New York parties for $10,000, which was $500 more than it cost to build her seven years ago. At the time it was understood that the Clark was to be used in the transatlantic freight service. It is not believed here that the big coaster was engaged in fishing, as intimated in the report of her capture. The Clark was built at Phippsburg, Me., in 1909, by F. S. Bowker. She is 145 feet long, 33 feet beam and has a draft of 13 feet. She was formerly owned in this city, and was commanded by Captain A. A. Corey.

SUFFRAGISTS ATTACKED PRES. WILSON TALKS TO BY WILSON SUPPORTERS NEW CITIZENS IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—President Wilson's visit to Chicago yesterday was marked by a riot in which about a hundred women, members of the national woman's party, were attacked, knocked down, trampled and badly used by a mob that objected to their banners advising women not to vote for President Wilson because he is against woman suffrage.

The suffragists were staging a "silent protest." They were ranged around the Congress hotel, some in automobiles and others on foot. They did not utter a word, but held up their banners.

President Wilson was seated in an automobile a few hundred feet away when the demonstration started, but passed into the building and was not a witness to the scene that followed. As the president's automobile drew up to the hotel, an automobile loaded with women from the woman's party began to shout and yell. They carried a large multi-colored banner, bearing the inscription: "Women voters—Vote against President Wilson. He opposes national woman suffrage."

In the car were Mrs. Minnie E. Brooke of Chevy Chase, Md., Mrs. A. R. Colvin of St. Paul, Minn., and Miss Caroline Kallenstein of Philadelphia. In other autos and on foot were nearly a hundred women from Chicago and nearby cities.

Stunt for Attack
A Wilson woman dashed up to the leading auto, hooked her umbrella through the lattice and tore it to shreds, after which she shouted "Shame" and "Disgrace" at the banner bearers. This was the signal for a general attack by the Wilson women upon all banners and their bearers. The suffragists fought back as best they could, but were outnumbered 10 to one, and were vanquished.

Hair was pulled. Clothing was torn. Eyes and faces were scratched and stung. The women kicked, clawed and screamed at each other, then when it was all over the street cleaners gathered up a large assortment of face veils, combs, hair pins, bits of clothing, three old shoes, vanity cases, a number of coins and other debris.

Riot Call Sent In

urged the women to "Get the banners" and "Smash the suffragists," both of which were done very effectively. A riot call was next in, but the police could do little beyond rescuing the disheveled suffragists, who were sorry-looking spectacles.

The excitement continued until all the banners had been seized. With disheveled hair and soiled and torn clothing, the women marched back to their headquarters under police guard.

Charges Police Looked On

Charges that the police sympathized with the rioters and failed to protect the demonstrators were made by Mrs. Josephine Pearce and Mrs. E. L. Mattice, officials of the local woman's Republican club.

"There were all kinds of policemen standing about merely looking on, not moving a hand," said Mrs. Pearce. "Some of them didn't seem to want to help us. I saw a policeman deliberately stand nearby and laugh at us while we were being beaten and the banners torn from our hands."

"We were merely standing quiet, holding our banners and not harming anyone. Suddenly there was a regular riot. They grabbed our banners, trampled on them and knocked us down. It was terrible."

Like Attacks on Parade

Members of the Congressional union compared the scene at the demonstration with the suffrage parade in Washington the day before President Wilson was inaugurated. "The disgraceful attack upon the suffrage demonstration is similar to the attack by mobs upon the great suffrage parade," Mr. Wilson is unfortunate that he runs the risk of going out of office to the same time by which he entered," said Mrs. A. R. Colvin, Minnesota state chairman of the Congressional union.

Miss Alice Paul, national chairman of the Congressional union, characterized it as an attack by democrats. "The violent attack by democrats upon the demonstration shows the seriousness with which they take our campaign," she said. "Evidently they feel the weakness of President Wilson's suffrage position when they resort to such violence to prevent his hostility to national woman suffrage being revealed to the people of Chicago."

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—President Wilson, speaking to a new citizens' meeting here last night, declared that foreign born citizens of the United States should put their American allegiance above all others. He praised the ideals that brought new citizens to the United States, and outlined his belief that in the determination of the future of the world after the present war, America will play an important part.

During a strenuous 12 hours in Chicago, the president addressed a gathering of women as "fellow citizens," upheld the principle of the eight-hour day, and urged that progressives of all parties work for a broader American.

When the president began to address a new citizens' meeting last night, the audience stood and cheered for more than five minutes.

Future Depends on Loyalty

"I come here tonight to address those who have finally sworn allegiance to the United States," said the president, "but I realize that I cannot do so without speaking to my own conscience and the conscience of the other people of the nation."

He pointed out that the new citizens had chosen their new allegiance. "I have not the faintest doubt," he added, "that some distinctions have been drawn. A man or woman who becomes a citizen of the United States is not expected to give up his or her love for the country of their birth."

"But people who come to this country are expected to put their allegiance above every other allegiance. It puts an obligation on them."

"The future of this country depends on the self-control and loyalty of its citizens. Only by the consciousness of loyalty felt in every breath of the heart can you become true citizens."

Should Not Live by Selves
A free self-governing people does not need to be watched.

"Say it again," people in the crowd shouted often as he spoke of the need for loyalty.

It is necessary that new citizens who come to this country should not live by themselves. That is important to the country here.

"The strength of a nation does not rest so much in its thinking as in its feeling. Outside the heart there is no life. You must see to it that you do not hold aloof."

"You must remember that the United States has a great part to play in the world. Can you imagine a nation made up to play a great part in the world? Outside the heart there is no life. You must see to it that you do not hold aloof."

May Interpret Thought of World
"I like to think that in the days to come America may interpret the thought of the world. I like to think that the only things that disturb America are not things which interfere with her ambitions, but with her sympathies."

"I like to think that when it comes to the settlement of the present war we shall be able to assist in interpreting the needs of the future."

He declared he did not mean the United States should have any part in determining the terms of settlement. He spoke of the fact that many Americans are drawn from Germany, Ireland, England, France, Italy, Spain and many other nations.

Welcome to Great Partnership
"Let us never allow ourselves to do things against our ideals," he continued. "Let us never allow ourselves to want a single foot of foreign territory. Let us stand by the little nations that need to be stood by. Let us show that we are not interested in the geography of politics. Let us show that we want no boundaries to the rights of mankind."

"I believe in you as I would have you believe in America. Have you come here to read or a lesson, but merely to bid you welcome to a great partnership."

PRESS CLUB SPEECH
Wilson Predicts the Beginning of a Renaissance of the Sense of Patriotic Responsibility

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—In his speech before the Chicago Press club, the president predicted the beginning of "a renaissance of the sense of patriotic responsibility," and urged the development of progressiveness.

"I am particularly interested in something that we are just doing, to which you gentlemen of the press do not seem to have paid much attention. You are singularly imaginative sometimes. I mean in the appointment of those seven men whom I selected the other day to be associated with the national council of defense. They are the nerves by which the government is to reach the professions and industries which the government must learn how the duty of supplying the government in case of necessity can be best distributed among them so as to bring all resources to the assistance of the nation."

"I predict that this is the beginning of a renaissance in this country of the sense of patriotic duty and a patriotic influence of relationship. I believe it is going to lead to a kind of co-operation and a kind of development and a kind of enterprise in times of peace which we have never known before."

ADDRESS TO WOMEN
President Doesn't Mention Suffrage—Introduced by Mrs. Ella Flagg Young—Jane Addams in Box

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—At the invitation of women the president was introduced by Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, former superintendent of Chicago's schools who declared he had kept the United States generally at peace. Miss Jane Addams, who recently came out for four, sat in a box.

The president defined his message to the women as follows:

"Society is now organizing its whole power in order that it may understand itself, in order that it may have civilization and its instruments of civilization, and I am ambitious that America should show the way to this great enterprise."

He did not touch on votes for women.

The president declared that some of the difficulties in the foreign relationships of the United States have been due to the fact that other nations have not realized that this nation was disinterested. "When the nations of the world come to love America," he said, "they will play and follow America."

Cheered in Streets

The president was cheered by throngs in the streets during his automobile rides from place to place, and in halls where he spoke. He stood constantly in his automobile while passing through the crowds, and smilingly waved his hat to the people on the streets and in the windows of buildings.

Mrs. Wilson accompanied the president. She was dressed in black and wore a large bouquet of orchids and violets.

Between his speech to the women and his night address, the president went to the western democratic campaign headquarters and for the first time witnessed the details of the machinery used in an effort to re-elect him. Afterward the president had a brief conference with Senator Walsh and was told that a decided swing had set in in the west for the democratic ticket.

SCHOOL TEACHERS MAY MARRY

BERLIN, Oct.—The magistracy and school board of Berlin-Schoenberg have decided that women school teachers who marry during the war shall be retained in office and receive the pay drawn by them before. It will also be endeavored to secure for them the increased pay granted from state funds for length of service. The authorities explain that "the situation created by the war makes it more and more requisite to encourage marriage."

Schoenberg's action is a step in advance of any other Prussian city. Others, including Berlin proper, permitted women teachers married to soldiers in the first days of the conflict to retain their positions, but they have not gone farther. Scientific men are advocating the removal of any limitation on the marriage of women teachers.

Dr. Felix Theilhaber, a well-known authority on social and sociological subjects, recently directed attention to the fact that nearly 20 per cent of all women in Berlin forty years old are single, a number almost double that of a generation ago.

HUGHES AND HIS WAR LORD

Candidate Hughes says a vote for him will not mean a vote for war. Ah! Mr. Hughes is hedging on the effect of his early campaign, the speeches of Root and of Roosevelt. It is alleged that should Hughes be elected he will make Roosevelt secretary of war. Would that mean war? Well, yes, if Roosevelt had any say in the matter. He is the most dangerous man in this country today and he is at the same time the greatest campaign asset of the republican party. He is the war lord of this country, the kaiser of the United States, so to speak. At least that's about his own opinion of himself. He caused the defeat of the republican party four years ago and now after basely betraying the progressives, he is out to show the old party that with his aid it can elect a president. All this is to prove that Theodore Roosevelt is bigger than the republican party.

Despite his abuse of Hughes the latter received the colonel with open arms and paid him every honor. Who, under such circumstances can say that should Hughes be elected Col. Roosevelt will not dictate his policies? Is it not probable that Roosevelt will get the position in the cabinet that is most to his liking? That is the office of secretary of war. With Roosevelt as secretary of war or secretary of state who could keep this nation out of war? Not Mr. Hughes; not even congress. But the people of this country do not want war unless it is forced upon them in defense of their rights, and that is why they are going to re-elect President Wilson, who has steered the ship of state through the most dangerous reefs and has compelled Germany to respect the American flag and vessels bearing American citizens on the high seas.

MR. MANSFIELD'S CAMPAIGN

Candidate Mansfield, the democratic nominee for governor, is conducting a vigorous campaign throughout the state, advocating support of the national and state tickets and democratic policies generally.

Mr. Mansfield is an able speaker and he handles Governor McCall in a manner that will undoubtedly appeal to republicans as requiring some form of defense.

He has brought to the attention of the farmers, the fact that Gov. McCall has failed to fulfill the promises made to the agricultural interests a year ago. Mr. Mansfield points out these promises seriatim and shows how the governor ignored them. He specifies the milk question in particular and has promised that if elected he will advocate legislation that will give the farmers a better price for their milk and at the same time reduce the price to the consumer. This, he conceives, will be possible by restricting the profits of the milk contractors who are largely responsible for the high price of milk.

Mr. Mansfield presented strong arguments showing that the farming interests have been ill treated on the milk question and other matters and that as a result, many farmers had to sell their cattle. This, as Mr. Mansfield proved, led to an impoverishment of the soil and the ultimate abandonment of some of the farms.

There is certainly an issue here with which Gov. McCall will have to deal in one way or another if he expects to split the agricultural vote with Mr. Mansfield. It is refreshing to have a man so sincere as Mr. Mansfield come out and tell the farmers how their interests can best be promoted.

U-53 CONTROVERSY

The allies are waiting for our government to lay down a definite policy on the admission of armed submarines to American ports, the question having been brought up by the visit of the German submarine U-53 and her subsequent sinking of certain vessels off Nantucket. The submarine was treated as would be a war vessel of any other type and there the matter has been dropped though the allies apparently want our government to bar armed submarines from such visits. In reply to their note Norway has announced that she will permit armed submarines to traverse Norwegian waters only in case of emergency and then they must remain on the surface and fly the national flag. Merchant submarines are to be allowed in Norwegian waters only in a surface position in full daylight and when flying the national colors.

The British government makes much of the U-53 entering port and getting information from newspapers which is a breach of international law relative to visits of belligerent warships to neutral ports. The question is also asked whether American commanders of destroyers acceded to the request of the German submarine commander to get out of the way so as to allow him room to blow up the captured ships.

Evidently there are many technical questions involved in this whole matter, which only complete investigation can clear up. The state department at Washington will weigh well all the facts in the case before making a final statement on the point at issue.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

The medical profession has been greatly encouraged by the reported discovery of the germ of infantile paralysis by Dr. Furrows of the Johns Hopkins University. It appears that enough has been demonstrated by the numerous autopsies to show that the germs work in the intestines. How they get there has not yet been determined; but in all probability they may be conveyed in food or drink the same as typhoid germs.

The progress made towards finding the origin of this dread disease has inspired strong hopes that further investigation will soon discover the remedy. Never have so many scientific investigations sought with such earnestness, the origin of any disease as have been brought to bear upon this mysterious malady so puzzling in its origin and its spread. Some doctors of high standing still doubt the claim that the disease is contagious, but not being able to prove this they hold to the quarantine regulations. Until such times as the medical profession can cast more light upon the disease, it is well to adopt every known precaution.

If, as is alleged, the fourteen cases found paralyzed by the humane society suffered from "poliomyelitis" or infantile paralysis, that fact should interest the medical profession as showing a possibility of spreading the germs together with an opportunity to study the peculiarities of the disease in the lower animals.

THE IRISH SITUATION

Mr. Redmond, the Irish leader, has forced the British government to show its hand on the Irish question. As the coalition ministry was formed to conduct the war and avoid all controversial issues, during the war, the refusal of the government to reopen the question was not a surprise. Lloyd George, as well as Premier Asquith, voiced the wish of the government to put the home rule act in operation provided the Irish people north and south can agree upon the application of the measure to the whole of Ireland. Judging from recent utterances among the Ulster men, unless something occurs to reopen the breach, they will soon reach the point at which they will join hands with the Nationalists for a peaceful and self-governing Ireland.

At a recent meeting in Ireland Dr. Plunket, Protestant bishop of Tuam, said:

"I feel the days coming when we can all join hands and make a nation of this country; but mark you, a united nation with such a big heart that she will be able to absorb men of all churches and classes north as well as south."

If nothing further occurs to stir up the enmity of the government, the home rule act will take effect after the war, if not before. The coalition ministry will go out of power and the question of giving six counties of Ulster a referendum on the home rule act will be settled by the new parliament. The bill on the statute books will remain intact. The national party has no fear whatever of the outcome of a home rule referendum in Ulster.

POOR TRAIN SERVICE

There is considerable complaint among business men, lawyers especially, relative to the train service on the Boston and Maine between Lowell and Boston. Several of the trains from the north are habitually late. If that is the condition in fine weather, what will happen in case of a storm? Lawyers complain that the train scheduled to leave Lowell at 3:36 a. m. is often from fifteen to twenty minutes late. This prevents lawyers from filing early engagements in law cases. They cannot rely upon any of the trains from the north being on time. This state of affairs often causes great inconvenience and disappointment. The 3:55 train from Lowell in the afternoon is often from twenty to twenty-five minutes late. There is a train from Lowell to Boston at 3:30 p. m. on Saturdays that proves very serviceable because it leaves on time. Why not run this train on the other business days of the week? It is certainly much needed partly because of the aggravating delays of the 3:55 train.

It would seem that the Boston and

SLIGHT DIFFERENCE

The anti-Wilson editorials in the Courier-Citizen are so much in accord with those of the German "Fatherland" of New York that one who did not know different might suppose they were written in the same office or even by the same hand. President Wilson has already expressed his opinion of these attacks. The Courier-Citizen, however, differs from the Fatherland in one point. It says Wilson surrenders while the Fatherland's chief animus against Wilson is, that he forced Germany to surrender her submarine policy so far as it violated the rights of this nation.

ASSOCIATED PRESS WAR NEWS

The war news furnished by the Associated Press stands unquestioned by any of the belligerents because only authentic news is sent out by the correspondents in addition to the "official statements" issued by the various belligerents. These are sometimes as far from the truth as anything the Hearst papers printed; but for this the Associated Press is not responsible.

SUPPORT THE TICKET

The local democrats should wake up to the necessity of loyally supporting all their candidates at the coming election. There seems to be a lack of the old time activity, due perhaps to the absence of any local contest of towering interest. Nevertheless, it is the duty of every democrat to be counted in support of his party ticket.

Now that His Honor, the mayor, and the superintendent of police have taken steps to prevent drunkenness in the hotels on Sunday, would it not be well to give a little closer inspection to the places not having a fourth class license, that are in the habit of dispensing pints and half pints, just before closing time on Saturday nights? Perhaps if this practice were stopped there might be less drunkenness on Sundays.

Of all the malefactors the mind can conceive, very few, if any, are more contemptible than the autoist who runs down a pedestrian and leaves him mangled. It may be dying, on the road. The police of every city should co-operate with the state highway commission in keeping these conscienceless marauders off the public highways.

It is reported from the suburbs that apples are being allowed to fall from the trees and in many cases rot upon the ground for want of men to pick them. The men who seek work on farms nowadays want from $2 to $2.50 per day and some of the farmers find it unprofitable to pay that rate of wages.

Gentlemen, it should be the business of some municipal department to see that no tree growing on private land along a public street or road will be allowed to menace those who may use that street or road. The Parker street accident is a case in point.

The porter of a small hotel being attacked by illness while on duty, his kind employer sent him upstairs to bed and called a physician. When the doctor came down after having attended his patient, the proprietor asked:

"Well, doctor, how did you find him?" he asked.

"He's coming down with the grip," was the doctor's reply.

"If he does, I'll send him back to bed. I warned him not to lug any more baggage today!"

Second ditto—You're right. What's the best thing to do with it?

"Let's have it dug up for a sewer."

"But wouldn't it be proper to pave it first?"

"Of course; I thought you would understand that. Then, after it is paved and a drain put in we'll have it repaved."

"All in readiness to be dug up again for the gaspipe? I see you understand the principle of municipal economy. And after we have had it repaved for the second time, then what?"

"Well, then it will be ready for widening. There's nothing I admire so much as system in the care and improvement of our roadways."

You Bet He Is

A woman missionary in China was taking tea with a mandarin's eight wives. The Chinese ladies examined her clothing, her hair, her teeth, and so on, but her feet especially amazed them.

"Why," cried one, "you can walk and run as well as man."

"Yes, to be sure," said the missionary.

"Can you ride a horse and swim, too?"

"Yes."

"Then you must be as strong as a man."

"I am."

"And you wouldn't let a man beat you—not even if he were your husband—would you?"

"Indeed I wouldn't," the missionary said.

"Now I understand why the foreign devil never has more than one wife. He is afraid."

MANSFIELD QUESTIONS M'CALL

BOSTON, Oct. 26.—Frederick W. Mansfield, democratic candidate for governor, in rallies yesterday at Gardner, Athol and Orange, hurled battery after battery of questions at Governor McCall and demanded that he state his position on the milk question and the railroad situation.

8-Hour Law Question
"Where do you stand, Governor McCall, on the 8-hour law?" he asked. "Are you in favor of the universal 8-hour day? Are you in favor of the Adamson bill, for which your friend Joe Cannon and 69 other republicans voted? If you are not for it, are you against it? If you are against it, why are you against it?"

"Do you take the same position that Mr. Hughes does, that you are in favor of the 8-hour day but against its enforcement?"

"Before you were elected, Governor McCall, you declared in many speeches that you believed in encouraging agriculture and that necessary laws to that effect would be enacted. What have you or the republican legislature done to carry out this policy?"

Queries on Milk Problem
"You stated that an immediate settlement of the milk problem which should be just to the farmer and the consumer was necessary. What have you done to carry out this policy? You promised to deal energetically with the problem if the people elected a republican governor, and what have you done to substantiate this promise?"

"You promised to open the Boston milk market to producers and to have weekly lists published containing quotations on milk the same as other farm products. But what have you done to carry out this promise? You promised to hold conferences with the farmers and milk producers in an attempt to solve the problem so that the farmers would get more money for their product and the consumer would have to pay less. What have you done to keep this promise?"

Claim Promises Unkept
"You promised that the republican legislature would grapple with the problem of what became of the excess being paid for milk by the consumers over what the farmer receives. What have you done to keep that promise?"

"I charge that you even refused to send messages to the legislature when you were asked to do so by those representing the best interests of the farmer and milk producer of the state. But not one of these pre-election promises was kept."

FILM BARRED IN MILFORD
MILFORD, Oct. 26.—The selection here of the film "Where Are My Children?" Dr. Thomas J. Nugent, the chairman, said its production here would neither give wholesome entertainment nor serve any good moral purpose. The production was announced for Milford on Oct. 30-31.

MAYORS SUGGESTS SUNDAY RULES FOR HOTELS

A conference having to do with the sale of liquor in local hotels on Sunday was held in the mayor's reception room at city hall yesterday afternoon. Present at the conference were 14 council commissioners Charles H. Hanson, Thomas P. Boulger and George E. Putnam and Supt. of Police Rodmond Welch. Various opinions were offered and suggestions by the mayor as to the form of procedure were finally agreed upon and these suggestions will be given the hotel keepers in the form of demands at a meeting to be held in the rooms of the license commission in the Market street building this evening.

HON. JAMES E. O'DONNELL, Mayor

The hotel men will be told that the sandwich must no longer serve as an excuse for Sunday liquor selling, and the burden of proof shall be put upon the licensed liquor dealers. The superintendent of police will be instructed to report to the license commission every week the number of persons served in hotels with liquor on Sundays and the hours at which such serving is made.

Another suggestion was that if a man calls for a sandwich, and with it a bottle of beer, or other liquor, and the proprietor is satisfied that he is a legitimate guest—that he has resorted to the hotel for food—then the proprietor will be justified in serving him the liquor with his food, but the proprietor is not to serve him freely with liquors of any sort simply because he has ordered one sandwich.

Sandwich As Subterfuge
The mayor suggested that while the supreme court may have decided in one particular case that a sandwich constitutes a meal, that should not justify any hotel keeper in serving liquor, and that the licensing board be made to govern by ruling such, and if the members of that board are satisfied from the general conditions that the serving of a sandwich is a mere subterfuge for the sale of liquor, then the licensing board shall cancel the license where such conditions obtain.

Extra Rooms and Help
Another suggestion was to the effect that 20 different rooms, or rooms, be used on Sunday for the serving of food and liquor than on any other day during the week, and that a large number of extra employees about the premises on Sunday will be taken as an indication that the hotel proprietor who lures them is preparing for more business than is usual. He suggested that if the proprietors of the hotels will give more personal attention to the conduct of their establishments, so that the excuse frequently offered that their employees had received instructions which were not carried out, cannot be made, then the hotels will be run far better than they are at present. A stricter observance of the law, he felt, will follow observance of these conditions.

Department of Health Charges New Division
WITH ENFORCEMENT OF LAWS RELATING TO FOOD AND DRUGS—OTHER LAWS ENFORCED
The division of food and drugs is one of the new divisions of the state department of health and was created by the commissioner of health from several entities which were in existence under the state board of health. These entities were the food and drug laboratory, the food and drug inspectors and the department of cold storage, slaughtering and dairy inspection. The chief analyst in charge of the food and drug laboratory, was made the director of the division.

In an article appearing in the state department of health bulletin for September, Herman C. Lythgoe, division director, explains the work of the division, as follows:
The division is charged with the enforcement of the laws relating to food and drugs. About 12,000 samples are examined per annum, the analyses of which are all made in the laboratory of the division. Of these samples 3000 are drugs, 1200 are foods other than milk, 800 are milk, 500 are samples taken from cold storage, 300 are samples of poison submitted by police authorities, and 100 are liquors submitted by police. The division enforces the general and special laws relating to the adulteration of milk, the adulteration of food and the adulteration of drugs. It also enforces the laws relating to cold storage, relating to the cold storage of food, and a portion of the laws relating to slaughtering.

In the enforcement of the above laws we have absolute control of the machinery of enforcement up to the time the case reaches the courts. In addition to enforcing the above laws the division does a large amount of work over which it has but partial control. It is required to make examinations of liquor for police authorities, to examine paints, oils and turpentine for the Massachusetts district police, to examine poisons for police authorities and liquor for local boards of health. In all the latter instance, however, we must have the assurance that the authority submitting the sample intends to use the analysis in the enforcement of law. After these analyses are made a certificate is prepared, which is prima facie evidence in court of the quality of the article examined. The greater part of the work of the division is entirely done in the divisions in the department, and from other authorities throughout the state, but in a few instances we come in contact with local boards of health. These instances are as follows:

Inspectors of Slaughtering
The statutes require that local boards of health must annually in March nominate one or more inspectors of slaughtering. These nominees cannot be appointed inspectors of slaughtering until they have been approved by the state department of health. In general these nominees are approved, but occasionally the department finds it necessary to make disapprovals. Nominees are disapproved for the following reasons:

1. Members of local boards of health are disapproved according to advice from three attorney generals that it is illegal for persons to appoint themselves to office.
2. Persons engaged in the business of slaughtering are disapproved because it is not expected that any person can give an unbiased opinion of his own work.
3. Persons convicted for violation of the slaughtering laws are invariably disapproved. The reason is obvious. A person who has been convicted for having violated the slaughtering laws, and against whom insufficient evidence can be secured to warrant conviction in

SHAKY NERVES
Unless you are well advanced in years your hand should be steady. If your hand, your thumb or foot trembles when you try to hold it still, if the lines are shaky when you write, if you have tremors of your lips or chin, your nerves need strengthening. These signs often precede a serious nervous breakdown. In meeting this condition it is necessary to exercise care in the diet and take a nervous tonic. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain ingredients that build up the nerves at the same time that they tone up the system in general and their value in preventing nervous disorders from developing cannot be disputed. They are especially recommended for nervous, run-down people because they are a non-alcoholic tonic. If you have any nervous troubles write today to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for their little book on nervous disorders. It gives methods of home treatment and directions regarding hygiene that every one should have. A diet book will also be sent free on request. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by your own druggist or will be sent direct by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.

STRIKS IN LEONISTER
Starkley Auto Rips Down a Fence at a Point Where the Police Say Is Used as a Speedway
LEONISTER, Oct. 26.—A touring car, No. 22942, credited to Charles Starkley, Maple place, Foxboro, skidded yesterday at Givens corner, ripped down six sections of a guard rail of the street and landed backward in a field against a stone wall. Two wheels were demolished, a mudguard was doubled up and other damage done to the machine, but neither Starkley nor his male companion were injured. It is in the same part of Central street where Rachel Hart was thrown from a car last Friday night and severely hurt and a short distance from where Elizabeth M. King of Worcester received fatal injuries the day following. It is a state road and the police declare many motorists use the strip as a speedway.

THE MEXICAN SITUATION
An interesting talk on the Mexican situation was given before a number of young men and women in the Y.M.C.A. building last evening by Geo. Young, an official of a Mexican mine who is visiting in this city. In referring to the causes of the revolution, Mr. Young said: "The Americans were free before they were independent. They know something of government, had something to say in local affairs, and were prepared for self-government. The Mexican people, up to the time they attained independence, were practically slaves to Spain. They had no opportunity to exercise self government in the slightest degree, and were not therefore prepared for self government. Since obtaining their independence they have continued to be exploited."

"PUTT"
This seems to be a most popular word recently, and it is all about the big dance test they are going to have at Associated hall tonight. Everything is in readiness; the "champs" will be there an exhibition and for their own enjoyment as well; the Honey Boy Quartet has a good repertoire of vocal entertainment; and all is supported by the music of Miner's and Doyle's orchestra for the dancing. Someone was heard to say: "All the baseball fans and the dance fans will be there, will you?" The answer was, "Nuf ced."

ROYAL THEATRE
All Slings and his fellow lords are still inspiring terror by their fiendish acts in the eighth episode of the great serial "The Yellow Menace," which stars Edwin Stevens in the powerful picture of the great criminal, the yellow fanatic, whose dreams of empire over the whites of all nations, are causing America the pangs of warfare and horrors—the picture. The play is a wonderfully realistic melodrama, and is produced and acted with the best talent that could have been secured. The eighth episode is one of the undoubted features of the Royal show today and tomorrow, and besides it is shown the eighth episode of "Liberty," the Universal Preparedness serial, and other fine attractions. Marie Wilcamp is a captivating heroine in "Liberty" and she has to do many daring and sensational stunts which she does to perfection in every episode. Jack Holt as the soldier lover, and Eddie Polo in a character part, are well suited to their respective parts. Among the many other short reels is "Sun and Rain" comedy—these comedies are really funny and really funny. A big Sunday show next Lord's day, and Francis N. Bushman and Beverly Bayne will be seen in "Pennington's Choice" next Monday and Tuesday.

LOWELL MASS. FRIDAY OCTOBER 20 1916

PRICE ONE CENT

GREAT BRITAIN PAYS U. S. $10,000,000 A DAY

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Reginald McKenna, chancellor of the exchequer, replying in the house of commons yesterday to criticisms of the high rate of interest payable on the new treasury bonds and the objection raised that this would lead to their being largely held abroad, said:

"That is the very thing we desire. It must be remembered that we have to pay a very considerable amount day by day in the United States. At present we have to find $2,000,000 (nearly $10,000,000) a day for every working day. That means a prodigious amount to find every six days."

Mr. McKenna prefaced his statement regarding the large amounts being spent in America by a defense of his action in paying a high rate of interest upon treasury bonds.

"It is not possible," he said, "to apply pre-war standards and to say that 5 per cent is enough, or that we could get it more cheaply. Very likely it could be done if we only wanted a little or even the equivalent of the greatest sum ever raised before the war."

"It should be remembered, however, we have to raise a sum about once a month and it is only possible to find out by the daily examination of the results of borrowings and payments whether we are successful in meeting our obligations. In order to meet the expenses and to keep our undertakings with our allies, I have to make sure of getting money."

Mr. McKenna proceeded to explain that unless Great Britain was able to raise the needed money in the United States she would have to go short of supplies from there which were absolutely essential to the purposes of the allies.

Defending the issue of the 6 per cent bonds, the chancellor mentioned the fact that within a fortnight these treasury bonds had been sold to the extent of $35,000,000 (nearly $150,000,000). He added that the present moment of competition for money was unfavorable to the issue of a long-term loan, but the government intended to resort to such a loan when the treasury considered it advisable, and the government would not shrink from the fulfillment of its promise in regard to the conversion of previous loans.

The chancellor declared he did not doubt the ability of the empire to bear the strain of the war. Its expenditure was not diminishing, he stated, there being an advance under the two heads of munitions and advances to Great Britain's allies, but in both of these directions he was confident the country would not grudge the needful supplies.

FIVE NEW CASES OF PLAGUE IN QUINCY—THREE IN ONE FAMILY

QUINCY, Oct. 20.—Five new cases of infantile paralysis, one of the victims being a policeman, were reported to the board of health yesterday. The officer is Night Patrolman Jeremiah J. Dineen, the biggest man on the local force, and a giant in strength.

He had been feeling slightly indisposed for a few days, and when he began to lose the use of his hands he called in Dr. John H. Ash. Dr. Ash found definite symptoms of infantile paralysis, and that both arms were affected.

Officer Dineen stands several inches over 6 feet, and has patrolled the Adams street beat at night. He was manager of the police department baseball team for several seasons, and is one of the most popular officers in the department.

Three cases were reported from one family by Dr. William J. McCausland. The victims are: Willard Erickson, 3 months old; Walter Erickson, 18 months old; and Evelyn Erickson, 18 months old, living at 66 Verchill street. Physicians are at a loss to account for these children getting the disease, as all three have been kept at home every day, and have not had any child visitors.

The fifth case is that of William Halladay, 4 years old, of 171 Kendrick avenue.

These things are worth a few minutes' trouble to get right. We'll gladly help you. We'll show you the extreme—the modified—and the conservative styles—there's a great variety—and to top it off we guarantee to save you at least $5.00 on your Overcoat purchase this season.

To be sure, in a stock like ours, your selection is not confined to one man's line — BENJAMIN WASHINGTON and SAMPECK lines of Overcoats, embodying the technique and earmarks of Fifth Avenue, New York, tailoring, are here in plenty to diversify the assortment for your selection at whatever price you want to pay.

BOSTON POLICE CAPTAIN COMPLAINS OF INCREASE OF YOUTHFUL MISDEMEANORS

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Failure to inflict punishment on the great majority of offenders who are taken into the juvenile court is held by Captain Robert E. Grant of the City Point police to be the reason for the rapid increase of youthful misdemeanors in his district.

Getting Beyond Control

This pessimistic view was expressed by Captain Grant to a reporter yesterday, when the case of Roman Santelli, son of Antonio Santelli, 609 East Third street, South Boston, charged with the larceny of $81 from his father, was continued for a week. The father had refused to give a dime to the lad, who therefore took the paternal pocketbook from under a pillow and made off with it. When the continuance of the case was announced, Captain Grant said:

"That's probably the last we will hear of it, and in this case it probably will be all right, I suppose. But I'll have to confess that, as a result of juvenile court leniency, the spirit of lawbreaking in this district is beginning to get beyond police control."

"I am earnestly in favor of giving every chance for boys who have erred, as long as no undue advantage is taken of court leniency. But during the last ten months we have taken into the juvenile court more than 150 boys. Some of these were charged with throwing missiles, some with having broken windows and inflicted other property damage. A large number were arrested for other offenses, which included almost everything except murder. Only one was fined for throwing missiles. All the others, arrested on various charges, have had their cases filed or were placed on probation."

"I am telling you this to show how the juvenile criminal act works in our district."
